

Aspects of Greek and Roman Life

Festivals of the Athenians

H. W. PARKE

Now available in paperback

'A welcome addition to a valued series . . . conveys a great deal of information in readable form' – The Joint Association of Classical Teachers

'H. W. Parke takes us through the year, festival by festival, and does as much as can be done to distil the flavour which cult practice gave to Athenian life' – The Times Literary Supplement

'Meets a genuine need' – Greece and Rome

In ancient Athens, numerous holidays were dedicated to particular gods or goddesses. In what has become established as the standard account of the subject, these festivals are explained in the context of the Greek calendar from month to month through the year.

Justinian and Theodora

ROBERT BROWNING

The story of the peasant's son who became an emperor and the dissolute actress whom he placed on the throne beside him is one of the great romances of history. For nearly fifty years in the latter half of the 6th century, Justinian wrestled with the vast complex of problems that the Roman Empire posed, aided – and occasionally frustrated – by his passionate consort. Together they presided over a key epoch in the formation of Europe. Robert Browning's readable and acclaimed biography of this extraordinary and enigmatic couple has been broadened for this new edition to include every aspect of imperial administration and policy.

Aspects of Greek and Roman Life

Philip II and Macedonian Imperialism

J. R. ELLIS

Now available in paperback

'Dr Ellis's book remains the most recent substantive addition to the literature on the subject' The Greek Gazette

'Essential reading for any student of the ancient world' – British Book News

This first paperback edition of a widely praised book puts a new complexion on the rise to power of Macedonia under the leadership of Philip II. Dr Ellis's enthralling analysis reveals to the full the influence of internal military pressures on the expansion of Macedonia, an expansion which eventually culminated in the spectacular conquests of Philip's son, Alexander the Great.

World of Art

Greek Sculpture: The Classical Period

JOHN BOARDMAN

Now available in paperback

'Will be read with profit and with pleasure' – The Times Literary Supplement

'Remarkably full and up to date' – Apollo

Professor Boardman, in this sequel to his Greek Sculpture: The Archaic Period, chronicles the development of Classical Greek sculpture and includes not only illustrations of the masterpieces of architectural sculpture from the Temple of Zeus at Olympia and from the Parthenon, but also many original works of bronze sculpture from that period. This volume is a welcome addition to Professor Boardman's widely praised series of handbooks on Greek art published in the World of Art, the other titles available being Athenian Black Figure Vases, Athenian Red Figure Vases and Greek Art.

VIOLENCE, CIVIL STRIFE AND REVOLUTION IN THE CLASSICAL CITY

Andrew Lintott

Newly issued in paperback, this major study gives a comprehensive view of violence and civil strife in classical society during the most exciting period of its development between 750 and 330 B.C. Its major themes are aristocratic rivalry, the tensions between rich and poor, the link between imperialism and civil strife and the causes of constitutional revolution.

"His treatment of a wide and varied source material is economic, well-balanced and penetrating."

LAW AND SOCIETY IN CLASSICAL ATHENS

Richard Garner

Richard Garner here uses both archaeological and literary evidence for the practice of the Athenian law courts to situate the Athenian legal system within the general context of Greek thought on justice and the political framework of the democracy. The practice, as opposed to the abstract ideal, of justice in classical Greece has been relatively neglected by modern scholars. This book will fill that gap in our knowledge.

DIONYSIUS I OF SYRACUSE AND GREEK TYRANNY

Lionel Jehuda Sanders

There is a seemingly irreconcilable conflict in our picture of Dionysius of Syracuse between the stereotypical tyrant of the surviving historical accounts, and the man whom Plato saw as the possible founder of a Republic on earth. Sanders argues that Dionysius' lurid reputation derives from Athenian propaganda, and that his treatment at the hands of contemporary historians like Philistus, Ephorus and Theopompos was much more favourable.

REALISM IN ALEXANDRIAN POETRY: A Literature and its Audience

G. Zanker

A wide-ranging and original study of the second golden age of Greek literature, represented by the poetry of Alexandria under the first three Ptolemies. The book sets the striving for realism and minute detail characteristic of this period in the wider context of Alexandrian culture, especially its admiration of pictorialism in the plastic arts and its new valuation of science as a measure of human experience.

