

the S.S.R.C. and to serve as visiting professor of political science and consultant to the Weizmann Institute of science, in Rehovot, Israel.

CURRIN V. SHIELDS, professor and head of the government department, University of Arizona, will also serve as acting director of the University's institute of government research, 1963-64.

SAUL SILVERMAN has been appointed acting assistant professor of political science at the University of California (Berkeley).

GLENN SNYDER will continue to serve during 1963-64 as visiting associate professor of political science at the University of California (Berkeley).

PETER SPERLICH will become acting assistant professor of political science at the University of California (Berkeley) beginning with the fall semester, 1963.

PETER A. TOMA, associated professor of government, University of Arizona, received a grant from the Social Science Foundation and has been on leave for the 1962-1963 academic year. He returned for the second summer session, 1963.

JAMES TOWNSEND has been appointed acting assistant professor at the University of California (Berkeley).

ALAN F. WESTIN of Columbia will be on research leave for the year 1963-64.

JAMES R. WOODWORTH has been appointed acting chairman of the department of government at Miami University.

STAFF APPOINTMENTS

JOHN J. AGRIA has been appointed instructor in political science at Alma College, Alma, Michigan.

HAYWOOD ALKER has been appointed instructor at Yale University.

JOHN AMBLER will become acting instructor of political science at the University of California (Berkeley) beginning with the fall semester 1963.

IVAN AVAKUMOVIC has been appointed associate professor of political science at the University of British Columbia, Vancouver, Canada.

MORLEY AYEARST has received promotion to the rank of full professor of government and has been appointed chairman of the department of government and international relations in Washington Square College, New York University.

CHESTER W. BAIN, formerly professor and head, department of political science, University of South Carolina, has been appointed professor of political science, Emory University.

FRANK L. BAIRD, formerly of the University of Texas, has accepted appointment as assistant professor of government at Arlington State College, Arlington, Texas.

ROBERT J. BATSON of Western Michigan University has been promoted to associate professor.

DAVIS A. BINGHAM, formerly of the bureau of business and public research, University of Arizona, has accepted an appointment as associate professor of government and research specialist, institute of government research, University of Arizona.

THOMAS C. BLAISDELL, JR., has retired as professor of political science at the University of California (Berkeley) but will be reappointed for the 1963-64 academic year.

L. FRANKLIN BLITZ, JR., formerly assistant professor, bureau of public administration, University of South Carolina, has been appointed to the University of Pittsburgh Nigerian Project.

WILLIAM J. BLOCK has been promoted to the rank of professor at the University of North Carolina at Raleigh.

ALLAN D. BLOOM, formerly of Yale University, has been appointed assistant professor of government at Cornell.

EDGAR M. BOTTOMBE has been appointed instructor in the government department at Boston University.

DON R. BOWEN, who will receive his Ph.D. at Yale University, has been appointed assistant professor at Western Reserve University.

ROBERT L. BRADFORD, instructor of government at the University of New Hampshire has been appointed assistant professor of political science at Susquehanna University.

CECIL BRETT has been appointed associate professor and director of Asian studies at Monmouth College.

HENRY BRETTON has been promoted to the rank of professor at the University of Michigan.

BERNARD E. BROWN, formerly of Vanderbilt University, has been appointed associate professor of political science at the State University of New York at Buffalo.

LOU JEAN BROWN has been appointed instructor at Northwest Missouri State College.

ZBIGNIEW BRZEZINSKI has received a promotion to the rank of professor at Columbia University.

BYRUM CARTER has been appointed director of graduate studies, department of government, Indiana University.

EDWIN CHAPMAN, doctoral candidate at Harvard University, has been appointed lecturer in political science at the University of Michigan.

WARNER CHAPMAN has been appointed assistant dean of the college of arts and sciences, Indiana University, effective with the 1963-64 academic year.

MILTON COLVIN has become chairman of the department of political science at Washington and Lee University, replacing HARVEY WHEELER who will stay with the center for the study of democratic institutions at Santa Barbara, California.

PHILIP CONVERSE has been appointed associate professor of political science at the University of Michigan.

GEORGE A. CONDON has accepted appointment as an assistant professor of political science at Washington State University, effective September, 1963.

RITA W. COOLEY has received promotion to the rank of full professor of government at New York University, as of September 1, 1962.

RICHARD COX will join the faculty of the State University of New York at Buffalo, department of political science, in the fall of 1963.

JAMES T. CROWN has received promotion to the rank of associate professor of government at New York University, as of February, 1962.

PATRICIA E. CUNNEA recently completed her doctoral work at the University of Chicago, and has been promoted to an assistant professor at Washington State University.

RICHARD DALE, lately instructor of government at the University of New Hampshire, has been appointed assistant professor of political science at Northern Illinois University, DeKalb, Illinois.

MICHAEL DANIELSON has accepted appointment as assistant professor of politics and public affairs at Princeton University.

J. CLARENCE DAVIES III joins the department of government at Bowdoin College in September as the director of the bureau of research.

JAMES DAVIES, formerly at the California Institute of Technology, has been appointed professor of political science beginning the academic year 1963-64 at the University of Oregon.

PAUL S. DAVIS, research associate at the institute of war and peace studies at Columbia University, has been appointed associate director of the institute of international studies at the University of South Carolina.

ALFRED DIAMANT has been promoted to full professor of political science at Haverford College and has assumed the chairmanship of the department.

ROBERT H. DIX has been promoted to assistant professor at Yale University.

WILLIAM A. DOUGLAS of the U. S. educational foundation in Seoul, Korea, has been appointed an instructor in the department of international studies at the University of South Carolina.

ROBERT L. DRAKE, formerly of the University of New Hampshire, has been appointed assistant professor of political science at Baldwin-Wallace College.

SYDNEY DUNCOMBE has been promoted to assistant professor of political science at the University of Idaho.

WILLIAM J. FOLTZ has been promoted to assistant professor at Yale University.

RICHARD B. FRIEDMAN, formerly of Kenyon College, has been appointed instructor of political science at the University of Pittsburgh.

EDGAR S. FURNESS, JR., formerly of Princeton, has become the Merston professor of political science at the Ohio State University. In addition to his departmental duties, he will serve as director of the social science program of the Merston center for education in national security.

JACK B. GABBERT of Washington State University, recently completed his work for the doctorate at the University of Texas, and has been promoted to an assistant professor.

WILLIAM GABLE has been promoted to the rank of associate professor at the University of Michigan.

CHARLES GATI has been appointed assistant professor at Union College.

MICHAEL GEHLEN, formerly of the University of Texas, has accepted appointment as assistant professor of political science at Oregon State University, Corvallis, Oregon.

JOHN S. GIBSON, presently chairman of the division of liberal arts and director of development, Babson Institute, Wellesley, Massachusetts, has been appointed associate professor of government and senior associate director at the Lincoln Filene center for citizenship and public affairs, Tufts University.

JOHN H. GILBERT has been appointed to an instructorship at the University of North Carolina at Raleigh.

DANIEL GOLDRICH, formerly at Michigan State University, was appointed associate professor of political science and research associate at the institute of community studies, University of Oregon.

LEON GORDENKER has been promoted to the rank of associate professor in the department of politics, Princeton University.

Daniel R. GRANT of Vanderbilt University has been promoted to the rank of professor of political science.

PHILIP GREEN, formerly an instructor in the department of politics, Princeton University, has been appointed assistant professor of political science at Haverford College.

W. ROY HAMILTON, assistant professor, department of political science at Wayne State University, has accepted a position as assistant director of the bureau of government research, University of Rhode Island, beginning August, 1963.

ARTHUR HANHARDT, formerly at Northwestern University, has been appointed assistant professor of political science at the University of Oregon, beginning the academic year 1963-64.

FRED A. HARGADON has been appointed an instructor in the department of political science at Swarthmore College for the academic year 1963-64.

JOSEPH P. HARRIS, after 23 years as professor of political science at the University of California (Berkeley) has retired. During 1963-64, he will continue to serve as chairman of the California legislative internship program.

ROBERT J. HARRIS has been appointed professor of political science and dean of the faculty of arts and sciences at the University of Virginia, effective July 1, 1963.

BRETT HAWKINS, formerly of Vanderbilt, has accepted a position as assistant professor of political science at Washington and Lee University.

JAMES J. HEAPHEY has accepted an appointment as assistant professor of political science at the University of Pittsburgh.

ROBERT D. HEIDORN has been appointed instructor of government, as of September 1, 1963, in the department of history and government at the University of Maine.

CARY S. HENDERSON, formerly of Auburn (New York) Community College, has been appointed assistant professor of history and political science at Queens College, Charlotte, North Carolina.

LOUIS HENKIN has been named Hamilton Fish professor of international law and diplomacy at Columbia.

KLAUS J. HERRMANN has received an appointment as assistant professor of political science with the school of government and public administration, American University.

IVAN HINDERAKER resigned as chairman, department of political science, UCLA, to accept a post as assistant to the chancellor, University of California, Irvine campus.

WILLIAM N. HOGAN, formerly of State University college, New Paltz, New York, has been appointed professor of political science at the University of Nebraska, succeeding NORMAN L. HILL who has retired.

MATHEW HOLDEN, JR. formerly of Wayne State, has been appointed assistant professor of political science at the University of Pittsburgh.

THOMAS HOVET, JR., has received promotion to the rank of full professor of international relations at New York University.

MICHAEL C. HUDSON, has been appointed an instructor in the department of political science at Swarthmore College for the academic year 1963-64.

DELOS HUGHES has been appointed assistant professor of political science at Washington and Lee University.

ANDREW JANOS, formerly with the center of international studies and the department of politics, Princeton University, has been appointed assistant professor of political science at the University of California (Berkeley).

KENT JENNINGS of the Brookings Institution has been appointed assistant professor of political science at the University of Michigan.

CHARLES O. JONES, formerly of the National Center for education in politics, has accepted an appointment as associate professor of government at the University of Arizona.

HENRY P. JONES, University of Oklahoma, has been appointed assistant professor of political science at Hardin-Simmons University beginning in the fall of 1963.

HERBERT KAUFMAN has been promoted to professor of political science at Yale University.

C. I. EUGENE KIM of Western Michigan University has been promoted to assistant professor.

GEORGE KLEIN has been appointed to the political science staff of Western Michigan University.

DONALD P. KOMMERS, Los Angeles State College, has been appointed to the faculty of the department of political science, University of Notre Dame, as an assistant professor.

ALLAN KORNBERG has been appointed lecturer in political science at the University of Michigan.

ROBERT E. LANE, professor of political science at Yale University, has been appointed Ford research professor in public affairs at Yale for the year 1963-64.

RUPERT LATTURE of the political science department at Washington and Lee has retired.

LEE LAYPORT, JR. has been appointed instructor in the division of social science at Santa Ana College, Santa Ana, California.

ALLEN B. LEE has been promoted to associate professor of political science at Washington and Jefferson College.

CHONG-SIK LEE, formerly of Dartmouth College, has been appointed assistant professor of political science at the University of Pennsylvania.

OLIVER M. LEE has resigned from the legislative reference service of the Library of Congress to accept an assistant professorship of political science at the University of Hawaii.

AVERY LEISERSON has returned as chairman of the department of political science at Vanderbilt University after a year's leave of absence in Washington, D. C. as senior research fellow of the S.S.R.C.

HOWARD H. LENTNER has been promoted to assistant professor at Western Reserve University.

DAVID A. LEUTHOLD has been appointed instructor in political science at the University of Missouri, effective September 1963.

AREND LIJPHART of Elmira College has been appointed assistant professor of political science at the University of California, Berkeley.

OLIVER J. LISSITZYN has received a promotion to the rank of professor at Columbia University.

GERHARD LOEWENBERG, associate professor of political science, has been named chairman of the department of Mount Holyoke college for a three-year term, beginning in 1963.

RICHARD P. LONGAKER has been appointed chairman of the department of political science, UCLA.

JOHN LOVELL has been appointed undergraduate adviser, department of government, Indiana University.

NICHOLAS A. MASTERS will join the department of political science at Penn State University.

RONALD H. McDONALD, formerly of the University of California at Los Angeles, has been appointed assistant professor of political science at Syracuse University, beginning September 1963.

LUCIAN MARQUIS has been promoted to associate professor of political science at the University of Oregon. He has also been named director of the honors college.

WARREN L. MASON has been appointed instructor, department of government, Miami University.

LOUIS H. MASOTTI, who will receive his Ph.D. at Northwestern in August, has been appointed assistant professor of political science at Western Reserve University.

J. LLOYD MECHAM of the University of Texas retired from active teaching at the end of the year, 1962-63 and became professor emeritus.

RICHARD L. MERRITT has been promoted to assistant professor at Yale University.

HOWARD F. MILLER, at Syracuse University, has been promoted to the rank of associate professor.

WARREN MILLER at the University of Michigan, has been promoted to the rank of professor.

RALPH E. MITCHELL has been appointed assistant professor of government at Miami University.

WILLIAM MITCHELL was promoted to associate professor of political science at the University of Oregon, beginning with the academic year 1963-64.

CLEMENT MOORE has been appointed assistant professor of political science at the University of California (Berkeley).

GLENN G. MORGAN has been promoted to associate professor of political science, San Jose State College, California.

BERNARD S. MORRIS has been appointed associate professor at Indiana University.

THOMAS MORRISON has accepted an appointment as lecturer in political science at the University of California (Berkeley).

PAUL A. NELSON of the University of Chicago has accepted a position as instructor in political science at Middlebury College.

FRANK W. NEUBER, formerly associate professor of social science at Eastern Illinois University, Charleston, has been appointed professor of political science at Parsons College, Fairfield, Iowa, effective June 1, 1963.

A. GAYLORD OBERN has been appointed director of the special training division, graduate school of public and international affairs, University of Pittsburgh, after four years with the Brazil Project of the University of Southern California.

A. K. ORGANSKI has been promoted to professor of political science at Brooklyn College of the City University of New York.

LAWRENCE PARKUS joined the department of government at Bowdoin College in February, 1963.

GUY PAUKER has resigned as associate professor of political science at the University of California (Berkeley) in order to continue his research at Rand Corporation.

ANTHONY J. PEARCE was promoted to the rank of associate professor in the department of government and international relations, New York University.

ROY V. PEEL, professor of political science and chairman, division of social science, California Lutheran College, Thousand Oaks, California, has resigned. He has accepted a position as lecturer in political science and full professor at San Fernando Valley State College, California.

CLARA PENNIMAN has been appointed chairman of the department of political science at the University of Wisconsin for 1963-64.

PHILIP M. PHIBBS has been appointed an assistant professor of political science at Wellesley College.

EDWARD I. PINNEY, formerly of Louisiana State University, has accepted a position as associate professor of political science at Washington and Lee.

JACK C. PLANO of Western Michigan University has been promoted to professor.

CARL F. POKE, formerly of Millersville State College, has been appointed instructor of political science and assistant to the president at the Greensburg campus of the University of Pittsburgh.

ALAN RAGAN of the political science department at Washington and Lee has retired.

MICHAEL D. REAGAN has been advanced to the rank of associate professor of political science at Syracuse University.

HAROLD V. RHODES has accepted an appointment as instructor in the department of government, University of Arizona, 1963-64.

