

The Profession

Professional Notes

AMERICAN ACADEMY Selections

Four political scientists were among 122 scholars selected for membership at the 196th meeting of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. The political scientists elected were: Fred Greenstein, Princeton University; John Newbold Hazard, Columbia University; Chalmers A. Johnson, University of California, Berkeley; and Juan Jose Linz, Yale University.

MUHLENBERG College Pi Sigma Alpha Chapter

The Eta Epsilon Chapter of Pi Sigma Alpha was inaugurated on May 5 at Muhlenberg College. Participating in the ceremony initiating the 186th Chapter of the National Political Science Honorary Society were Charles Bednar, Chairman of the Department of Political Science and Associate Dean of Muhlenberg College and Earl M. Baker of Temple University, who served as the Installing Officer for Pi Sigma Alpha.

ASPA Publication Series

The American Society for Public Administration has recently issued the fourth number in its Special Publications series. "The President's Cabinet: Issues and Questions" is a background paper written by Bradley H. Patterson, Jr., of the White House staff for a seminar of former Cabinet members held at the ASPA National Conference in Washington, D.C., in April. A video tape of the seminar, moderated by Arthur Flemming and featuring Wilbur Cohen, W. Averill Harriman, Dean Rusk, Robert Weaver, and James E. Webb, is currently being edited by the U.S. Civil Service Commission for training use.

Single copies of "The President's Cabinet: Issues and Questions" are available from ASPA for $4.00 each. Further information on this special publication and others in the series is available from Barbara Judd, Director of Communications, American Society for Public Administration, Suite 300, 1225 Connecticut Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

POLICY STUDIES Organization

The Policy Studies Organization has been active in expanding its publication activities during 1976. The spring symposium of its Policy Studies Journal dealt with "The Research Utilization Quandary" under the editorship of Carol Weiss. The summer symposium dealt with "Educational Policy Research" under the editorship of Samuel Gove and Frederick Wirt. The autumn symposium will be on "Administering Public Policy" by George Frederickson and Charles Wise, and the winter symposium will be on "Science and Technology Policy" by Joseph Haberer. Those symposia will also be published in expanded book-length versions as part of the Policy Studies Organization Series of D.C. Heath and Company.

In addition to the quarterly symposia, the Policy Studies Organization is also adding to its Yearbooks in Politics and Public Policy published through Sage Publications. The 1976 volume is entitled Public Policy in a Federal System under the editorship of Charles Jones and Robert Thomas. The public policy panels at the 1976 APSA convention will serve as the basis for two forthcoming volumes in the series. One is entitled Shaping Future Policy Strategy under the editorship of Theodore Lowi and Alan Stone, and the other is entitled Policy Studies and Public Choice under the editorship of Douglas Rae.

Other PSO activities include the recent publication of the second edition of the Policy Studies Directory which provides a department-by-department survey of policy studies teaching, research, and related activities. The new edition has been expanded to include M.A. departments and interdisciplinary programs as well as political science Ph.D. departments. Questionnaires are now being sent to a variety of funding sources for the compilation of a Policy Studies Grants Directory. The Policy Studies Organization is currently headed by Thomas Dye, with Theodore Lowi as Vice President and President-Elect, and Stuart Nagel as Secretary-Treasurer. Further information can be obtained from the Policy Studies Organization, 361 Lincoln Hall, University of Illinois, Urbana, Illinois 61801.

Society for PERSONALITY and SOCIAL PSYCHOLOGY

The Society for Personality and Social Psychology, a Division of the American Psychological Association, wishes to invite individuals to join. An annual fee of $4.00 confers Member-at-large status and includes a subscription to Personality and Social Psychology Bulletin, published quarterly. Student Affiliate membership is also available to graduate or undergraduate students for $4.

If you are interested in becoming a Member-at-large, send your name, address, and a check payable to the Society for Personality and Social Psychology to the address below. Please mention your APSA membership. Students interested in Affiliate membership should follow the same procedure, but should include the name of the school where they are enrolled. The address is: Dr. James J. Blascovich, Membership Chair, Society for Personality and Social Psychology, Department of Psychology, Marquette University, Milwaukee, Wisconsin 53233.

