BLACKFRIARS BOOKS

THE EVERYDAY CATHOLIC

Martin Harrison, O.P. 10s. 6d.

Father Harrison's book deserves wide acceptance. . . . Every meditation gives evidence of having been written by a man who has the rare faculty of being able to communicate something of his own devout spirit to his readers.

The Thomist

FOR BETTER FOR WORSE

Ferdinand Valentine, O.P. 5s.

Father Valentine deals with three social sacraments. One of them is matrimony, but it is a valuable corrective to our individualistic notions of religion to be reminded also of the social aspect of Penance and the Holy Eucharist. The treatment is clear, full direct. . . . Valuable features of the book are the frequent quotations of Church documents, always accompanied by illuminating comment and directions. Catholic Times

REVOLUTION IN A CITY PARISH

Abbé Michonneau. 7s. 6d.

The parish can survive even in countries that have become in a certain sense missionary fields—and are not modern France and England in this category?—provided that it becomes a missionary centre. In other words the function of the parish must no longer be merely to preserve the Faith for those who have it. A parish priest, according to Abbé Michonneau, has responsibility not only for those who attend Mass at his church, but for all who live within the boundaries. . . . A stimulus to further thought and investigation.

Duckett's Register

OF CLEAVING TO GOD

St Albert the Great. 2s.

This work offers an appealing treatment of Catholic truths simply and effectively explained. Within the 16 chapters that comprise this classic one finds such subjects treated as: purity of heart, temptations and how to resist them, love of God and its great power, divine Providence. Dr Stopp has successfully maintained the vigour of the original work in her welcome translation.
