SHEA Electronic Bulletin Board System (EBBS) Update

In September 1986, the SHEA Electronic Bulletin Board System (EBBS) went on-line for use by the members of the Society. The EBBS is a clearinghouse for information. Users can retrieve or leave information in the form of mail, downloadable programs and data files, comments, public messages, or data controlled by customized data base applications. The SHEA EBBS has a simple user interface. Major features are shown in Table 1.

The SHEA EBBS is equipped with an on-line users' guide; a printed copy can be obtained from the system operator. To communicate with the bulletin board, the caller needs a phone line, a modem, and a dumb terminal. (Most communication software packages for personal computers provide a modem that emulates a dumb terminal.) When calling the bulletin board, the modem should be set at 300, 1200, (or 2400 for the 1-800 line) baud rate with eight data bits, one stop bit, and parity set NONE. The bulletin board phone numbers are 318-233-3843 and 1-800-327-3623.

Several specific functions of the bulletin board should be of interest to SHEA members. A CONFERENCE is a special mailbox in which messages regarding a particular topic (Table 2) may be deposited and read. A second area of interest is GROUPS. Organizing GROUPS (Table 3) allows members to "broadcast" a single message to all members of the GROUP. Members must have appropriate privileges in order to read the contents of the GROUP. A member can belong to more than one GROUP. Entering a GROUP mailbox may require additional passwords.

A third area of interest is the mail system, which has been recently upgraded. The enhanced mail facility allows for mail forwarding, sending carbon copies of mail, instant replies to mail, longer messages, replies to

MAJOR FEATURES OF THE SHEA EBBS

- Simultaneous support for two users via a local line and a 1-800 number
- Password protection
- Privileges keyed into individual users
- File downloaded with security access to group files
- File upload
- Full-featured mail system
- Comment facility
- Conferencing
- Surveys
- System operator line monitoring
- Limited use access
- Automatic baud rate detection
- Maintenance of activity log files
- Detects attempted security violations

CONFERENCES and GROUP messages, display of sent messages status, and the capability to download and upload binary files to and from mailboxes.

Another area of interest is the survey mechanism. Surveys allow SHEA users to query the membership on topics of timely interest. As users respond, the results are automatically tabulated.

To avoid subscription cost for SHEA members, the EBBS operates on a personal computer utilizing bulletin board software distributed by Dynamic Microprocess Associates, Inc. Funding for the 800 number was generously provided by the Hoechst-

Roussel Pharmaceutical Corporation. Technical support is provided by Epi Systems, Inc.
