INTEGRATING THE AMERICAS: SHAPING FUTURE TRADE POLICY

Sidney Weintraub, editor

(224 pp., ISBN: 1-56000-769-9; 1994) T $19.95

Bold new economic policies are supplanting traditional notions about the relationship between national and international markets throughout Latin America. Regional integration and neoliberal reforms have combined to overturn more traditional approaches to national development in the region. This volume captures the content of these changes and analyzes their implications for the Western Hemisphere. Prospects for strengthening the separate integration arrangements are suggested, and proposals for consolidating them into a hemisphere-wide free trade area are analyzed.

Contributors are economists and authorities on trade reform and developments in regional integration from Latin America, the United States, and Canada. European and Japanese experts also examine current changes in the Western Hemisphere from their perspectives.

ATTENTION AUTHORS

The Journal of Interamerican Studies and World Affairs publishes articles that deal primarily with contemporary US-Latin American relations, US foreign policy regarding Latin America, Latin American nations' relations with each other and the rest of the world, and Latin American internal affairs when such have clear implications for US foreign policy. The editors also welcome from scholars and public figures worldwide articles about political, economic, cultural, and social aspects of Latin American Interrelationships.

This is a refereed journal. All submissions are sent to qualified reviewers to determine acceptance for publication.

Send manuscripts in duplicate to address below, typewritten and double spaced. Place footnotes, references, tables, and charts on separate pages following current Journal style.

Upon acceptance, you will be asked to provide all tables and charts accompanying the manuscript on computer disks (either IBM-compatible or Macintosh) in addition to two complete, double-spaced printouts of disk material. Tables, charts, maps or other graphic materials will not be used unless provided on computer disks and in a file that is separate from that of the text. Columns in tables and charts should use tabs instead of individual spacing. A brief biographical sketch of the author should accompany the final manuscript.

Correspondence regarding book reviews should be directed to the Book Review Editor at the Journal of Interamerican Studies and World Affairs, University of Miami, P.O. Box 284205, Coral Gables, FL, 33124-3027.