President: SIR DAVID HUNT KCMG, OBE

The Society, founded in 1879 to advance the study of Greek language, literature, history and art, maintains conjointly with the Society for the promotion of Roman Studies and in association with the Institute of Classical Studies of the University of London:

1. A Library of some 60,000 volumes, with c. 450 current periodicals
2. Some 5,500 coloured slides covering a wide variety of subjects, set of slides with lecture texts, and film strips.

Books and slides can be sent to Members by post. Communications about books and slides should be addressed to the Librarian at the above address.

Four general meetings, with lectures, are held in London annually, and there are other meetings in different parts of the country.

Subscribers receive the Society's two annual publications: The Journal of Hellenic Studies, one of the foremost British periodicals in the field of Greek scholarship, containing articles, illustrations and book reviews; Archaeological Reports, a fully illustrated account of fresh discoveries in Greece and Greek lands, with bulletins announcing important new acquisitions by museums in Britain.

These two periodicals are on sale to the general public.

The annual subscription to the society is £17.00. The Composition fee for life-membership is £85.00 for those over 65 years of age, after 5 years' membership. The subscription for Libraries is £22.00 and for Students Associates £7.50. There is no entrance fee.

All enquiries to the Secretary. Telephone 01-387 7495.

The Society for the Promotion of Roman Studies

31-34 GORDON SQUARE, LONDON WC1H 0PP

President: MISS JOYCE REYNOLDS FBA, FSA

The Society was formed in 1910 to promote the study of the archaeology, art, literature, and history of Italy and the Roman Empire down to about the year A.D. 700. It publishes annually the Journal of Roman Studies containing articles by leading scholars and reviews of recent publications. The society also publishes Britannia, a journal of Romano-British and connected studies, which includes an annual survey of Romano-British excavations.

The Society maintains with the Hellenic Society and in conjunction with the London University Institute of Classical Studies a joint library of works on classical antiquity and a collection of slides and film strips. Members resident in or visiting the U.K. may borrow books and slides and consult books belonging to the Institute. Meetings of the Society are held in London and in other parts of the U.K. together with other societies. Triennial conferences with the Hellenic Society and the Classical Association are held in either Oxford or Cambridge.

Annual subscriptions. Members and Schools, £15.00 for either the JRS or Britannia (£26.00 for both). Institutions other than Schools, £16.00 for each publication. Students of U.K. and Commonwealth Universities £7.50. Life membership for members with five years' membership and of age 65 or over, £75.

All enquiries to the Secretary. Telephone 01-387 8157

THE CLASSICAL ASSOCIATION

The main aims of the Classical Association are to promote and sustain interest in classical studies, to maintain their rightful position in universities and schools and to give scholars and teachers opportunities of meeting and discussing their problems. It organises an annual conference, lasting four or five days, in a university centre, and sponsors over 30 branches, which arrange programmes of lectures and discussions and many of which hold Greek and Latin Reading Competitions for Schools. Its activities are fully reported in its annual Proceedings, issued free to all members.

The present membership of the Association is approximately 4,000. Membership is open both to individuals and to institutions (annual subscription. £3.00 life subscription, for individuals only, £63.00). Members may obtain the Classical Review and Classical Quarterly at reduced prices (Review, £13.00; Quarterly, £14.00; combined subscription £24.00). Greece and Rome may also be obtained through the Association for an annual subscription of £11.00. Applications for membership and subscriptions for the journals (which should normally be received by January 31st in each year) should be addressed to the Treasurer, Mr R. Wallace, Dept. of Classics, The University, Keele, Staffs ST5 5BG.

The Association can also supply copies of the Index to the First Series of the Classical Review (price for members, £1.50 post free) and of the last issue of The Year's Work in Classical Studies, covering the years 1945-47 (price £1.00, post free). These publications and details of the various occasional publications of the Association, including all Supplements to Greece and Rome, are obtainable from the Treasurer. Inquiries, other than about membership and publications, should be sent to either of the Secretaries (Professor J. Percival, Dept of Classics, University College, P.O. Box 78, Cardiff CF1 1XL, and Miss H. M. Jones, 20 Lowestoft Rd., Watford, Herts WD2 5AX).

Contributions to the JOURNAL should be sent to Dr C. B. R. Pelling, University College, Oxford OX1 4BH. Good photocopies, not original typescripts, should be submitted, since contributions which are not accepted will only be returned to authors by special arrangement. For style of references to be adopted see JHS civ (1984) 287 (offprint available free from the Secretary, Hellenic Society, 31-34 Gordon Square, London WC1H 0PP: 01-387 7495).
