

Journal of Cross-Cultural Gerontology

Editors: Cynthia M. Beall, Melvyn Goldstein, Charlotte Ikels, Kevin Kinsella (Aging Trends Special Editor)

The Journal of Cross-Cultural Gerontology is an international and interdisciplinary journal providing a forum for scholarly discussion of the aging process and the problems of the aged throughout the world. The journal emphasizes discussions of research findings, theoretical issues and applied approaches that deal with non-Western populations, as well as articles that provide a comparative orientation to the study of the aging process in its social, economic, historical and biological perspectives. The core of the journal comprises a broad range of articles dealing with non-Western societies, written from the perspectives of history, anthropology, sociology, political science, psychology, population studies, health/biology, etc. A second category of papers includes articles from Western societies comparing sub-cultural groupings or ethnic minorities such as Vietnamese, Turks, etc. Comparative studies of topics related to aging comprise the third group of articles. Such comparative analyses have been on Western and non-Western societies as well as on comparisons of Western societies, such as socialist vs. capitalist systems, for instance, or societies with different social service delivery systems. With societies becoming ever more multicultural and with many societies experiencing a 'graying' of their population on a hitherto unprecedented scale, the Journal of Cross-Cultural Gerontology stands at the forefront of one of the most pressing issues of our times.

Journal of Cross-Cultural Gerontology is surveyed by Sociological Abstracts, Current Literature on Aging, Biological Abstracts, Sage Family Studies Abstracts, Referativnyi Zhurnal, The International Bibliography of the Social Sciences, Psychological Abstracts, Combined Health Information Database: Alzheimer's Disease Subfile, Index Medicus, Abstracts in Social Gerontology, IBZ

Essential Ageing Books from ...

The 30 Vital Years

The Positive Experience of Ageing

FRANCIS MACNAB

An optimistic forward-looking book with a most important and impressive theme - that wherever you are on the lifespan, the next thirty years will be the vital years. This book informs, encourages, provokes, and astonishes. Above all, it is helpful and life enhancing. It contains stories that will summon every reader to write their story; and so add to the gathering volumes that inspire people to live fully, intelligently and colourfully.

Life Stories

Personal Construct Therapy with the Elderly

LINDA L. VINEY

Dealing with the joy and wisdom of the elderly, as well as with their anxiety and grief, this book shows how life stories and the reactions of others to them are of central importance to the elderly - maintaining or threatening their sense of personal well-being. Understanding the many roles these stories can play enhances the impact that nurses, welfare workers, social workers and psychologists have on the lives of elderly people.

Changes in Work, Family, and Retirement

MATILDA WHITE RILEY, ROBERT L. KAHN and ANNE FONER

Focuses on the shortage of meaningful and productive opportunities for the growing aging population to apply their strengths and capacities; as the numbers of long-lived people increase, the dearth of role opportunities for them become increasingly obvious. This book looks at the problem and proposes solutions.

Notes for Contributors

All contributions and correspondence should be sent to: Professor Peter G. Coleman, The Editor, Ageing and Society, Department of Social Work Studies, University of Southampton, Southampton SO9 5NH, England. All books for review should be sent to: Professor Anthony M. Warnes, Department of Health Care of Elderly People, University of Sheffield, Northern General Hospital, Herries Road, Sheffield S5 7AU, England.

General approach and preparation of manuscripts

Authors are asked to bear in mind the multi-disciplinary and international nature of the readership when writing their contribution. In particular, care should be taken to draw out the implications of the analysis for readers in other fields, other countries, and other disciplines. Stereotypical presentation of individuals or social groupings, including the use of ageist language, should be avoided.

Articles should generally contain between 5,000 and 10,000 words, although longer or shorter articles may be accepted by arrangement with the Editor. Articles in the Forum section will normally be shorter (3,000–6,000 words).

Submission of an article is taken to imply that it has not previously been published, and is not being considered for publication elsewhere. If an author is publishing a related article elsewhere, this fact should be stated. Contributors of articles or reviews accepted for publication will be asked to assign copyright, on certain conditions, to Cambridge University Press.

Authors of papers should send three copies of their article and keep one copy of the typescript for correcting proofs. Contributions (articles, review articles, reviews) should be clearly typed on one side of A4 (or an equivalent) size paper. All material should be typed double-spaced (including endnotes) with generous margins.

The title of the article (with main words in capitals), followed by the author's name and affiliation, on separate lines, and then by an abstract of between 100 and 200 words, should be typed on a removable cover page (to facilitate the anonymous refereeing procedure). The text of the article should start on the next page.

Citation of references

Contributors may follow either the standard conventions: (a) in-text citation of sources (author/date system); (b) citation in notes (the system used in vols 1–9 of Ageing and Society).

(a) In-text citation. Give author's surname, date of publication and page references (if any) in parentheses in the body of the text, e.g. '(Hendricks and Hendricks 1986: 222)'. A complete list of references cited, arranged alphabetically by authors' surname, should be typed double-spaced at the end of the article in the form:

Hendricks, J. and Hendricks, C. D. 1986. Ageing in Mass Society: Myths and Realities, third edition. Little, Brown & Co., Boston & Toronto.

(See further below for citation of edited volumes, articles).

(b) Citation in notes. References should be given in notes, numbered consecutively through the typescript with raised numbers, and typed double-spaced at the end of the article. Full publication details should be given in the notes when a work is first cited; for second and subsequent citations a short form may be used.

Notes should be presented as follows:

- 1 Kivnick, H. Q., Through the life cycle: psychosocial thoughts on old age. In Pollock G. H. and Greenspan, S. I. (eds), The Course of Life, Vol. 5. International Universities Press, Madison, CT, 1989; Dowd, J. J., Stratification among the Aged. Brooks/Cole, Monterey, 1989.
- 2 Walker, A., The social creation of poverty and dependency in old age. Journal of Social Policy, 9 (1980), 49–75.

Notes

Notes other than bibliographical references should be kept to an absolute minimum. If they are essential, they should be numbered consecutively in with the bibliographical notes.

Tables

Tables should be clearly laid out on separate pages, numbered consecutively, and designed to fit a printed page of 234 × 155 mm. Titles should be typed above the body of the table, with an initial capital for the first word and proper names only and underlined (for italics). Vertical lines should not be used and horizontal lines should be used only at the top and bottom of the table and below column headings. Totals and percentages should be labelled and units identified.

Figures

Figures should also be provided on separate pages and numbered consecutively. Captions should be provided on a separate sheet. Indicate in the margin of the typescript approximately where in the text tables and figures should fall.

Proofs and offprints

First proofs may be read and corrected by contributors provided that they can give the Editor an address through which they can be reached without delay and can guarantee to return corrected proofs to the Editor, by airmail where appropriate, within seven days of receiving them. The master proof will always be sent direct to the Editor by the printer; contributors will receive duplicates. Authors will receive 25 offprints free of charge; additional copies may be purchased if ordered at proof stage.
