By KENNETH SCOTT LATOURETTE

Sterling Professor Emeritus of Missions and Oriental History, Yale University

The dynamic 19th-century expansion of Christianity from its European heartland is fully presented in volume three of Dr. Latourette's monumental history of modern Christianity. The men, ideas and events that shaped American Christianity—Protestant and Catholic—are portrayed in a most complete and up-to-date study of the era. Christian growth in Africa, Asia, and the Pacific is also thoroughly traced. "A comprehensive, and carefully documented account . . . provides a wealth of information in compact and readable form."—WINTHROP S. HUDSON, Colgate-Rochester Divinity School. $7.50

Romanticism in American Theology

By James H. Nichols

This is a study of religious thought and life in America in the generation before the Civil War. It focuses on Nevin and Schaff, who pioneered in America the theological reinterpretations stimulated by German idealism in philosophy and the new theories of historical development. They were also spokesmen of the romantic interest in Christian traditions, community, and sacraments and in this interest opposed the anti-historical individualism predominant in American religion. Charles Hodge, Orestes Brownson, Horace Bushnell, R. I. Wilberforce, and the American Lutherans all debated with them. Nevin and Schaff were the chief nineteenth century American prophets of the contemporary ecumenical movement. $7.50

The History of Religion: Essays in Methodology

Edited by Mircea Eliade and Joseph M. Kitagawa.

The editors and six other distinguished contributors offer penetrating essays covering a wide range of topics—from Joseph Kitagawa's general essay on the history of religions in America to Raffaele Pettazzoni's paper on the recurring phenomenon of the Supreme Being in diverse religions. With religion resurgent about the globe, religious history has become a particularly fruitful branch of learning. This book provides valuable insights into a crucial subject. $5.00
