CAMBRIDGE
UNIVERSITY PRESS

ERRATUM

Evaluating optimal reference translations – ERRATUM

Vilém Zouhar[1,2] ⓘ, Věra Kloudová[2], Martin Popel[2] and Ondřej Bojar[2]

[1]Department of Computer Science, ETH Zürich, Zürich, Switzerland and [2]Institute of Formal and Applied Linguistics,
Faculty of Mathematics and Physics, Charles University, Prague, Czechia
Corresponding author: Vilém Zouhar; Email: vilem.zouhar@gmail.com

DOI: https://doi.org/10.1017/nlp.2024.3, published by Cambridge University Press on 8 May 2024.

The publisher regrets that the wrong affiliation was given for co-authors Věra Kloudová, Martin Popel and Ondřej Bojar in the initial publication of this article. Their affiliation should have been:

Institute of Formal and Applied Linguistics, Faculty of Mathematics and Physics, Charles University, Prague, Czechia

The article has now been updated to reflect this.

Reference

Zouhar V, Kloudová V, Popel M, Bojar O. Evaluating optimal reference translations. Natural Language Processing. Published online 2024:1-24. doi: 10.1017/nlp.2024.3

Cite this article: Zouhar V., Kloudová V., Popel M. and Bojar O. Evaluating optimal reference translations – ERRATUM.
Natural Language Processing https://doi.org/10.1017/nlp.2024.39