

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS

Statius and the Thebaid

DAVID VESSEY

A critical study of Statius' Thebaid, the Latin epic poem of the first century A.D. Dr Vessey argues that Statius' literary importance should be reconsidered and argues that the Thebaid is an elaborate allegory of the emotions, a study of the extremes of human behaviour. Read in this light, the poem's place in the ancient and medieval European literary traditions can be clearly seen, and its influence on writers such as Dante, Chaucer and Spenser can be appreciated.

£7.80 net

CAMBRIDGE CLASSICAL TEXTS AND COMMENTARIES 15

The Annals of Tacitus Books 1–6

Volume 1: Introduction and Commentary to Annals 1. 1–54

F. R. D. GOODYEAR

The first in a four-volume edition of Tacitus' Annals 1–6. Professor Goodyear's introduction to the series deals concisely with the background to the Annals. He outlines the history of Tacitean scholarship to the present day and discusses Tacitus' style in detail. The commentary attends equally to literary, historical and textual questions, and there are several appendixes on topics of more specialized interest. This edition will become the standard commentary in English.

£7.90 net

Familia Caesaris

A Social Study of the Emperor's Freedmen and Slaves

P. R. C. WEAVER

Professor Weaver's primary sources are over 4,000 inscriptions, mostly sepulchral, brief, stereotyped and undated, for which he establishes criteria for dating and interpreting. His work will compel a major revision of received opinion on the subject.

'A sturdy monument of patient scholarship in a very difficult field indeed.'

The Times Literary Supplement

£6.00 net

Roman Politics 220-150 B.C.

H. H. Scullard

Professor Scullard argues that during the years 220 to 150 B.C. effective political control at Rome rested in the hands of twenty or fewer noble families, whose power was based on birth and family tradition, political alliance, and patronage. Second edition frontispiece £5.50

Porphyrius the Charioteer

Alan Cameron

This book re-examines, in the light of inscriptions on a recently found monument to a sixth-century A.D. charioteer, a series of charioteer epigrams in the Greek Anthology, both elucidating their literary techniques and building up a picture of the role and rewards of the charioteer as a popular idol in the Roman and early Byzantine world. 32 plates 2 text figures £6

Constantine Porphyrogenitus and his World

Arnold Toynbee

The personality and literary work of the Emperor Constantine VII Porphyrogenitus provide the focus of this book, which ranges over a considerable period and diverse topics of interest to students of the Empire. Frontispiece 5 maps £14

The Ancient Romans

Chester G. Starr

This companion volume to The Ancient Greeks is organized in four parts, each centring on a major historical figure: Hannibal, Caesar, Hadrian, and St. Augustine. Its objective is to stress the significance of the Roman's long development and to challenge readers to think about the meaning of Roman history. Colour and black and white photographs throughout 7 maps 6 charts 2 plans £3.60 paper covers £1.60 OUP New York

Power to Dissolve

Lawyers and Marriage in the Courts of the Roman Curia

John T. Noonan Jr.

On the one hand, this is an examination of a legal system. On the other, it is an investigation of the theology of Christian marriage. The author considers the former as a process whose understanding requires a knowledge of theological doctrine, legal rules, and human interactions. Frontispiece £7.50 Harvard

Oxford
