The Decline of Bismarck's European Order

Franco-Russian Relations, 1875-1890

GEORGE F. KENNAN

The eminent diplomat and writer George Kennan looks to the Franco-Russian Alliance of 1894 as a major component of the outbreak of World War I. Focusing on a small sector of offstage events as far back as the 1870s, he analyzes the "delirious euphoria" erupting in the streets at the start of the war in 1914 as the European people "wandered blindly into the great seminal catastrophe of this century." With remarkable style, Mr. Kennan illuminates the personal and psychological background of policy decisions made by the various governments involved and considers the ways in which the human spirit causes statesmen to err when judging the effects of their official actions. Urban Society in an Age of War

Nördlingen, 1580-1720

CHRISTOPHER R. FRIEDRICHS

In this comprehensive portrait of a small German city during a turbulent century and a half of early modern history, Christopher Friedrichs explores the transition from a traditional to a modern way of life and examines the impact of warfare on the social and economic structure of the community. 22 charts. $22.50

Reluctant Feminists in German Social Democracy, 1885-1917

JEAN H. QUATAERT

Examining the convergence of socialism and feminism in the German labor movement around the turn of the century, Jean Quataert probes the competing identities and loyalties of class and sex and the problems their adherents faced in reconciling the two. Illus. $18.50

The Formation of the French Republic

by
Allan Mitchell

A valuable analysis that reveals how German pressures and interests shaped the formation of the French Third Republic. Allan Mitchell is the first to use archival sources of both countries to explain this crucial period in French history. He focuses here on the German impact on politics and economics.
