Chief Editor

William Gervase Clarence-Smith, SOAS, London, UK

Editors

Kenneth Pomeranz, University of California, USA

Peer Vries, Leiden University, Netherlands

Journal of Global History addresses the main problems of global change over time, together with the diverse histories of globalization. It will also examine counter-currents to globalization, including those that have structured other spatial units. The journal will seek to transcend the dichotomy between 'the West and the rest', straddle traditional regional boundaries, relate material to cultural and political history, and overcome thematic fragmentation in historiography.

Editors

Charles Capper, Boston University, USA

Anthony J. La Vopa, North Carolina State University, USA

Nicholas T. Phillipson, Edinburgh University, UK

This important journal serves as a focal point and forum for scholarship on intellectual and cultural history from the mid-seventeenth century to the present, with primary attention to Europe and the Americas and to transnational developments that encompass the non-West. Modern Intellectual History enquires into this era's intellectual discourses and texts, their ontological origins and reception, and the recovery of their historical meanings.

Editor

Christopher Clapham, University of Cambridge, UK

The Journal of Modern African Studies surveys developments in modern African politics and society. Its main emphasis is on current issues in African politics, economies, societies and international relations. Editorial policy avoids commitment to any political viewpoint or ideology, but aims at a fair examination of controversial issues.

NOTES FOR CONTRIBUTORS

The Journal publishes research and reviews on all aspects of the African past. Contributors should keep in mind the general readership for whom they are writing and relate their findings specifically to relevant secondary literature.

Authors may submit contributions in either English or French. They should not exceed about 7,500 words (excluding notes), except with the prior approval of the Editors. Where appropriate, carefully drawn maps, photographs and other illustrations should accompany the text. An abstract of the contents of the article, not exceeding about 100 words, should follow the title.

Contributors should seek clarity, brevity and simplicity of expression and avoid long sentences and unduly lengthy or short paragraphs. They should closely observe the conventions set out below ('Format and Style'). Print-outs must be checked personally before despatch, to remove accidental errors.

Contributions may be sent to any one of the Editors listed on the inside cover; they should be addressed to them at their university addresses. Where possible, submissions should be sent as e-mail attachments, preferably in MS Word.

When an article has been accepted for publication, and after typesetting, page proofs will be sent to each contributor. Corrections must be kept to a minimum: they should not include new material. Contributors should be prepared to return corrected proofs promptly. Authors of articles and review articles receive 25 free offprints and may purchase additional copies, provided that they order before publication on the form sent out with proofs.

Format and Style

Articles should be submitted electronically. They should be typed in double-spacing throughout. Lines beginning new paragraphs should be indented. Ample margins (at least one inch left and right, one and one-half inches top and bottom) must be left, and all pages should be numbered.

Spelling (in English) may follow either British or American convention but must be consistent. African words and names should conform to the orthography of the International African Institute. In referring to people, Bantu prefixes should normally be omitted: thus 'Luganda', 'Buganda', but 'a Ganda', 'the Ganda'. Quotations of more than forty words or so should begin on a new line, indented from the left-hand margin.

Italics should be used only for the names of publications and for words in languages other than English. Foreign words should be used only when necessary, and then only with a translation in parentheses. Figures should be used for units of measurement, percentages (to be shown in the form '7 per cent', not '7%'), and any number which includes a decimal point. Spell out other numbers up to ten and multiples of ten up to one hundred ('seven', 'twenty', but '25', '127' and '10,000'). Cite dates in the form '12 February 1968' (or 'Feb.' in source-references). Express sequences in the briefest form possible ('68-9', but '1911-12', '1849-50').

Notes should be footnotes not endnotes. They should be numbered consecutively throughout the article and double-spaced. Citations of references should be made only in the notes and not in the text, and there should be no separate bibliography. First references should be given in full, thus: S. Johnson, The History of the Yorubas (Lagos, 1921); E. W. Smith, 'Sebetwane and the Makololo', African Studies, 15 (1956), 49-74. All subsequent references should be given in abbreviated form, thus: Johnson, History, 43; Smith, 'Sebetwane', 65, except that ibid. should be used to refer to an immediately preceding citation of a title. Loc. cit. and op. cit. should not be used. Do not abbreviate periodical titles. Archival citations should be as brief as is consistent with clarity. The identity and location of each archive must be fully spelled out where it is first cited.

Maps should be prepared where the topography is important for an understanding of the text. Maps should if possible be camera-ready and show all relevant information, but only such information as is mentioned in the text. Photographs should specifically enhance the text and carry full captions and attributions.