Utah State University NATURAL RESOURCE PROGRAM

Beginning in the Fall of 1976, the Department of Political Science, in cooperation with the College of Natural Resources, at Utah State University, will offer a new Master of Science Program. The focus of study is on Natural Resource Policy and Administration with comprehensive training in public policy analysis. Individuals who are currently employed by state and federal agencies and who wish to pursue graduate training may find this program especially attractive.

The program assumes a background in a natural resource related field such as Forestry, Range, or Wildlife, and a keen interest in the effective management of public resources. Students will study the development of public policy concerning natural resources and the administration of those policies. Particular attention will be given to the Intermountain West. Current issues such as energy development and public land use planning will provide the substance of analysis. Focus is on the design of political institutions and their responsiveness to public demands and preferences.

Within the scope of our program the analysis of natural resource problems is basically concerned with the questions: (1) What resource issues should be dealt with by government, (2) How are we now dealing with these issue areas, and (3) How can the performance of government institutions be improved to render them more responsive to the public demands for both increased production and a high quality environment?

A detailed description of this program and application forms may be obtained by contacting John Baden, Director, Program in Natural Resource Policy and Administration, Department of Political Science (or) Forestry and Outdoor Recreation, Utah State University, Logan, Utah 84322.

LEGISLATIVE Studies Quarterly

Legislative Studies Quarterly, a new journal devoted to research on legislative politics in the United States and abroad, has initiated publication. It is published by the Comparative Legislative Research Center of the University of Iowa. The Editor is Malcolm E. Jewell of the University of Kentucky and submissions for publication should be sent to him. Subscriptions to the journal should be sent to the Comparative Legislative Research Center, 304 Schaeffer Hall, University of Iowa, Iowa City, Iowa 52242.

Subscription costs are: individual, one year, $10; two years, $18; three years, $26; institutions, one year, $19; two years, $36; three years, $53.

Contributors to early issues include Anthony King, "Modes of Executive-Legislative Relations: Great Britain, France and West Germany;" Charles S. Bullock, "Motivations for U.S. Congressional Committee Preferences;" and W. H. Morris-Jones, "The Parliamentary Politician in Asia." The journal will also carry regularly a Comparative Legislative Studies Newsletter by Michael L. Mezey, which will review research in progress, provide abstracts of conference papers and report on work published elsewhere.

NSF SOCIAL SCIENCE Review

A report on the social sciences at the National Science Foundation has recently been completed by a committee of the National Research Council. The Committee on Social Sciences in the National Science Foundation was headed by Herbert A. Simon of the Carnegie-Mellon University and was charged with examining programs of both basic and applied research. Copies of the report, "Social and Behavioral Science Programs in the National Science Foundation," may be obtained without charge by writing to the Assembly of Behavioral and Social Sciences, National Research Council, 2101 Constitution Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20418.

NATIONAL ACADEMY of SCIENCE Election

Karl W. Deutsch, Stanfield Professor of International Peace at Harvard University, has been elected to the National Academy of Science. Stein Rokkan, Professor of Political Sociology at the University of Bergen, Norway, has been elected National Academy of Science Foreign Associate.

DEXTER Archive

The Lewis Anthony Dexter Archive of Elite Interviewing at Johns Hopkins University hopes to prepare a directory of collections of elite interview (protocols) and collections. It is probable that some such collections are relatively unknown or would escape attention and it would very much appreciate being informed of any which may exist. The Dexter Archive, as reported in PS, Spring 1976, is devoted to collecting political and organizational elite interviews in the U.S.A. and Canada, 1950-1970.

Information will be welcomed by Hugh Jones, Director, Department of Political Science, Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Maryland 21218.

Semester on WOMEN IN POLITICS

The Washington Institute for Women in Politics at Mount Vernon College will sponsor a three-week Mini-Semester given by its Director, Dr. Susan Tolchin, from January 3 through January 21, 1977, on the theme of the women's political movement and its impact on women's rights and women's legislation. Featured in the program: A Short Course with selected readings; individual projects; and a lecture series with speakers from Capitol Hill, the Federal Government, and special interest groups involved in the women's movement. The full cost of $430.00 covers tuition, room and board. For further information, contact: Director, Washington Institute for Women in Politics, Mount Vernon College, 2100 Foxhall Road, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20007. Telephone: (AC202) 331-3418.

POLITICS & SOCIETY

The POLITICS & SOCIETY editorial board welcomes the journal's readers to a frank and open discussion on the nature of the journal and its future directions. The meeting will be at the APSA Annual Meeting in the Palmer House Hotel, September 4, at 11:15 a.m.

