

LOOK AGAIN...

Just for Fun!

See if you can find the 8 differences in each set of images.

Nano birds in the sky

Colorized and rotated scanning electron micrograph of cadmium oxide nanosheets deposited on a silicon substrate. Several nanosheets are agglomerated, and look like birds flying in the sky. The nanosheets are formed by a vapor-solid process using CdO powder as a source with Ar flow at an elevated temperature.

Jaebum Joo

Answers will be in the February 2012 issue.

October 2011 answer key

Image on the top was submitted to the Materials Research Society "Science as Art" competition. Image on the bottom was modified in Adobe Photoshop for this "Look Again" activity.