

Scrutinizing China

THE CHINESE REASSESSMENT OF SOCIALISM, 1976–1992

Yan Sun

A momentous debate has been unfolding in China over the last fifteen years, concerning the merits of socialism as a philosophy of social justice and as a program for national development. Here Yan Sun gathers a remarkable group of primary materials to present the most systematic and comprehensive study of post-Mao reappraisal of China's socialist theory and practice.

"This work is a major effort to trace and evaluate the course of China's continuing reevaluation of socialism. It is a prodigiously and meticulously researched book: there is certainly nothing of comparable scope and detail on this topic presently in print in either English or Chinese."—Joseph Fewsmith

STRATEGIC CAPITALISM

Private Business and Public Purpose in Japanese Industrial Finance

Kent E. Calder

Kent Calder's richly detailed study offers a distinctive reinterpretation of Japanese government-business relations. Calder challenges popular opinion to demonstrate how Japanese private enterprise has complemented the state in achieving the national goal of industrial transformation.

"Who ensured that loans flowed to Japan's winner industries, such as automobiles and consumer electronics? It wasn't brilliant bureaucrats, Mr. Calder argues with considerable force."—The Wall Street Journal

When an article has been accepted for publication, the author is strongly encouraged to send a copy of the final version on computer disk (Apple Macintosh or IBM compatible PC) together with the hard copy typescript, giving details of the wordprocessing software used (Microsoft Word, Word or Word Perfect). However, the publisher reserves the right to typeset material by conventional means if an author's disk proves unsatisfactory.

First proofs only will be sent to the author who will be expected to return them to the Editor within three days. Excessive alterations and additions may be charged to the author.

Each author will receive twenty-five free offprints of his or her article and a copy of the part of the journal in which it appears.
