

BOLSHEVIKS IN THE UKRAINE

The Second Campaign, 1918-1919

Arthur E. Adams

Here is an exhaustive, but excitingly written, examination of one of the most complex periods of Soviet history. Mr. Adams deals specifically with the successes and failures of the Bolsheviks in trying to build an administrative system and an army in the Ukraine during the catastrophic days of 1918-1919. Cited for its "painstaking scholarship" and "vivid descriptive style," this book has received the Borden Award, an annual prize for an original and scholarly work based extensively on documentary sources of the Hoover Institution. $8.75

WHO GOVERNS?

Democracy and Power in an American City

by Robert A. Dahl

"A major breakthrough in American political science, and a work destined, deservedly, to influence profoundly all future investigation of our politics."—Willmoore Kendall, National Review. "I have no doubt that the book will join the classical community studies as a classic in its own right . . . a sophisticated and undogmatic treatise on democratic politics."—Heinz Eulau, American Political Science Review.

A Yale Paperbound $2.45 (cloth $7.50)

ORIENTAL DESPOTISM

by Karl A. Wittfogel

Already a classic as a comparative study of total power, this is the first thorough analysis of Eastern despotism—the only major system of total power prior to modern totalitarianism. "This is a truly great book, one of the major contributions to the science of man in our time."—G. P. Murdock, American Anthropologist. "A stimulating and provocative work."—Henry L. Roberts, Foreign Affairs.

A Yale Paperbound $2.95 (cloth $8.50)

Yale University Press

New Haven & London

Princeton

UNIVERSITY PRESS

Communications and Political Development

Edited by Lucian W. Pye

Eleven outstanding scholars here combine the wealth of their knowledge and experience. Their efforts provide not only new concepts and new data, but practical suggestions for statesmen struggling to strengthen the prospects of democratic development around the world. Communications and Political Development is the first in a series of seven books entitled: STUDIES IN POLITICAL DEVELOPMENT sponsored by the Committee on Comparative Politics of the Social Science Research Council. 416 pages. $6.50

Coercion and Conciliation in Ireland

A Study in Conservative Unionism, 1880-1892

By L. P. Curtis, Jr.

Irish nationalism, under the militant leadership of Charles Stewart Parnell, pervaded and disrupted the English political scene during the 1800's. In this study Mr. Curtis analyzes the Irish policy of the Conservative leaders during Parnell's ascendancy. He explores the impact of the Irish question on British politics in a period of acute economic depression. The general history of England in the nineteenth century, of Anglo-Irish policy, and the workings of the British political system are illuminated by this careful analysis. Princeton Studies in History, No. 13. 440 pages. $9.00

National Leadership and Foreign Policy

By James N. Rosenau

Can a foreign policy consensus be fashioned among the diverse groups presently active in America? Or is there no common core of values shared by their leaders? Is a unified national response possible only in acute military crises? Professor Rosenau's book is the first to use survey data as a basis for answering these important questions. The book focuses on 1,067 national leaders who were convened by the White House on behalf of the 1958 foreign aid program. Their responses to a questionnaire enabled the author to compare the social backgrounds, political behavior and opinion-making activities of different groups of national leaders, all of whom were exposed to the same experience. The results of these comparisons are sure to provoke thought about the ability of the U.S. to face and surmount the challenges of the cold war. Published for the Center of International Studies. 424 pages. $8.50

Order from your bookstore, or

PRINCETON UNIVERSITY PRESS

Princeton, New Jersey