The Political Economy of Two Regimes

John Waterbury

A balance sheet of thirty years of revolutionary experiment, this work is a comprehensive analysis of the failure of the socialist transformation of Egypt during the regimes of Nasser and Sadat.

"Beyond the large amount of data this study provides, it is one of the first which attempts to understand Egypt from a political economy perspective..." — Eric M. Davis, Rutgers University

"A highly original contribution. The author applies novel concepts and interpretations to Egyptian politics and economics." — Richard H. Dekmejian, State University of New York at Binghamton
Cloth, $45.00. Limited Paperback Edition, $12.50

Moroccan Dialogues

Anthropology in Question

Kevin Dwyer

"Dwyer's project is compelling, a deep and potentially telling challenge to current ways of doing anthropology. It could be the most radical and provocative of recent books reflecting on fieldwork, the defining experience/method of the discipline." — Renato Rosaldo, Stanford University

Has anthropology betrayed its purpose by embracing either secure scientific detachment or narrow subjectivity? Kevin Dwyer's unorthodox response to this question provides both an absorbing account of rural Moroccan life and a convincing demonstration of a radically different, dialogue-based approach to anthropological fieldwork. $28.50

A RARE ENCYCLOPEDIA ON ISLAMIC ARCHITECTURE

Enthusiasm is the prime mover of artistic creation. It leads to the new, the untold, the forbidden.

It led a French decorator, André Paccard, to step over the narrow threshold of Islamic art to photograph that which had never been seen, to listen to that which had never been told, to share that which had never been communicated with the Maallems ("those who know") - the Moroccan master-craftsmen and the last guardians of the ancient secular tradition of Islamic Art.

The Book of Ageless Techniques

In Morocco, time does not exist for the Muslim artist, any more than it does for his God. The only thing which matters is perfection. "The paccard" tells us - through over 2000 previously unpublished illustrations and original text - the technique of marble-cutting, plaster-carving, the art of Zellige and the coppersmith's craft, where hand and tool, fire and water are the only elements involved in their creation.

The Book of "Tracés régulateurs" (Basic Patterns)

The paccard is largely devoted to the famous "tracés régulateurs" which are unique in the world. They reveal the motifs and systems of design which have, for centuries, contributed to build the creative geometry of Islamic Art.

The Book for the Serious Professional
Traditional Islamic Craft In Moroccan Architecture will appeal to the discriminating architect, designer, craftsperson and scholar. As both an outstanding reference book and a unique instrument for creation, The paccard stands out as the finest reference work on Islamic art and architecture available today. The two-volume set is available in English, French or Arabic.
