

The Faces of Justice and State Authority

A Comparative Study of the Legal Process

Mirjan R. Damaska

A leading legal scholar provides a highly original comparative analysis of how justice is administered in legal systems around the world and of the profound and often puzzling changes taking place in civil and criminal procedure.

Constructing a conceptual framework of the legal process based on the link between politics and justice, Mirjan R. Damaska provides a new perspective that enables disparate procedural features to emerge as fascinating recognizable patterns. His book is "a significant work of scholarship . . . full of important insights." (Harold J. Berman) $26.00

WORLD PETROLEUM LAWS

A world study containing a precis of the petroleum laws and/or contracts for exploration/exploitation in 145 countries.

Designed for the international lawyer who needs a fast, accurate, up-to-date summary of the legal situation for oil and gas. Very extensive citations tell exactly where each law or contract can be found in English translation.

Analysis is contained for each type of petroleum arrangement (concession, production-sharing contract, risk service contract). It compares the financial results of each, and explains their structure.

This one-source world oil law reference is World Petroleum Arrangements. It is available immediately.

Apartheid Torn Apart

Do transnational corporations with business in South Africa help sustain or erode apartheid?

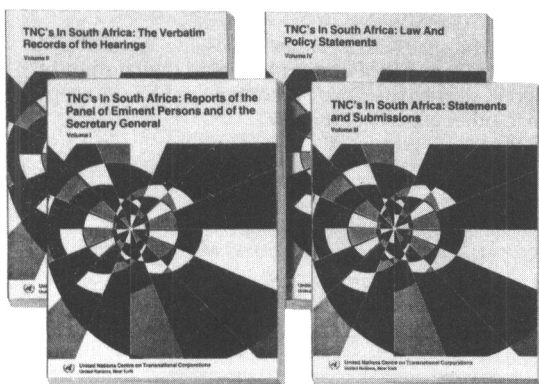

This and related issues were torn apart and examined at the United Nations on September 16–20, 1985 during the Public Hearings on the Activities of Transnational Corporations in South Africa and Namibia. A panel of eminent diplomats and political influentials heard from more than 50 informed persons, examined documentation, and made their recommendations.

Now, those recommendations, the verbatim transcripts of the hearings, the written statements of the participants, a representative listing of country, state and municipality laws and regulations regarding investment and trade with South Africa, as well as a comprehensive bibliography for further research, are available in four volumes from United Nations Publications.

Ideal for executives with interests in South Africa, international lawyers, world government leaders, students and educators, these volumes will aid in policy and opinion formulation.

Volume One, The Report and Recommendations of the Panel of Eminent Persons, is available for $65.00. The series of four volumes is offered at $200. Send check or purchase order.

The World of Science and the Rule of Law

JOHN ZIMAN, Imperial College, PAUL SIEGHART, and JOHN HUMPHREY, Royal Postgraduate Medical School

Thirty-five nations pledged to maintain one code of human rights law when they signed the Helsinki Accords in 1975. This book surveys the performance of these countries in upholding the rights important to scientists, describes where and when these rights were observed or violated, and suggests how scientists could promote fuller compliance in the future.

The 1970-1979 Cumulative Index for International Legal Materials is now in print and available to libraries, institutions, and individual subscribers.

The 156-page index covers all documents reproduced in International Legal Materials during the past decade, and it is an indispensable tool for research in the fields of contemporary international law and international relations.

The second Cumulative Index, prepared by Ms. Wendy Nordvik Roth, an international relations scholar, provides quick and easy access to the wealth of primary documents compiled in International Legal Materials. These documents include: treaties (and their dates of entry into force), international contracts, judicial and arbitral decisions, United Nations resolutions, national legislation, and a variety of other reports and agreements of great importance to the international community. The new Index provides a comprehensive guide to the raw material of international law.

The price of the second Index is $36. Individual members of the American Society of International Law are accorded a special price of $30.*

The first Cumulative Index for International Legal Materials is also available at low cost. This 131-page companion volume, prepared by legal scholar and practitioner Arnold Fraleigh, indexes all documents in International Legal Materials during the years 1962-1969. The price of the first Cumulative Index is $30; $20 for Society members.

Lawyers, researchers, government officials, and scholars will find both editions of the Cumulative Index extremely useful and time-saving resources. To order, please check the appropriate spaces below and send the form, along with your check, to: The American Society of International Law, 2223 Massachusetts Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20008.
