

The deaths of the following have also been reported:

MAUREEN JOHANNA COLLINS-WALSH, Abbey House, Manister, Croom, Co. Limerick, Republic of Ireland.

PHILIP ROBERT HALTON DAVIS, formerly Consultant Psychiatrist, Reading Hospital Group.

GRAHAM JOHN FIRTH FRYER, formerly SHMO, Bexley Hospital, Kent.

DOUGLAS ALAN KENT, formerly Consultant Psychiatrist, Rotherham District General Hospital, South Yorkshire.

JOHAN KRUGER, retired, PO Box 692, 9500 Kroonstad, Orange Free State, South Africa.

Psychiatric Bulletin (1991), 15, 589

Miscellany

Max Hamilton Memorial Psychiatric Research Fund

The Max Hamilton Memorial Psychiatric Research Fund was established in 1989 to commemorate Professor Hamilton's contributions to psychiatry in the United Kingdom and more widely. Initially friends and colleagues were invited to support the Fund but in January 1991, a more general appeal was launched. To date almost £30,000 has been donated, much of it in the form of covenants. The Committee intend to use the income from the Fund to give financial assistance to trainees in the mental health disciplines, who are working in the Yorkshire Region, to enable them to pursue research on psychiatric topics. We believe that Professor Hamilton would have approved of such a memorial.

Contributions or enquiries may be sent to: Mrs J. Barton, Max Hamilton Memorial Psychiatric Research Fund, Department of Psychiatry, University of Leeds, 15 Hyde Terrace, Leeds LS2 9LT.

Award

Dr Donald Broadbent, FRS, a leading experimental psychologist with the Medical Research Council, has received an honorary Doctorate of Science from Cranfield Institute of Technology for his fundamental contribution to establishing the science of cognitive and applied psychology. Dr Broadbent is an Honorary Fellow of the Royal College of Psychiatrists.

Request from Nigeria for medical literature

Mr Lucky Seibai, The Medical Library, Psychiatric Hospital Ojobo, Via Warra, Bendel State, Nigeria would be grateful for any help readers can give in providing any surplus medical books and leaflets for his library.

Call for papers

Authors are invited by the editorial board of the Yearbook of Cross-Cultural Medicine and Psychotherapy to submit unpublished manuscripts for the thematic issues in 1992 and 1993. A clinical, empirical and evaluative perspective is required: Ethnic and alternative therapies in European and American culture (1992); and traditional prophylaxis and therapy of psychiatric and psychosomatic illness in third world countries (1993). Thematic suggestions and formal guidelines are available on request from: Dr Walter Andritzky, Kopernikusstrasse 55, 4000 Düsseldorf, Germany.

Lundbeck Teaching Fellowship

At the Annual General Meeting 1991 of the Royal College of Psychiatrists, Mr David Hubber, the Managing Director of Lundbeck Limited, handed over a cheque to establish the Lundbeck Teaching Fellowship. The aim of the Fellowship is to support a psychiatrist practising in the United Kingdom in providing a course of training in a designated specialist subject in a foreign country (See Psychiatric Bulletin, August 1991, 15, 518). At the presentation Mr Hubber said, "We are delighted to be working with the Royal College of Psychiatrists in this joint venture to establish a Lundbeck Teaching Fellowship. Everyone at Lundbeck is delighted that on the occasion of the first Fellowship Award you have been able to arrange to send speakers to two countries – Bulgaria and Chile. We look forward to continuing our association with you on this venture and trust that the Lundbeck Teaching Fellowship will, over the years, make a significant contribution to psychiatric training in developing countries."