The Secularization of Early Modern England

From Religious Culture to Religious Faith

C. JOHN SOMMERVILLE, University of Florida, Gainesville

"A provocative and interesting book on a topic of fundamental importance to historians of early modern England. Its arguments are original and it offers a genuinely new approach to the religious history of the period."—Michael MacDonald, University of Michigan
1992 240 pp. $39.95

Modern British Jewry

GEOFFREY ALDERMAN, Royal Holloway and Bedford New College

An authoritative and comprehensive history of the Jews of Britain over the last century and a half, this book examines the social structure and economic base of Jewish communities in Victorian England and traces the struggle for emancipation.

1992 416 pp. $74.00

Proportional Representation Critics of the British Electoral System 1820-1945

JENIFER HART, St. Anne's College, Oxford, Emeritus

Offering the first scholarly history of the proportional representation movement, Hart explores its origins in the early nineteenth century and analyzes the contribution of major political thinkers such as Thomas Hare and John Stuart Mill.

1992 320 pp. $63.00

Herbert Samuel

A Political Life

BERNARD WASSERSTEIN, Brandeis University
"Wasserstein has written a flawless study of Samuel."—The Sunday Telegraph.

Wasserstein's scholarly and readable biography, based on extensive research in all the available sources, provides a rounded portrait of a leading twentieth-century political figure.

1992 466 pp.; illus. $79.00

Uncertain Unions

Marriage in England 1660-1753

LAWRENCE STONE, Princeton University, retired
Based on a massive archive of court cases that illustrate the extraordinary variety of legal, quasi-legal, and illegal ways of making a marriage, here are stories of forced marriages, clandestine marriages, prenuptial pregnancies, unwise courtship, and other situations in which people often became entangled in a web of moral and legal contradiction that could, and often did, lead to personal catastrophe.

November 1992 360 pp.; 8 illus. $35.00

Architecture and Power

The Town Hall and the English Urban Community c. 1500-1640

ROBERT TITTLER, Concordia University, Montreal
"This first monograph of its kind provides much new information and is a useful contribution to a subject which demands further study."—Times Literary Supplement

Tittler's imaginatively conceived and wide-ranging study, based on extensive research in local record, explores the town hall and its role in civic culture and urban life.

1992 240 pp.; 19 illus. $65.00

Enclosure and the Yeoman

The Agricultural Development of the South Midlands, 1450-1850

ROBERT C. ALLEN, University of British Columbia, Vancouver

Exploring the shift from medieval to modern institutions in English agriculture and their importance for productivity, distribution, and their contribution to British economic growth, Allen's pioneering study shows that, contrary to the general assumption of many historians, small-scale farmers in the open-field system were responsible for a considerable proportion of the productivity growth achieved between the middle ages and the nineteenth century.

1992 392 pp.; 15 illus. $79.00
