AZIATSKAYA ROSSIYA. Edited by G. L. Glinka and the Resettlement Administration of the Agricultural Department. 3 vols. in 2. New introduction and bibliography by Dr. Terence Armstrong, Scott Polar Research Institute. 1500 pages (St. Petersburg, 1914).

Aziatskaya Rossiya presents Siberia as it really was to the Russian people. Volume 1 includes articles on the administrative and judicial structure, urban growth, and the economy of the major mining areas. Volume 2 discusses ethnography of the Siberian peoples, religion in Siberia, urban architecture, land holding and land uses, peasant settlement, and towns of Asiatic Russia—local history and economic activities. Photographs include full scale views of Tomsk, Omsk, and many other important trading towns. Volume 3 is a detailed index of the names and geographical points covered in the text.

The German- Russians A Bibliography James Long

A bibliographic document describing the community of Germans who immigrated to Russia at the invitation of the Russian government. It is also the only systematic compilation of Russian-language sources relating to the German-Russians.

Professor Long has written an eminently readable introductory essay to this comprehensive, annotated bibliography.

September 1978. 136pp. Index. Hardcover $16.95

The U.S. in World War I A Selected Bibliography Ronald Schaffer

The full spectrum of military, political, and social history is simply presented for quick, authoritative research on World War I. Although deliberately selective, it is of considerable interest to the specialist in military history, 20th century historians, research scholars, and students.

Announcing
ANTHOLOGY OF ARMENIAN POETRY
DIANA DER HOVANESSIAN AND MARZBED MARGOSSIAN,
EDITORS AND TRANSLATORS

Spanning twenty centuries, Anthology of Armenian Poetry reveals the full, poignant world of Armenian poetry which has so long been denied the English reader. From pagan fragments and folk poems to the post-holocaust poetry of the diaspora and Soviet Armenia, the translators have collected the best and most representative work of this richly poetic people.

"A masterful work with the translations supple and freely flowing yet true to the sturdiness and strong hard beauty of the original."—Michael Arlen

TECHNOLOGY AND SOCIETY UNDER LENIN AND STALIN

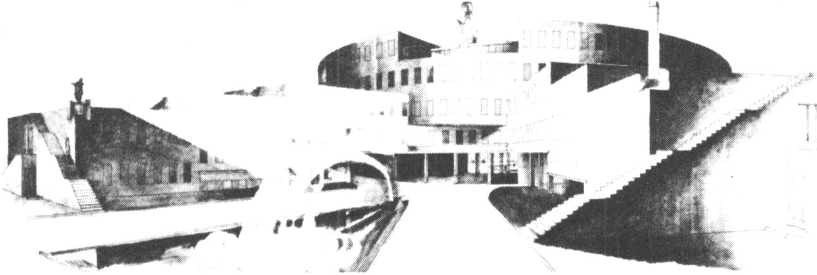

Origins of the Soviet Technical Intelligentsia, 1917-1941

KENDALL E. BAILES

"This is nothing less than the social history of the group from which top Soviet leaders have been drawn down to the present day. Not only does Bailes describe in detail the process by which this group was formed and transformed under Stalin, but, by means of case studies, he identifies the causes of the resistance to innovation that still vitiates Soviet plans for economic betterment."

MELNIKOV

Solo Architect in a Mass Society

S. FREDERICK STARR

Throughout the two decades after the Russian Revolution, Konstantin Melnikov figured as one of the most active and visible figures in Soviet architecture. This absorbing biography describes his life and his varied and controversial achievements. Illustrated with 260 previously unpublished drawings and photographs, it offers the life story of a leading artist of the revolutionary avant-garde and a colorful picture of Soviet culture during the 1920s and 30s.

GOGOL'S DEAD SOULS

JAMES B. WOODWARD

Alone of the great Russian novels of the 19th century, Dead Souls has remained almost as profound a mystery to critics as it was when it first appeared. Woodward disputes the traditional view of Gogol's work, contending that it is not a sprawling, mass of loosely connected episodes, details, and digressions. His close reading of the text offers a new interpretation by tracing the essential features of Gogol's creative method. $17.50

Russian Poetry: The Modern Period

John Glad & Daniel Weissbort, editors

This panorama of Russian poetry divides seventy poets into six groupings:

Pre-World War II Poetry in Russia
Pre-World War II Émigré Poetry
Post-World War II Poetry in Russia
Post-World War II Émigré Poetry
The New Wave in Russia
The Newest Émigré Wave

"There is no doubt that, due to the very large range of the material selected and also because of the high quality of most of the translations, this anthology merits our special attention."—Igor Chinnov, Vanderbilt University

Contemporary Yugoslav Poetry

Vasa D. Mihailovich, editor

This comprehensive anthology of Yugoslav poetry presents a wide spectrum—forty-three poets who published from prior to World War II to recent times, with the bulk representing the very active middle generation. The six distinct ethnic backgrounds in Yugoslavia gave diversity to the poetry, while World War II and the formation of a Social Federated Republic established the atmosphere surrounding the creation of these poems.

"There is a wealth of good poetry here. The selection of authors is quite representative of the best Yugoslav poets today."—Thomas Butler, University of Wisconsin

1977. 272 pages. 6 x 8½. LC 77-22865.
