a long overdue reappraisal—in the light of recent disclosures—of some of the important books that influenced Western thinking on Russia—from Bertrand Russell's "BOLSHEVISM" to Isaac Deutscher's "STALIN." It includes reassessments of Webb's "SOVIET COMMUNISM: A NEW CIVILISATION," the literature of the "purge," American writing in the 'thirties, Harold Laski and G. D. H. Cole, the role of the New Statesman, and the later works of Leon Trotsky. It also contains a new short story by Abram Tertz, and an extensive review section on recently published literature on the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe.

BRITAIN AND CHINA

EVAN LUARD

The central portion of Mr. Luard's book deals with the decade since the recognition of the People's Republic—and with the fortunes of merchants and missionaries as well as with diplomacy, the Korean War, Formosa, and Hong Kong. It is preceded by a brilliant survey of relations between Britain and China in the last hundred years, and the book ends with a closely argued look at the future. 25s. net.

CHATTO & WINDUS

THE CHINA BULLETIN

This new monthly bulletin of analysis seeks to provide a continuing record of important developments in China in the fields of politics, agriculture, industry, foreign relations and culture.

Though the Bulletin is primarily intended for the use of journalists, we think it will also be found valuable by scholars, politicians and diplomats and indeed anyone who feels, as we do, that it is essential to know what is happening in Communist China.

REVISIONISM

ESSAYS ON THE HISTORY OF MARXIST IDEAS

Edited by LEOPOLD LABEDZ

This is the first volume to be published in the new Library of International Studies.

The book deals with the history of ideas associated with Marxist movements. These ideas, which so agitated the young Communist revisionists, are traced and analysed against their historical and contemporary background. Theoreticians who played the most important role in re-examining or modifying their assumptions are re-assessed from the perspective of the second half of the twentieth century, among them Eduard Bernstein and Rosa Luxemburg, Leon Trotsky and Nikolai Bukharin, Georg Lukacs and Ernst Bloch. The significance of revisionism, its prospects inside the Communist bloc, and its impact on the 'New Left' outside it, are analysed by scholars of international repute, each dealing with his special subject.

The symposium also provides material on the Soviet attitude to revisionism and gives the necessary background for the understanding of the evolution of Communist ideology.