The editorial board is also pleased to announce the appointment to the Board of Tema Kaplan, an historian who teaches at U.C.L.A., and Erik Olin Wright, a sociologist who teaches at the University of Wisconsin.

Center for the Study of the PRESIDENCY

The Seventh Annual National Leadership Symposium will convene in Moline, Illinois, and West Branch, Iowa, the weekend of October 22-24, 1976. Program Co-Chairmen are Harold Bell, Professor of Political Science at Augustana College, and Donald B. Johnson, Professor of Political Science at State University of Iowa. All of the sessions will be held at the Conference Center of Deere and Company in Moline, except the Saturday, October 23 luncheon and afternoon session, for which transportation has been arranged for the conferees to journey to West Branch to visit the Hoover Birthplace and Memorial Library. The Hoover lecture will be delivered at the luncheon session at the Hoover High School, by Chancellor Joseph E. McCabe of Coe College.

The three-day conference, sponsored by the Center for the Study of the Presidency, in association with the American Council on Education and The National Association of Manufacturers, will focus on the relationship between economic and political policy. Center member, Dr. Arthur F. Burns, Chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, is the invited Friday evening, October 22, keynoter. Another special lecture will be delivered by Dr. Andrew S. Skinner, Professor of Political Economy, the University of Glasgow, Scotland. Professor Skinner is Chairman of the Adam Smith Bicentennial.

Other invited participants include Elliot L. Richardson, Secretary of Commerce; William E. Simon, Secretary of the Treasury, and W. J. Uesery, Secretary of Labor. Both the Democratic and Republican candidates for the President of the United States will be invited to address the conference.

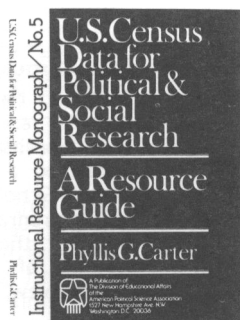

Persons interested in participating should address their inquiries to: Dr. Gordon Hoxie, President, Center for the Study of the Presidency; 926 Fifth Avenue, New York, New York 10021.

At the Center's Annual Meeting on June 17th, the following new members of the Board of Editors of the Presidential Studies Quarterly were announced: Walter E. Beach, Assistant Director, the American Political Science Association; Thomas Cronin, Visiting Professor of Political Science, Brandeis University; Fred I. Greenstein, Henry Luce Professor, Law, Politics, and Society, Princeton University; Richard E. Neustadt, Associate Dean, John F. Kennedy School of Government, Harvard University; and Dr. Aaron Wildavsky, Dean, Graduate School of Public Policy, University of California at Berkeley.

At this Annual Meeting it was further noted that the Seventh Annual National Student Symposium had attracted a record attendance of 550 participants. In the light of this growth, encouragement was given for the expansion of the regional program, such as those held this Winter and Spring on the Irvine Campus of the University of California and the Madison Campus of the University of Wisconsin.

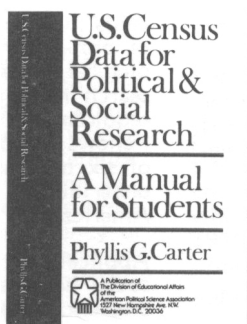

The May, 1976 Conference on Business and Public Policy, conducted on the invitation of the Egyptian government by a team of 12, headed by Dr. Hoxie, was reviewed and approval was given for a similar seminar to be convened on the invitation of the Israeli government.

Available Fall 1976
For Faculty and Students

$4.00 or $2.50 when accompanied by a note indicating that 10 or more copies will be ordered for students.

A guide to the acquisition—in print and on computer tape—and instructional application of data gathered by the U.S. Bureau of the Census on: population and housing, governments, the economy, congressional districts, county and city governments. Also, answers to the exercises in the student manual.

$2.50

A guide and exercise book for students. Instruction in basic data analysis for solving problems on public and social questions with reference to a range of data on population, housing, governments, congressional districts, gathered by the U.S. Bureau of the Census.

ORDER FORM

_____ Title Census Guide (IRM no. 5) at _____ $4.00 or _____ $2.50, because I am ordering _____ copies for class use through my college bookstore. (A desk copy of the student manual will be sent when we receive the bookstore order.)

Name _____

School _____

Address _____
