Environment

THE EFFECTIVENESS OF INTERNATIONAL ENVIRONMENTAL AGREEMENTS

A CO-PUBLICATION WITH THE UNITED NATIONS CONFERENCE ON ENVIRONMENT AND DEVELOPMENT

This work will bring together thirteen major research papers, commissioned as background documentation for the United Nations Conference on Environment and Development (UNCED, Rio de Janeiro, June 1992), providing a detailed survey and analysis of the effectiveness of 124 existing international agreements and instruments to protect the environment.

In addition the book will contain the report by the Secretary-General of the Conference which sets the entire survey in context and summarizes the findings of the individual research papers. This section will also contain the recommendations for future action on international legal instruments and mechanisms to be agreed at the Conference.

The book will conclude with a reference section containing an annotated list of existing environmental agreements and instruments within each area of research, including current membership, source references and secretariat addresses.

SELECTED MULTILATERAL TREATIES IN THE FIELD OF THE ENVIRONMENT

A CO-PUBLICATION WITH THE UNITED NATIONS ENVIRONMENT PROGRAMME

Containing the essential substance of international environmental law, these volumes are fundamental works of reference for all who are interested in the protection of the world around us – laymen as much as professionals.

Each volume is divided into two parts. Part I provides a summary of the relevant provisions of each convention. Part II reproduces the full texts of the conventions and their related protocols.

INTERNATIONAL WILDLIFE LAW

Simon Lyster

—First major description of the international law protecting wildlife

—Covers the International Conventions on, amongst other matters: Whaling; Wetlands; Protection of cultural and natural heritage; International trade in endangered species; Antarctic marine living resources

—Also contains the texts of twelve of the most important conventions

“... The most remarkable aspect of the book is its sheer scope... the number of international treaties aimed at conserving wildlife has grown steadily. Not until Lyster's book, however, has anyone tried to offer a comprehensive analysis of that body of law. The result is a compelling display of legal scholarship... [that] escapes the trap of appealing only to a narrow audience of similar specialists...” M. J. Bean, Nature

CHERNOBYL: LAW AND COMMUNICATION

edited by Philippe J. Sands

The 1986 accident at the Chernobyl plant has highlighted the need to re-examine and clarify the obligations imposed by international law on States engaged in nuclear and other ultra-hazardous activities.

The texts reproduced include multilateral and bilateral treaties, non-binding acts of international organizations and private associations of scholars, and national legislation. Each text is introduced by a Note summarizing its background and main provisions, and is accompanied by a select bibliography. The signatories and parties to the treaties are set out in full. Reservations and declarations have also been included where relevant.

General Titles

INTERNATIONAL EFFORTS TO COMBAT MONEY LAUNDERING

The effectiveness of concentrating on the profits of drug trafficking as a law enforcement strategy has focused attention on international money laundering. This work contains a selection of basic documents including the work of the Financial Action Task Force on Money Laundering, initiatives by the U.N., Council of Europe and the European Communities together with the response of other international organizations.

A substantive introduction provides an overview of these international developments.

THE LAW OF MARITIME DELIMITATION — REFLECTIONS

Prosper Weil

AWARDED THE PRIX ERNEST LEMONON BY THE INSTITUT DE FRANCE, ACADEMIE DES SCIENCES MORALES ET POLITIQUES

The problem of maritime delimitation is one of the most disputed questions in international law. The purpose of this book is to assess the meaning and scope of the solutions already reached, to submit them to critical analysis, to identify the directions in which the evolution of the law is headed, and to advance some suggestions as to desirable developments.

Redfern & Hunter: Law & Practice of International Commercial Arbitration, 2nd Edition

Alan Redfern and Martin Hunter

This new edition, completely revised and restructured, provides a comprehensive review of the process of international commercial arbitration from the drafting of the arbitration agreement to the enforcement of the arbitral tribunal's award. The role of the main international arbitral institutions is described and detailed comment is made on institutional and international rules of arbitration, as well as ad hoc arbitration.

A new section examines the growth of mediation and conciliation, as forms of "alternative dispute resolution." New commentary on the practical lessons to be learned from the Iran-United States Claim Tribunal is included.

The International Human Rights Law Group
Announces the Publication of the fourth edition of

U.S. Legislation Relating Human Rights to U.S. Foreign Policy

THE BOOK

Published by the International Human Rights Law Group, this book is a compilation of legislation relating human rights to foreign policy that has been implemented during the past two decades. Included in the book are general human rights legislation establishing administrative structure relating to human rights, country specific laws covering U.S. relations with countries in Africa, Asia, Europe and the Western hemisphere, and statutes concerning foreign assistance, trade restrictions, and U.S. participation in international financial institutions. The comprehensive and up-to-date reference book is a mandatory resource for human rights activists and academics alike.

