leader	99	Residues of the real letters	101	A new type of architecture exhibition; Empathies between Mackintosh and Holl in Glasgow perspective	106	Insecurity in architecture Neena Verma reflects upon the insecurities of the architectural profession, arguing that good architecture defies the need for explanation criticism	110	Peter Zumthor's 'Topography of Terror' Claudio Leoni discusses Zumthor's unfinished project in Berlin and questions the political contestations which resulted in its abandonment history	123	Nation-building Modernism and European post-war debates: Glikson's 'Integral Habitational Unit' and Team 10 discourse Rachel Kallus examines Artur Glikson's 'Integral Habitational Unit' alongside Team 10's agenda, as well as the conflicting ideas about nation-building Modernism in relation to post-war European debates theory	135	The Wire as speculative research Benjamin Leclair-Paquet explores how the creative methods behind HBO's The Wire might promote original ways of experimenting with speculative work and reveal the merit of the imaginary as a pragmatic research device
	145	Poetic measures of architecture: Martin Heidegger's 'Poetically Man Dwells...' Glen Hill highlights the relevance to architects of philosopher Martin Heidegger's idea of measure: a measure of the heart rather than a conventional measure
	155	Exaptive translations between Biology and Architecture Chris Smith and Sandra Kaji-O'Grady tell the evolutionary tale of architectural spandrels and double helical stairways appropriated by Biology before being returned, changed through their double translation environmental design	167	Performance and style in the work of Olgyay and Olgyay David Leatherbarrow and Richard Wesley argue that the historical origins of Victor Olgyay's Design with Climate are far richer than previously reported, as are the prospects for an ecological approach that embraces cultural concerns arq reviews	177	Building the Modern Church: Roman Catholic Church Architecture in Britain, 1955 to 1975 reviewed by Angela Connelly
	179	Forms of Practice German Swiss Architecture 1980–2000 reviewed by Rosamund Diamond

Innovative in conception, unique in breadth and generously illustrated, this pace-setting quarterly publication from Cambridge University Press links, on a global scale, the worlds of architectural practice and research. arq regularly includes extensive peer-reviewed sections on design, history, theory, construction, environmental design, education and practice – as well as structures, urbanism and documents. These are supplemented by letters, reports, reviews and an annual index. Each issue opens with a leader and closes with insight, a personal end-piece. In its eighteen year history, arq has published work from all over the world: from Chile to Sweden and from Japan to the Netherlands – with a strong representation from the United Kingdom and United States. arq, like architecture itself, is all-embracing and written by and for both practitioners and academics. It provides an outlet for all those who wish to disseminate their work to an international audience.
