Twentieth Century French Literature 1920-1970

Germaine Brée

Translated by Louise Guiney

"Brée has provided us with an illuminating, clear, concise volume . . . Her approach is fresh, and could only be undertaken by a mature and generous critic, capable of reassessing the literary scene in the light of latest intellectual developments." — Victor Brombert, Princeton University

$11.95 398 pages

Adverbs, Vowels, and Other Objects of Wonder James D. McCawley

This collection of essays provides a critical discussion of the recent history and theoretical foundations of linguistics. "This is hard-core, state-of-the-art linguistics . . . Timely, controversial, and indispensable." — Peter T. Daniels, Library Journal

$10.00 (est.) 316 pages

Analytic Syntax Otto Jespersen

With a new Introduction by

James D. McCawley

Randolph Quirk has called Jespersen "the most distinguished scholar of the English language who ever lived." Here the great Danish linguist puts forward his views on grammatical structure in a kind of shorthand formalism, devising symbols that represent various grammatical elements and then analyzing numerous sentences in terms of these symbols.

$9.00 176 pages

The Subject in Question The Languages of Theory and the Strategies of Fiction

David Carroll

Carroll investigates the complicated and often conflictual relationship between critical theory and fiction, counterbalancing his critical interpretations of Lukács, Lévi-Strauss, Lacan, Barthes, Foucault, Derrida, and other theorists with analysis of the fictions of contemporary French novelist Claude Simon.

$9.00 240 pages

Canons

Edited by Robert von Hallberg

These essays articulate how canons are constructed and examine the ways in which academic canons influence literary thought and instruction. The contributors are Barbara Herrnstein Smith, Charles Altieri, Gerald L. Bruns, Lawrence Lipking, James E. G. Zetzel, Winthrop Wetherbee, Christine Froula, Joseph Kerman, James Chandler, Michael Fried, Jerome J. McGann, Alan C. Golding, Arnold Krupat, John Guillory, Hugh Kenner, and Richard Ohmann.

$12.95 416 pages

Language

Leonard Bloomfield

This work is both a masterpiece of textbook writing and a classic of scholarship.

"Language is by far the most widely used and the most widely quoted linguistics textbook that has ever appeared. It is a book that anyone who wants to call himself a linguist absolutely must read." — James D.

McCawley, University of Chicago

JAMESON, ALTHUSSER, MARX

An Introduction to The Political Unconscious

By WILLIAM C. DOWLING. "In the guise of an introduction to The Political Unconscious, (Cornell, $8.95 paper), Dowling's book clarifies Jameson's relationship to recent and more distant predecessors, as well as, in many cases, these writers' relationship to one another. It can profitably be read independently of Jameson as a guide to major issues of contemporary critical theory. Elegant and precise, this book is a virtuoso performance."—Marshall Brown, University of Colorado, Boulder. $6.95 paper; $22.50 cloth

ROMANTICISM AND LANGUAGE

Edited by ARDEN REED. This collection consists of ten original essays that treat questions of language that emerge in the reading of Romantic literature. Language, according to the contributors, is a pivotal topic in the Romantic period, and Romantic writers repeatedly display alertness to the linguistic status of their works. $12.95 paper; $39.50 cloth

DIARY FICTION Writing as Action

By H. PORTER ABBOTT. The author explores the role of the personal diary and its use as a literary strategy in a number of representative works of fiction written in a number of languages over the past three decades. $22.50

THE APOCALYPSE IN ENGLISH

RENAISSANCE THOUGHT AND LITERATURE

Edited by C.A. PATRIDES and JOSEPH A. WITTEICH, Jr. This remarkable collection of original essays by a distinguished group of American and English scholars explores attitudes toward apocalyptic thought and the Book of Revelation as they were reflected, over many centuries, in theological discourse, political activity, and artistic and literary endeavors. $49.50

RUSSIAN FORMALISM A Metapoetics

By PETER STEINER. Examining Russian Formalism in light of the most recent developments in literary theory, this authoritative introduction to the movement offers the most comprehensive critique of Formalism to date. $24.95

A SENTIMENTAL JOURNEY Memoirs, 1917–1922

By VIKTOR SHKLOVSKY. Translated from the Russian by RICHARD SHELDON with a Historical Introduction by SIDNEY MONAS. In this experimental novel, one of the pivotal figures of early 20th-century Russian culture and founder of Russian Formalist criticism reports on the shattering events he witnessed in Russia during the turbulent years 1917–1922. $9.95 paper

WHO IS TO BLAME?

A Novel in Two Parts

By ALEXANDER HERZEN. Translation, Annotation, and Introduction by MICHAEL R. KATZ. "Herzen's novel played a significant part in the intellectual ferment of the 1840s. It is an important book in social and moral terms, and wonderfully expressive of Herzen's personality. Mr. Katz's translation is very timely." —Isaiah Berlin. $9.95 paper; $32.50 cloth
