Edward Gordon Craig

CHRISTOPHER INNES

'This is the most important book on Craig to appear for years . . . Innes' detailed analysis of Craig's theatre disproves one misunderstanding after another . . . Illustrating his argument with dozens of drawings, stage and costume designs and photographs . . . Innes tells us much more about what was done and how it was actually achieved.'

Holy Theatre

Ritual and the Avant Garde

CHRISTOPHER INNES

'His theme is the tradition of avant garde theatre that runs from Jarry to Grotowski, paradoxically turning to the past through atavistic practices of myth and ritual instead of looking to the future in a more obvious way . . . He is good at analysing performances as well as the theories and it is this that makes the book particularly valuable.'

Plays by H. J. Byron

Babes in the Wood; The Lancashire Lass; Our Boys; The Gaiety Gulliver

Edited by JIM DAVIS

The first book devoted to H. J. Byron, an important and popular dramatist who invented the characters of Widow Twankey and Buttons. Babes in the Wood is a burlesque reworking of the well-known nursery story; The Lancashire Lass typifies the sensational melodramas of the 1860s; Our Boys is a domestic comedy; and The Gaiety Gulliver is a spectacular burlesque.

The Devil's Party

Critical Counter-Interpretations of Shakespearian Drama

Harriet Hawkins

The questions raised in this survey of past and present controversies concerning Shakespearian drama are subject to continuing debate. What is the nature of the 'nature' Shakespeare holds the mirror up to? Is he 'of the Devil's party' in a play like Richard III? Hawkins argues that Shakespearian drama provides us with the most profound of artistic challenges to any one-sided account of the ways of the world it reflects.

Dreams of Love and Power

On Shakespeare's Plays

Joseph H. Summers

In Dreams of Love and Power Summers argues that all Shakespeare's plays share a primary concern with the desires, hopes, and fears – the dreams – of the dramatic characters. He explores this theme through a detailed discussion of seven of the plays. Written with grace and lucidity, the book is a sensitive enquiry into Shakespeare's works as texts to be read and plays to be performed. £15 Clarendon Press

Re-Editing Shakespeare for the Modern Reader

Stanley Wells

Texts of Shakespeare's plays are reconstructed each time they are edited. This book, representing some of the thinking behind the forthcoming Complete Oxford Shakespeare, is a lively challenge to certain kinds of editorial orthodoxy. It offers stimulating insights into the process which creates the texts offered to today's readers, spectators, and performers of Shakespeare. £15 Clarendon Press

Interpretations of Shakespeare

British Academy Shakespeare Lectures

Selected by Kenneth Muir

This volume is a selection from the annual Shakespeare Lectures of the British Academy delivered by some of the most eminent Shakespeare critics of the last half-century. The lecturers have traditionally addressed themselves to the ordinary educated reader, and anyone interested in Shakespeare will find here much illuminating discussion. Among the contributors are Helen Gardner, C.S. Lewis, Philip Edwards, and G.K. Hunter. £15 Clarendon Press

THEATRE RESEARCH / RECHERCHES THEATRALES

The International Federation published the journal Theatre Research/Recherches Théâtrales from 1959 to 1975 when it was succeeded by Theatre Research International. During these years many important articles of original research were published covering the whole field of theatre history from the earliest times, and particularly Shakespeare and the Elizabethan period, to more recent figures such as Strindberg, Craig and Beckett. There have been special issues on the themes of Opera, the Playwright as Director, and Reinhardt; a check-list of world theatre on records; and reports on International Conferences and Symposia of the I.F.T.R.

In all 14 volumes were published in 36 issues including a complete index. Most back issues are still available.

University and institutional libraries, and especially those who have subscribed to the new journal Theatre Research International, are recommended to take this opportunity of completing their holding of the earlier issues of this publication, while copies last.

Price: per issue £2 ($3); per volume £4 ($6) plus postage

A few complete runs of the 14 volumes (with two issues in facsimile) are available at £50 ($75). Postage extra.
