New Classics Books from Oxford

A History of Greece to 322 B.C.

Third Edition

N. G. L. Hammond

Widely used in English-speaking countries, this book presents a modern interpretation of Greek ideas, culture, and actions. The prehistoric period and the intellectual, social, and economic background are treated as thoroughly as the political and military history of the Greek states, which is the main topic.

0 19 873096 9, Clarendon Press

£25.00

0 19 873095 0, paperback

£12.50

The Quiet Athenian

L. B. Carter

Athenian democracy aimed to be an assembly of all the citizens. Yet it was never that, and in this book Dr Carter examines a hitherto unexplored aspect of the democracy: the citizens who stayed away. In analysing the motives of those who chose to ignore the democracy, he shows how this political quietism was the basis for Plato's version of the philosophic life.

0 19 814870 4, Clarendon Press

£25.00

A New Aristotle Reader

J. L. Ackrill

This Reader provides undergraduates and graduate students with texts to accompany courses or classes on Aristotle's philosophy. It covers the main topics of current philosophical interest in Aristotle as well as the perennial themes. Accurate, modern translations have been chosen, and Professor Ackrill provides an analytical guide to the topics covered.

0 19 875069 2, OUP/Princeton University Press

£22.50

0 19 875061 7, paperback

£8.50

Greeks in Ptolemaic Egypt

Naphtali Lewis

Drawing on a number of different case studies this book composes a vivid picture of life in a country in which the native Egyptian population is dominated by a privileged and exclusive Greek minority.

0 19 814867 4, Clarendon Press

£17.50

The Social and Economic History of the Hellenistic World

M. Rostovtzeff

Described on its publication in 1941 in the Journal of Roman Studies as 'the most important (work) which has appeared in our time on the Hellenistic world', it is now reissued after being out of print since 1980.

The Architecture of the Roman

Empire • Volume II: An Urban Appraisal

WILLIAM L. MacDONALD

The author of a classic work on the architecture of imperial Rome here broadens his focus to present a fascinating study of urban design in Roman market towns, port cities, veterans' colonies, and major metropolitan centres throughout Europe. illus. £27.50

The Muse Learns to Write

Reflections on Orality and Literacy from Antiquity to the Present • ERIC A. HAVELOCK

In this book, one of the most original and penetrating thinkers in Greek studies describes the transformation from orality to literacy in classical times and reflects upon its continued meaning for us today. £12.50

Parmenides: Being, Bounds, and Logic. SCOTT AUSTIN

In this new interpretation of Parmenides' thought and method, Scott Austin shows that the philosopher's work unified logic and metaphysics in an argument devoted in part to exploring speech and argument themselves. £18.00

Self-Knowledge in Plato's 'Phaedrus'

CHARLES L. GRISWOLD, Jr.

In the first comprehensive study of the Phaedrus published in this century, Charles Griswold focuses on the theme of 'self-knowledge', showing how this concept unifies the profusion of issues set forth by Plato. £28.50

Plato's 'Sophist'

The Drama of Original and Image

STANLEY ROSEN

The first full-length study of the Sophist to appear in English.

'Rosen is a sophisticated and learned philosopher'

— Julia Annas, Times Literary Supplement

Literary and Linguistic Computing

Journal of the Association for Literary & Linguistic Computing

Oxford Journals announce the publication of a new journal from March 1986

Literary and Linguistic Computing is an international journal which publishes material on all aspects of computing applied to literature and language. Papers will be published on computer applications in language and literature with the emphasis as much on the computing techniques as on the results of the research projects. The range of coverage extends to hardware & software reviews, computer-assisted language learning, word-processing for humanities applications and the teaching of computer techniques to language and literature students. Literary and Linguistic Computing will be published four times a year and will be compulsory reading for those working in all branches of the humanities where computing applications are becoming more and more commonplace.

Virgil's *Georgics

A Commentary

R. A. B. Mynors

Virgil's Georgics purports to be a didactic poem on agriculture, but its true subject is man and his place in nature and society. It is also a landmark in the use of the natural world as material for literature, and in the history of man's attitude to his environment. This commentary aims to illuminate the poet's meaning and his choice of expression.

0 19 814445 8, Clarendon Press

£28.00

Apollonius Rhodius: *Argonautica

Edited by Hermann Frankel

This volume which has been out of print since 1976, is now reissued.

Lucretius: *De Rerum Natura

(Titi Lucreti Cari de Rerum Natura Libri Sex)

Edited with Prolegomena, Text and Critical Apparatus, Translation and Commentary by Cyril Bailey

Cyril Bailey's magisterial edition of the De Rerum Natura, which was published in 1947 and went out of print in 1977, is now reissued.

0 19 814405 9, Clarendon Press, three volumes

£120.00

Euripides: *Orestes

Edited by C. W. Willink

This new edition of Euripides' Orestes is the first in English since 1895, despite the outstanding popularity of this play in antiquity and its importance as a link between classical Greek Tragedy and later theatrical developments.

0 19 814017 7, Clarendon Press

£35.00

Symbolae Osloenses LXI

Edited by Egil Kragerrud

Symbolae Osloenses was first published in 1922. Since then the series has covered all branches of classical research: literature, linguistics, history, archaeology, and art history. Contributions are written in all the major European languages, but mostly in English, and by scholars from all over the world. This volume contains seven articles within the field of classical studies.
