Making a New Deal

Industrial Workers in Chicago, 1919-1939

Lizabeth Cohen

"Like the best new labor historians, she studies working people outside their workplace, but like the best old labor historians, she emphasizes the importance of workplace and union building in their lives." — David Nasaw in The Nation

42838-6 Paper $15.95

Labor's Struggles, 1945-1990

A Participant's View

Irving Richter

Foreword by David Montgomery

This study of policy-making in union headquarters and in Washington focuses on the 1945 splits within the CIO as well as the sharp division between the "social" CIO and the "opportunistic" AFL. It is based on the author's own experiences as legislative representative for the United Auto Workers-CIO and is supplemented by historical research.

41412-1 Hardcover $39.95

Three Cheers for the Unemployed

Government and Unemployment
Before the New Deal

Udo Sautter

This book describes the beginning and development of unemployment reform until the New Deal. As a consequence of large scale industrialization, joblessness could no longer be understood to be caused by a character defect but had to be ascribed to societal forces. By the time the United States entered World War I, reformist thinking had devised the major instruments that were later employed in dealing with unemployment.

40041-4 Hardcover $54.95

Peanantry and Society in France Since 1789

Annie Moulin

M. C. and M. F. Cleary, Translators

This book explores the principal problems and changes that have affected the French peasantry since 1789. Dr. Moulin examines the social, economic, and cultural evolution of the peasantry as a subsistence economy that has been replaced by commercialized, capitalist farming.

Copublished with the Maison des Sciences de l'Homme

39534-8 Hardcover $49.95

Belated Feudalism

Labor, the Law, and Liberal
Development in the United States

Karen Orren

"A stunning reinterpretation of the American political order as a whole. Labor and law are avenues to a broad vista. Orren reconceptualizes the logic of American political development, the relation of public and private in American politics and the place of labor history in American political history."—Jeffrey K. Tulis

42254-X Paper $15.95

Alice Henry The Power of Pen and Voice

The Life of an Australian-American
Labour Reformer

Diane Kirkby

In this first biography of Alice Henry (1857-1943), the author presents us with an intelligent, formidable woman of great energy who was a pioneer in both the Australian and American labor movements early in this century.

Dishing It Out Waitresses and Their Unions in the Twentieth Century

Dorothy Sue Cobble

Combines oral interviews and extensive archival records to show how waitresses adopted the basic tenets of craft unionism from male-dominated unions but rejected other aspects of male union culture. At the movement's peak in the 1940s and 1950s, close to one-fourth of all waitresses belonged to unions, developing a distinctive form of working-class feminism that pushed for equal rights and pay while affirming a need for special protections. "Rich in detail, studded with telling anecdotes, Dishing It Out is just as vivid and evocative as its title suggests."

— Susan Porter Benson, author of Counter Cultures. Illus. $34.95

"We're Worth It!" Women and Collective Action in the Insurance Workplace

Cynthia B. Costello

Tracing the ebb and flow of clerical activism in four insurance work settings in Madison, Wisconsin, Cynthia Costello shows that when working women are in a position to act, they do—on the job, at the bargaining table, and sometimes on the picket line. "A valuable new contribution to the literature on clerical workers and their union activity."

— Ruth Milkman, author of Gender at Work. $23.50

The Samuel Gompers Papers Vol. 4: A National Labor Movement Takes Shape, 1895-98

Edited by Stuart B. Kaufman, Peter J. Albert, and Grace Palladino

The momentous period from 1895 to 1898 saw the American Federation of Labor (AFL) charter 36 national and international unions, 61 central labor unions, and more than 700 local and federal labor unions. This volume of The Samuel Gompers Papers chronicles the AFL's continued growth and highlights Gompers' own ideological struggles with Edward Boyce, Eugene Debs, and Daniel DeLeon. "Distinguished and invaluable. . . Labor historians would be well advised to clear shelf space for it."

— Bruce Laurie, Industrial and Labor Relations Review. Illus. $49.95

Rosa Luxemburg, Women's Liberation, and Marx's Philosophy of Revolution

Second Edition

Raya Dunayevskaya

With a foreword by Adrienne Rich

This edition includes two new essays by the author.

"Raya Dunayevskaya remains the liveliest, probably also the best-informed, theoretician of the far Left, deeply committed to the Marxist cause, yet remaining fiercely independent." — Louis Dupré, Owl of Minerva: Journal of the Hegel Society of America. Paper, $12.95; also in cloth, $32.50

Miles of Smiles, Years of Struggle Stories of Black Pullman Porters

Jack Santino

"An engaging oral history of the Pullman porters and their long struggle to attain economic independence and social dignity. . . . A worthy and faithful historical record." — Kirkus Reviews. Illus. Paper, $12.95; also in cloth, $24.95

Keeping the Faith

A. Philip Randolph, Milton P. Webster, and the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, 1925-37

William H. Harris

"Contains a wealth of insights and basic data which successfully place the history of this remarkable union in its time. The book is a welcome addition to the historiography of the black working class." — Philip S. Foner, American Historical Review. "Will become a standard reference work for students of labor history, black history, and the civil rights movement." — Greg Leroy, Chicago History. Illus. Paper, $11.95

Strike!

Mary Heaton Vorse

With an introduction by
Dee Garrison

The most famous of the bloody textile industry strikes of the late 1920s and early 1930s took place at the Loray Mill in Gastonia, North Carolina, where fifty-five-hour work weeks were the norm and pay was so low that everyone over sixteen had to work if families were to survive. Strike! is a vivid portrait of the mill workers' living and working conditions, told from the perspective of two male journalists. This novel by the well-known writer and radical journalist was the first of six inspired by the Gastonia strike. Critics hailed it as the best. Paper, $15.95

Politics & Society

Politics & Society publishes original analyses of politics, including its social roots and its consequences. In its broadest sense, politics encompasses conflicts over the shape of social life, whether on the shop floor, within the family, or in the realm of the state and the world economy. The quest for a good society is also enduringly a part of political life.

The journal deals with all aspects of politics, with particular emphasis on radical approaches. The specific articles deal with an extremely wide range of substantive topics, but in recent years has been particularly concerned with the relationship between class and state, the politics of gender, politics and underdevelopment, the transformation of the state in advanced capitalism, microfoundations of class theory, and the state in socialist societies.

Contributions are welcome from people of many disciplines, and they may take the form of theoretical essays, historical investigations, philosophical reflections, and empirical research. Politics & Society is committed to developing Marxist, post-Marxist, and other radical perspectives and examination of what Robert Lynd once called "some outrageous hypothesis."

The Shaping of American Working Class Consciousness

With a New Introduction and Epilogue by the Author

Stanley Aronowitz

"[This book] is an important testament to the limits of the labor movement and working-class culture during the post-war 'boom' period; Aronowitz incisively brought his own experience as well as New Left politics-critical theory to bear on problems of labor alienation, bureaucracy, and segmentation of the labor force."—Leon Fink, author of Workingman's Democracy 500 pages, paper $14.95, library cloth edition $34.95
