Teachers

FORTY YEARS AGO the idea that knowledge of political parties, the price of electricity and the chance of a graduate's finding a job belonged among the materials of education was a revolutionary notion. Today, school walls are wide open to the problems which stretch beyond the classroom. Since 1914, the editors of The New Republic and its distinguished contributors—such men as Professor John Dewey, Professor Charles A. Beard, Herbert Croly, (or, in 1956, V. O. Key, Wilfred Binkley, Malcolm Moss, Stephen Bailey, Arthur Schlesinger, Jr.)—have been among those who have helped throw open the academic gates to intelligent discussion of the raging controversies of our time. An important part of the weekly New Republic audience has always been composed of teachers and students. This Journal of Opinion is used today for supplementary reading in colleges and schools throughout the country.

If you are a teacher of government, literature, sociology, history or economics, we invite you to consider using The New Republic in your classroom. As in years past, we offer you the opportunity of ordering this magazine at a special classroom rate for bulk orders of 10 or more. Each student's copy costs only 10 cents weekly (one-half the regular newsstand price) if 10 or more are mailed to a single address. Free desk copies are included for each instructor. Orders may be placed for any number of weeks, even for one week only, if desired, or for the entire semester. Copies are mailed from Washington, D. C., on Tuesdays, two days before The New Republic appears on any newsstand, so that your students are assured of receiving the magazine while the news and book reviews are fresh and exciting.

Advance payment is not necessary. You need only notify us how many copies and how many issues you wish. Your bill will be sent later. Mail your order without delay to:
