From major human rights award winner Harry Wu ...

BITTER WINDS

A Memoir of My Years in China's Gulag

Bitter Winds by Harry Wu and Carolyn Wakeman is a deeply moving memoir – the story of one man's struggle to survive the Chinese Gulag and his daring return to China to tell the world what happened there.

In April 1960, the morning after his graduation from college, Wu was summarily arrested as a political criminal and, without a trial or even the chance to speak to his family, he found himself cast into a world of torture, interminable labour under extreme conditions and mass starvation. In this gripping narrative, he relives the 19 harrowing years that followed, conveying all their anguish and desperation.

Finally released from prison in 1979, Wu was allowed to leave China for the US in 1985. Determined to reveal the truth of the Gulag, he returned to China in 1991 with a 60 Minutes news crew, posing as a US businessman buying prison goods, he took a hidden camera into the camps and captured on film, for the first time, remarkable images of the life behind the walls of the Chinese Gulag. His story has been shown on ITV's First Tuesday.

Modernism and the Nativist Resistance

Contemporary Chinese Fiction from Taiwan
Sung-sheng Yvonne Chang

The first comprehensive English-language study of literary trends in the fiction of Taiwan over the last forty years, this pioneering work explores a rich tradition of literary Modernism in its shifting relationship with Chinese politics and culture.
240 pages, £14.95 pb, £33.25 hb

Politics, Ideology, and Literary Discourse in Modern China

Theoretical Interventions and Cultural Critique
Liu Kang and Xiaobing Tang, eds.
Foreword by Frederic Jameson

These essays addresses the perception that our understanding of modern China will be enhanced by opening the literature of China to more rigorous theoretical and comparative study. The book confronts the problematic and complex subject of China's literary, theoretical, and cultural responses to the experience of modernity.

Manuscripts

The China Quarterly welcomes the submission of manuscripts from scholars, including postgraduate students, on all aspects of contemporary China and from all points of view, including those which deal with Taiwan and Overseas Chinese. Articles on China prior to 1949 are also welcome, particularly, but not exclusively, when these relate directly to contemporary China or to the history of the Chinese Communist Party. Articles should be submitted in quadruplicate to the editorial office. They should normally not exceed 8,000 words in length; should be typed in double spacing, with footnotes at the end; and should conform to the styling of The China Quarterly (see below). Submission of a manuscript is taken to imply that it has not previously been published in any form (including non-copyrighted working papers) and that it is not currently being considered elsewhere.

The China Quarterly is published by Oxford University Press on behalf of the School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London. The views expressed in articles are those of individual authors and do not necessarily represent the views of the School.

Style

Romanization

Pinyin is used without tone/diacritical marks, except the following which should use the Wade-Giles system: names such as Chiang Kai-shek, Sun Yat-sen, Taipei and Kuomintang; names of individuals living outside mainland China. Chinese characters should be provided on the first occurrence of each romanization, to assist in proofreading.
