THE SEVEN HILLS OF ROME

A Geological Tour of the Eternal City

Grant Heiken, Renato Fumicello, and Donatella De Rita

With a foreword by Walter Veltroni, Mayor of Rome

This new book will surprise and delight anyone who wants to know Rome, from first-time visitors to lifelong residents. It reveals the powerful effects of the city's geology and geography, which have allowed it to flourish over the ages.

"The greatest virtue of The Seven Hills of Rome is that it ties the city's human history to its natural history. Now nonspecialists can fully appreciate the extent to which Rome's destiny, its character, even its very appearance, were founded on its unique geological circumstances."

New from Antiquity Publications:

MEGALITHS FROM ANTIQUITY

The third volume of reprinted classic papers explores the theme of British and European megaliths. Thirty-six papers examine four principal themes on megalithic studies. The earliest monuments — the great tombs and dolmens— reveal the extent of megalithic variety. Papers range from Daniel's early studies of British dolmens to more recent debates; the perennial interest in Stonehenge and Avebury has figured prominently in ANTIQUITY and is brought fully up to date. The presence of timber and earth circles as precursors or alternatives to megalithic structures show further variety in ancient monument building. The final section, Beyond the Megaliths, through studies of ancient engineering, archaeoastronomy and sensory archaeology demonstrates the abiding interest in interpretations of function and meaning of the ancient stones. ISBN 0-9539762-2-X

Price: £18.99 (per volume) + £3.00 (£5.00 overseas) postage.

Price to ANTIQUITY subscribers: £15.39 + £3.00 (£5.00 overseas) postage

CELTS FROM ANTIQUITY, the second volume of reprinted classic papers explores a central theme of European Archaeology. Twenty-five papers represent ancient and modern approaches to the study of the Celts; the debate over Celtic identity; key discoveries and reinterpretations in continental archaeology; fieldwork and debate in the Southern British Iron Age; fieldwork and debate in the Scottish Iron Age. Each section is introduced with a personal perspective from the editors to set the articles within current and future trends of Iron Age archaeology. ISBN 0-9539762-1-1

LANDSCAPES FROM ANTIQUITY, the first volume of reprinted classic papers explores a central archaeological theme: Landscapes from Antiquity. Twenty-four papers have been selected to represent ancient and modern landscape approaches, organized into thematic sections: Early studies of Fox and Curwen, aerial photography of Bradford, Crawford and St Joseph, survey method, integrated regional landscapes, physical, industrial, contested and experienced landscapes. ISBN 0-9539762-0-3

Price: £17.99 (per volume) + £3.00 (£5.00 overseas) postage.

Price to ANTIQUITY subscribers: £14.39 + £3.00 (£5.00 overseas) postage.

Notes for Contributors

Antiquity* aims to report new archaeological research, methods and issues of international significance in plain language to a broad academic and professional readership.

We ask prospective authors to consult previous issues of the journal and the full Notes for Contributors on our website at <http://antiquity.ac.uk/contnotes.html>.

Submissions for publication in the JOURNAL should be sent with a disc and hard copy to The Editor, Antiquity, King's Manor, York, YO1 7EP, UK, or by e-mail to editor@antiquity.ac.uk.

Text should be submitted in English in MS Word 2000 or a compatible program and have a maximum length of 6000 words. Please indicate the corresponding author. References should be in the Harvard format (Antiquity does not use footnotes or end-notes). For initial consideration, figures may be embedded in the Word file or submitted as low-resolution jpeg files, but please note our publication image requirements.

Papers submitted to the journal are peer-reviewed by two or more referees. The Editor aims to make a decision on whether the paper is to be accepted within four to six months of receipt.

Authors whose papers are declined are notified via e-mail by the editor, and we can normally pass on part or all of the referees' reports to assist feedback.

Authors whose papers are accepted may be asked to send an updated, revised text and will need to send figures of publication quality. These should be sent as hard copy photographs or drawings or as TIFF files at 600 dpi (colour or monochrome photographs) and EPS files at 1200 dpi (line drawings) on a CD-ROM or Zip disk. Authors may be asked if we can mount long tables and other data on our website.

Authors will be asked to contribute towards the cost of publishing colour images. The charge is £100 per page with colour images.

Submissions for publication in the PROJECT GALLERY on the website (<http://antiquity.ac.uk/ProjGall/>) should be e-mailed to editor@antiquity.ac.uk as attachments. Text should be in MS Word and have a maximum length of 800 words. Figures (colour or monochrome, maximum of 6 pictures) should be jpeg files at 72 dpi. Submissions for the Project Gallery are not peer-reviewed but the Editor may request changes before a submission is accepted. Authors will be asked to check their page before it goes live online.

The Human Past

World Prehistory & the Development of Human Societies

Edited by Chris Scarre

'A magnificent achievement ... absolutely essential reading'

Professor Barry Cunliffe

'A brilliant synthesis and the best single account of the state of archaeological knowledge about the substance of our past ... It is a landmark for its breadth and depth of scholarship'

Ezra Zubrow, University at Buffalo, The State University of New York

A groundbreaking introduction to world prehistory that presents the vast panorama of human social, cultural and economic development over the past three million years

The Human Past recognizes that the wealth and diversity of archaeological research is now too great to be competently within the grasp of a single expert. Here a team of leading archaeologists from Europe, North America and Australasia provide a seamless yet uniquely authoritative account of human prehistory.

The Human Past highlights the enormous diversity of human experience and the ways in which archaeologists are able to learn about it. This includes the deep prehistory of human evolution, the more recent prehistory of postglacial foragers and farmers, and the literate civilizations of Egypt, the Mediterranean world, South and East Asia, and Central and South America. It provides an introductory account that takes the reader through the human past using a regional and chronological framework, focusing as much on the archaeology of the everyday as on the spectacular and unusual.

The text is accompanied by hundreds of specially commissioned diagrams and photographs, many in full colour, that illustrate key sites, artifacts and regions, as well as clear timelines, boxes on key sites, methods, discoveries and controversies, and maps for each chapter.

The most thorough yet accessible book on the subject ever published, The Human Past is an indispensable reference for scholars, students and teachers.