MICHAEL ROGIN, formerly assistant professor of political science at the University of Chicago, who taught this year at Makerere College in Uganda, has joined the staff of the department of political science at the University of California (Berkeley).

CARL ROSBERG has been promoted to the rank of associate professor at the University of California (Berkeley). During the fall term, 1963, he will be on sabbatical leave in Africa and during the spring term, 1964, he will be engaged in teaching and research at the three colleges of the University of East Africa as part of the departmental Rockefeller Foundation overseas program.

RUDOLPH J. RUMMEL has been appointed assistant professor at Indiana University.

DANKWART A. RUSTOW has received a promotion to the rank of professor at Columbia University.

T. V. SATHYAMURTHY has been appointed to the faculty of the University of Singapore.

WALLACE S. SAYRE has been named chairman of the department of public law and government at Columbia, taking the place of DAVID B. TRUMAN who became dean of Columbia College in February.

KARL SCHMITT of the University of Texas has been advanced to associate professor of government.

HARRY M. SCOBLE has accepted appointment at the University of California (Los Angeles) as assistant professor. To begin fall, 1963.

BRADBURY SEASHOLES, formerly assistant professor of political science at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology has been appointed assistant professor of government and associate director for political studies at the Lincoln Filene Center for citizenship and public affairs, Tufts University.

JAMES PATRICK SEWELL, who has been serving as visiting lecturer at the University College of Rhodesia and Nyasaland, has been appointed assistant professor of political science at Yale University.

BALJIT SINGH, of Wayne State University, has accepted an assistant professorship in international relations and South Asian studies in the department of political science at Michigan State University effective September 1, 1963.

BENJAMIN W. SMITH of the University of Texas has accepted an appointment as assistant professor of government at Los Angeles State College.

HERMAN M. SOMERS, formerly of Haverford College, has accepted appointment as professor of politics and public affairs at Princeton University.

JAMES ALVIN STEINTRAGER, of Louisiana State University, has accepted appointment as assistant professor of government at the University of Texas.

PAUL G. STEPHENSON has been appointed instructor in the department of political science, Emory University, for the year 1963-64.

WILLIAM STESLICHE has been appointed lecturer in political science at the University of Michigan.

DONALD STOKES has been promoted to the rank of associate professor at the University of Michigan.

RICHARD N. SWIFT has become head of the all-university department of government and international relations, New York University.

IVAN TABORSKY has been promoted to the rank of assistant professor at Arlington State College.

JOSEPH TANENHAUS was promoted to the rank of full professor of government in the department of government and international relations, New York University.

JACOBUS TENBROEK will leave the department of speech to join the department of political science at the University of California (Berkeley).

CHARLES H. TITUS will retire June 1963 after thirty-six years with the department of political science, University of California (Los Angeles).

BARBARA TURLINGTON has been appointed instructor of political science at Mount Holyoke College for 1963-64.

GEORGE VON DER MUHL has been appointed as an instructor in the department of political science at Swarthmore College, for the academic year 1963-64.

JOHN C. WAHLKE, formerly of Vanderbilt University, has been appointed professor of political science at the State University of New York at Buffalo.

ELLIS WALDRON, professor of political science at Montana State University, has been appointed a fellow in law and political science in the law school at Harvard University, 1963-64.

DAVID WALKER has become staff director of the subcommittee on intergovernmental relations of the Senate committee on government operations.

JACK WALKER has been appointed instructor in the government department at Boston University.

JOHN WARD has been appointed to the faculty at the University of Wisconsin extension, Green Bay.

CHARLES B. WEASMER has been promoted to the rank of assistant professor of political science at the University of South Carolina.

ROBERT WELLS has been appointed instructor of political science at the University of Michigan.

GEORGE D. WENDEL has been promoted to associate professor of political science at St. Louis University.

EGBERT S. WENGERT, professor of political science and head of the department will serve also as research associate, institute of international studies and overseas administration, University of Oregon.

