SPACE POLICY AND PROGRAMMES TODAY AND TOMORROW:

THE VANISHING DUOPOLE

Nicolas Matesco Matte

This revealing text thoroughly explores the history of space involvement, the resulting issues, policies, programmes and suggestions for present and future international agreements to ensure the effective use of space for the mutual benefit rather than the possible destruction of mankind. As more nations realize the importance of space for both civil and military purposes, the dominance of space by the U.S.A. and U.S.S.R. will decrease and the need for firm international policies and programmes will become extremely important.