THE INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS LAW GROUP

The International Human Rights Law Group is a nongovernmental, public interest law center which mobilizes the special skills of the legal community to promote and protect human rights in the U.S. and abroad. Since its founding in 1978, the Law Group has worked in over 75 countries:

- ▶ sending fact-finding missions to investigate human rights abuses
- ▶ monitoring the right to political participation and free and fair elections
- ▶ bringing cases on behalf of individuals to U.S. courts and international fora
- ▶ promoting the rule of law and the independence of the judiciary

The Law Group has Category II consultative status with the United Nations Economic and Social Council, and is a tax-exempt organization under Section 501(c)(3) of the U.S. Tax Code.

PROFESSIONAL PRAISE

Senator Tom Harkin, U.S. Senate:

"U.S. Legislation demonstrates in unqualified terms the will of the American people that human rights considerations must remain a central component to U.S. foreign policy."

*Hurst Hannum, Associate Professor of International Law,
The Fletcher School of Diplomacy, Tufts University:*

"If any lawyer still doubts the relevance of human rights to the formulation of U.S. foreign policy, the fourth edition of the Law Group's compilation of U.S. Legislation Relating Human Rights to U.S. Foreign Policy should dispel that misconception. This is an essential reference tool which should be in every law school's and practitioner's library."

Richard B. Lillich, Howard W. Smith Professor of Law, University of Virginia; President, The Procedural Aspects of International Law Institute; Founder and Former Chairman, The International Human Rights Law Group:

"I marvel at this comprehensive and professionally edited collection that will be of great interest and use to all persons, both here and abroad, concerned with human rights and how U.S. foreign policy can be mobilized to develop and enforce them."

TO ORDER: Send $32.50 (checks or money orders only) plus $5.00 postage and handling to: The International Human Rights Law Group, 1601 Connecticut Avenue, N.W., Suite 700, Washington, D.C. 20009. Or Call (202) 232-8500.

 A free, up-to-date analysis of the effectiveness of U.S. legislation in relating human rights to U.S. foreign policy making is included with each book ordered.*

Winner of this year's ASIL Certificate of Merit!

International Law in Theory and Practice

Oscar Schacter, Columbia University School of Law, New York City

1991

432 pages

ISBN 0-7923-1024-1

$160.00

ASIL's Committee on Annual Awards has chosen International Law in Theory and Practice by Oscar Schacter, as the recipient of the highly prestigious Certificate of Merit for "preeminent contribution to creative scholarship."

International Law in Theory and Practice is an updated, supplemented and revised version of the well-received General Course held by the author at the Hague Academy of International Law.

This treatise constitutes a major contribution to the development of international law and gives an impetus to discussions on the essence of international law. The book is of interest to academics and diplomats, as well as legal practitioners.

About the Author:

Oscar Schacter held legal posts in the U.S. government and in international organizations and served for many years as a legal adviser to the Secretary-General of the United Nations. He is the recipient of the Manley Hudson Gold Medal for preeminent scholarship and for achievement in international law. Schacter is a former president of the ASIL and was co-editor-in-chief of the AJIL. He is a lecturer at Harvard and Yale Law Schools, and at the Hague Academy of International Law as well as a member of the Institut de Droit International. Schacter is currently Hamilton Fish Professor Emeritus of International Law and Diplomacy at Columbia University.

"...Schacter distills the normative essence of international law. He defends normativity in the best possible fashion, by demonstrating the existence of norms that he captures, catalogs, analyzes, criticizes and projects in a most engaging fashion. His treatise deduces a teleology that gives purpose and design to what would otherwise be a jumble of random data. It examines and evaluates the sources of international normativity and demonstrates that the norms are not only alive, but growing and expanding."

Thomas M. Franck, reviewing the Hague lectures upon which this book is based (AJIL) sees itself as a forum for the discussion and analysis of theory and practice of international law. It is issued by eight European publishing houses. The editorial office has its seat at the European University Institute in Florence. The journal is edited by four renowned professors of international law:

- Antonio Cassese, Florence
- Pierre-Marie Dupuy, Paris
- Bruno Simma, Munich and Ann Arbor
- Joseph Weiler, Ann Arbor and Florence

ISSUES

The journal regularly deals with general topics of international law. Particular attention is paid to the legal relationships to and the European Community trade with third countries. Moreover, emphasis is placed on the development of Europe in terms of East-West relations. Further articles regularly deal with innovations in international law and provide up-to-date surveys of legislature, judicature, trade policies and international trade customs as far as they concern the European Community as a whole.

THE USER

The journal appears both in English and in French in order to facilitate a world-wide dialogue. Anyone involved with either international or European law, with Europe's relationship to the USA and to the East will need this periodical, in particular experts on European and international law, politicians and political scientists, diplomats as well as staff members of international organisations.
