

IN CALMER TIMES

The Supreme Court and Red Monday

ARTHUR J. SABIN

Arthur J. Sabin investigates the decisions after 1955 in which the U.S. Supreme Court repudiated its earlier endorsement of the political prosecutions that had engulfed the nation after World War II. He does so in the context of the larger political culture of the times and also in the context of the history of political dissent in America, from World War I through the McCarthy era and beyond.

RED SCARE IN COURT

New York versus the International Workers Order

ARTHUR J. SABIN

"Sabin has provided a useful reminder of that shameful period in American constitutional and legal history when wholly irrational concerns for internal security drove all three branches of government to substitute the rule of fright for the rule of law. There can never be too many reminders of that period because each reminder helps to insure that such a time will never come again."—Law and Politics Book Review

LEOPOLD & LOEB THE CRIME OF THE CENTURY

HAL HIGDON

Revealing secret testimony and raising questions that have gone unanswered for decades, Hal Higdon separates fact from myth as he unravels not only the chilling crime but also the sensational investigation and trial, in which Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb were defended by Clarence Darrow, the era's most famous attorney.

LAWYERING FOR THE RAILROAD

Business, Law, and Power in the New South
WILLIAM G. THOMAS

"Thomas writes with verve [and] wit, and he tells many surprising stories. Many will read it as redrawing the backdrop to the 'separate but equal' doctrine in civil rights law. Others will discover the previously unknown but central significance of the railroad pass in the making of professional and business power."—*Hendrik Hartog, Princeton University

NO SPARK OF MALICE

THE MURDER OF MARTIN BEGNAUD
WILLIAM ARCENEAUX

"From a tragic but banal event, the murder of a storekeeper in Louisiana one hundred years ago, Arceneaux presents a sumptuous history of this part of the Mississippi Delta, its people, destiny, language, labor, traditions, faith, and feelings. . . . He renders the tragic dimension of the story, retracing the legal ritual up to its merciless conclusion."
—Jean Maurin, University of Paris

"A compelling story."—*Booklist

The Chief Justiceship of Warren E. Burger, 1969–1986

Earl M. Maltz

Undoubtedly one of the most interesting periods in Supreme Court History, the Burger Court generally holds a place in America's judicial memory as a centralist or mildly conservative institution. Maltz demonstrates the Court's ideological transition was far from immediate and certainly not regular or universal in process.

COURT-MARTIAL AT PARRIS ISLAND

The Ribbon Creek Incident

by John C. Stevens III

On April 8, 1956, drill instructor Matthew McKeon led Platoon 71 on a forced night march through the backwaters of Parris Island in an effort to restore the recruits' flagging discipline. An extraordinarily strong tidal current in Ribbon Creek claimed the lives of six men. This book is the story of that night, the recruits of Platoon 71, and Staff Sergeant McKeon's court-martial.

Documents of American Indian Diplomacy

Treaties, Agreements, and Conventions, 1775-1979

By Vine Deloria, Jr. and Raymond J. DeMallie

Foreword by Daniel K. Inouye

Reproduced in this two-volume set are hundreds of treaties and agreements made by Indian nations—with the Continental Congress; England, Spain, and other foreign countries; the ephemeral Republic of Texas and the Confederate States; railroad companies seeking rights-of-way across Indian land; and other Indian nations.

Many were made with the United States but either remained unratified by Congress or were rejected by the Indians themselves after the Senate amended them unacceptably. Many others are “agreements” made after the official end of the U.S. treaty making in 1871. Documents of American Indian Diplomacy is the first major, accessible compilation of such documents since Charles Kappler’s 1904 Indian Affairs, Laws and Treaties, which included most (but not all) ratified treaties and which, until now, has been the bible of people working in the field of federal Indian law. As a group, these documents provide the full historical context surrounding the ratified treaties and agreements, and they highlight American Indians’ roles as active agents in international diplomatic affairs.

American Society for Legal History

ORGANIZATION AND MEMBERSHIP

The American Society for Legal History is a nonprofit membership organization dedicated to fostering scholarship, teaching, and study concerning the law and institutions of all legal systems, both Anglo-American and international. Founded in 1956, the Society sponsors this journal and Studies in Legal History, a series of book-length monographs available to ASLH members at substantial prepublication discounts. In addition, the Society holds an annual meeting to promote scholarship and interaction among teachers, practitioners, and students interested in legal history, and publishes a semiannual newsletter reporting developments in the field. For further information concerning the Society, please write: Donald Nieman, History Department, Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, OH 43403.
