

SEVENTH INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS
FOR THE STUDY OF CHILD LANGUAGE

14-19 JULY 1996

The Seventh International Congress for the Study of Child Language will take place in Istanbul, Turkey, from 14 to 19 July 1996. It will be organized by the Department of Psychology and the Language Centre of Boğaziçi University, on behalf of the International Association for the Study of Child Language.

Organizing committee

Ayhan Aksu-Koç, Boğaziçi University; Eser E. Taylan, Boğaziçi University; A. Sumru Özsoy, Boğaziçi University; Aylin Küntay, University of California, Berkeley.

Programme

The congress programme will focus on research in all major areas of child language development such as syntax, semantics, morphology, phonology, the lexicon, discourse, narrative, speech perception and production, neuro-linguistics, language disorders, sign language, prelinguistic communication, bilingualism and literacy. There will be individual paper and poster presentations, workshops and special sessions on language areas such as Austro-nesian, Bantu, Germanic, Romance, Slavic and Turkic.

Plenary speakers

Ruth Berman, Tel Aviv University
Paul Bloom, University of Arizona
Eve V. Clark, Stanford University
Stephen Crain, University of Maryland
Nail Şahin, Middle East Technical University

For further information, contact:

Ayhan Aksu-Koç,
Department of Psychology,
Boğaziçi University,
Bebek, Istanbul, 80815
Turkey.

Phone: 90-(212)-263 15 00 ext: 2131, 1588, 1623

Fax: 90-212-2575038