H. BRADFORD WESTERFIELD has been promoted to associate professor at Yale University.

JOHN P. WHITE, associate professor of political science at the University of Michigan, has accepted an appointment as professor of political science at Arizona State University.

WAYNE A. WILCOX, who spent the year 1962-63 in India on a research grant, has been named assistant professor of government at Columbia University.

AARON WILDAVSKY, formerly with the department of political science at Oberlin College, has accepted an appointment as assistant professor of political science at the University of California (Berkeley).

YORK WILLBERN of Indiana University was recently elected president of the American Society for Public Administration.

FREDERIC WURZBURG has been appointed assistant professor at the University of New Hampshire.

W. ROSS YATES, associate professor of government and associate dean of the college of arts and science at Lehigh University has been appointed professor of government and dean of the college of arts and science.

KWANHA YIM of the department of government at Bowdoin College has been promoted to assistant professor.

GEORGE ZANINOVICH has become assistant professor of political science at the University of California (Berkeley).

I. WILLIAM ZARTMAN, department of international studies, University of South Carolina, has been promoted to associate professor and appointed director of the department's graduate studies program.

WILLIAM ZIMMERMAN, doctoral candidate at Columbia University, has been appointed lecturer in the department of political science at the University of Michigan.

IN MEMORIAM

EDWARD SAMUEL CORWIN, McCormick Professor of Jurisprudence, emeritus, born on his father's farm, Plymouth, Michigan, January 19, 1878, died on April 29. A graduate of the Plymouth High School, he went to the University of Michigan, where the historian, Andrew C. McLaughlin ("Andy Mac"), stimulated a life-long interest in the United States Supreme Court. After a stint of high school teaching in his home state (1900-01) and at the Brooklyn Polytechnical School (1901-02), he returned to his alma mater for graduate study while serving (1902-04) as an assistant in American history. His doctorate was completed in 1905 under Professor John Bach McMaster of the University of Pennsylvania. At the latter's suggestion, and armed with an "extraordinarily flowery letter of introduction" from his teacher, he came to Princeton for an interview with President Wilson, then recruiting his famous band of preceptors. The new preceptor advanced at record speed, winning promotion to a professorship at 33. In 1918, he succeeded Wilson as McCormick Professor of Jurisprudence and continued to occupy the chair until his retirement in 1946.

Professor Corwin was a man of broad culture and profound learning—in history, politics, and legal philosophy. For him these were not isolated disciplines, nor were they ends in themselves. They were related channels manifesting the basic principles of a functioning, evolving society. He took especially to heart Aristotle's admonition: "If you would understand anything, observe its beginning and its development." Realizing that this advice applies to law as to few other subjects, he followed it rigorously in every aspect of constitutional interpretation.

Corwin was a dedicated teacher and productive scholar. He served as the first chairman of the Politics department (1924-1935) but neither administration, a congenial irritant, nor calls from the outside swerved him from the main task. Whatever the pressures, the core of his schedule remained a graduate and undergraduate course. Neither a gossip nor a campus politician, he led by his magisterial presence and judicious impartiality.

Erect posture and military bearing gave the impression of dignified reserve, even aloofness. To generations of graduate students he was known affectionately as "The General," but only colleagues and friends of long standing ventured this informal address. The full flavor of his personality—subtlety of humor, nimbleness of mind and deftness of thought—came to the fore among friends and former students. Good talk and gracious hospitality at 115 Prospect and the Old Stone House of later years will be long remembered.

Corwin became a great teacher by methods peculiarly his own. Questions came forth with startling rapidity. His speech bordered on the staccato, especially when enthusiasm for an idea took command, as it not infrequently did. For the faltering student who lost his way, his patience was almost limitless. Seniors repeatedly voted his famous undergraduate course, "Con Interp," first given in 1912, "most difficult" and "most valuable." Yet colleagues sometimes considered