The first complete English translation of the most important work on Chinese history. This project will result in the first complete translation (in nine volumes) of the Shih chi (The Grand Scribe's Records), one of the most important narratives in traditional China. Compiled by Ssu-ma Ch'ien (145-c.86 B.C.), known as the Herodotus of China, it draws upon most major early historical works and was the foremost model for style and genre in Chinese history and literature through the eleventh century A.D., and through the early twentieth century from some genres.

EARLY CHINESE TEXTS: A BIBLIOGRAPHICAL GUIDE

Edited by MICHAEL LOEWE

This volume includes descriptive notices on sixty-four literary works written or compiled before the end of the Han dynasty. Three dozen leading scholars from the United States and Europe summarize the subject matter and contents, present conclusions regarding authorship, authenticity and textual history, and indicate outstanding problems that await solution. Each item is supported by lists of traditional and modern editions, commentaries, translations and research aids. The sixty-four notices total nearly five hundred pages, with additional appendices and a 34-page index of scholars. This volume can be purchased from the Institute of East Asian Studies, Berkeley, for $35, and in Europe through Sinobiblia for £20 (or the equivalent ECU).

BIRDTRACK PRESS specializes in setting the type for sinological publications that integrate printed Chinese with alphabetic text: we produce camera-ready copy at an affordable price. We routinely set the unusual characters sinologists require, including custom logographs for variant or archaic forms. We offer a large selection of alphabetic typefaces, and can create special diacritics or phonetic symbols to match. We know how to meet publishers' page specifications, and are happy to discuss technical issues with design and production staff. We also work directly with authors, and have the expertise and experience in sinological computing and typography to ensure professional results. Please note our new address:
