STUDIES IN THE WAY OF WORDS

Paul Grice

This volume, Grice's first book, includes the long-delayed publication of his enormously influential 1967 William James Lectures and he has carefully arranged and framed the sequence of essays to emphasize not a certain set of ideas but a habit of mind, a style of philosophizing.

"[Grice] is one of the great figures of analytic philosophy, and his uniqueness lies in his ways of formulating issues and putting points. Grice's intellect, power, and charm are all vehicles for conveying a vision of philosophy, a vision that has much to say to analytic philosophers today."

—Hilary Putnam

BEYOND OPTIMIZING A Study of Rational Choice

Michael Slote

Michael Slote challenges the long-dominant conception of individual rationality by appealing to a set of real-life examples, claiming that our intuitive reaction to these examples, illustrates a significant and prevalent...way of thinking.

"He has written a most engaging, thoughtful, and thought-provoking book."

—Alan Ryan,
Princeton University

HEGEL AND SKEPTICISM

Michael N. Forster

Michael Forster demonstrates that Hegel, in contrast to what many Anglo-Saxon philosophers thought, did not ignore epistemology, but in fact fought a tireless campaign to defeat the threat of skepticism. Forster's work should dispel once and for all the view that Hegel was naive or careless in epistemological matters and should cause a reevaluation of Hegel and German Idealism.

The Journal of Medicine and Philosophy

Sponsored by the Center for Ethics, Medicine, and Public Issues, a joint project of Baylor College of Medicine, the Institute of Religion, and Rice University, in collaboration with the School of Medicine, University of Connecticut Health Center

Editor

H. Tristram Engelhardt, Jr., Center for Ethics, Medicine, and Public Issues, Baylor College of Medicine, Houston, USA

Associate Editor

Stuart F. Spicker, School of Medicine, University of Connecticut Health Center, Farmington, USA

The Journal of Medicine and Philosophy continues to explore the shared themes and concerns of philosophy and the medical sciences. Not since Galen's time has the contact between medicine and philosophy been so widespread; the journal seeks to meet the challenge of this dialogue by providing a forum for philosophers, medical practitioners, educationists, and humanists to examine the problems and controversies stimulated by the engagement of these two disciplines.

The range of issues having philosophical import for medical research and practice is enormous. New developments in medical technology and expertise frequently create scientific and humanistic dilemmas, and medical decision-making always involves philosophical presuppositions. Moreover, the concerns of philosophy often converge with those of medicine, as philosophers attempt to understand the nature of knowledge and the human condition. The purpose of the journal is to analyze this multifaceted relationship and to raise its discussion to a responsible and intellectually rigorous level.

Editors

J. Michael Dunn, Dept. of Philosophy, Indiana University, Bloomington, IN, USA and B. C. van Fraassen, Princeton University, NJ, USA

The Journal of Philosophical Logic is the only journal specializing in philosophical logic and utilizes formal methods of dealing with topics in logical theory. Subjects specifically included are:

- contributions to branches of logical theory directly related to philosophical concerns, such as inductive logic, modal logic, deontic logic, quantum logic, tense logic, free logic, logic of questions, logic of commands, logic of conditionals, many-valued logic, relevance logics;
- contributions to philosophical discussions that utilize the machinery of formal logic, as in recent treatments of abstract entities, non-existent possibles, essentialism, existence, propositional attitudes, meaning, and truth;
- discussions of philosophical issues relating to logic and the logical structure of language, as for example, conventionalism in logic, ontic commitment, logical or semantic paradoxes, the logic of hypotheses and of presuppositions, constructivism, and extensionality;
- philosophical work relating to special sciences (for example, linguistics, history of logic, or physics), with emphasis on foundational problems, and making use of logical theory. Treatments of this kind include universal grammar, pragmatics, conceptions of possibility, theories and mathematical truth in the history of philosophy, formalization of scientific theories, logical structures in quantum mechanics.

Philosophical Studies

An International Journal for Philosophy in the Analytic Tradition

Editor-in-Chief

Keith Lehrer, University of Arizona

Associate Editor

John Pollock, University of Arizona

Philosophical Studies was founded in 1950 by Herbert Feigl and Wilfrid Sellars to provide a periodical dedicated to work in analytic philosophy. The journal is devoted to the quick publication of analytical contributions, particularly (but not exclusively) in epistemology, philosophical logic, the philosophy of language, and ethics. Papers applying formal techniques to philosophical problems are particularly welcome. The principal aim is to publish articles that are models of clarity and precision in dealing with some significant philosophical issues. Articles in the journal are intelligible to philosophers whose expertise lies outside the subject matter of the article. It is intended that a diligent reader of the journal will be kept informed of the major problems and contributions of contemporary analytic philosophy.

Theory and Society

Renewal and Critique in Social Theory

Editors

Rod Aya, University of Amsterdam; Paul DiMaggio, Yale University; Anthony Giddens, King's College, Cambridge University; Martin Jay, University of California; Jerome Karabel, University of California; Charles Lemert, Wesleyan University; Charles Tilly, New School for Social Research; Sharon Zukin, Brooklyn College; Janet Gouldner (Executive Editor), Washington University, St. Louis; Robert K. Scott, Yale University; Karen Gall Lucas (Managing Editor), Washington University, St. Louis

Theory and Society having been founded by Alvin W. Gouldner is a forum for an emerging worldwide community of social theorists. Its pages are open to all those working in the advancing edges of social theory: critical theory, phenomenological sociology, the neo-Marxisms, comparative, historical and macroscopic sociology, structuralism and linguistically sensitive sociology.

Committed to preventing their mutual isolation, Theory and Society endeavours to promote clear discourse and pointed dialogue among them. This editorial view based itself on the critique of the traditional history and logic of science – a critique associated with Lakatos, Kuhn and Feyerabend, who stress the importance of comparing divergent programs.

Studies in Soviet Thought

Editors

Edward M. Swiderski (Managing Editor) and Guido Küng, Institut de l'Europe Orientale, Fribourg, Switzerland; Nikolaus Lobkowitz, University of Munich, FRG

Founded in 1961 by Joseph M. Bocheński, the journal serves as an international medium for the publication of research papers, short notes, comments, reports, critical reviews, discussions, and other writings on Soviet philosophy.

Although the main interest is in modern and recent Soviet thought, the journal does not confine itself to this field and publishes articles dealing with pre-Revolutionary developments. In addition, the journal is useful to philosophers who do not specialize in Soviet studies but wish to be kept informed of philosophical developments inside the Soviet Union and Marxist movements.

Methodology and Philosophy of Science

Editor-in-Chief

Jaakko Hintikka, *Dept. of Philosophy, Florida
State University, Tallahassee, USA*

Synthese publishes articles in all the fields covered by the subtitle. These include the theory of knowledge; the general methodological problems of science, such as the problems of scientific discovery and scientific inference, of induction and probability, of causation and of the role of mathematics, statistics and logic in science; the methodological and foundational problems of the different departmental sciences, in so far as they have philosophical interest; those aspects of symbolic logic and of the foundations of mathematics which are relevant to the philosophy and methodology of science; and those facets of the history and sociology of science which are important for contemporary topical pursuits. Special attention is paid to the role of mathematical, logical and linguistic methods in the general methodology of science and in the foundations of the different sciences, be they physical, biological, behavioural or social.

Biology and Philosophy

Editor

Michael Ruse,
University of Guelph, Canada

Associate Editors

Francisco Ayala, University of California, Davis, USA; Robert Haynes, York University, Canada; David Hull, Northwestern University, USA

The journal is devoted to philosophical issues arising from the life sciences. It is aimed at a broad readership, drawn from both the sciences and the humanities. It subscribes to no specific school of biology or philosophy, welcoming submissions from authors of all persuasions, and disciplines. The tools and results of history, sociology, and like subjects are welcomed, inasmuch as they can carry forward discussion and understanding. To this end, the editors are drawn evenly from biology and philosophy, and the editorial board has representatives from all parts of the world.

'... this new journal is to be welcomed as a vehicle for serious exchange on the philosophical foundations of biology and the philosophical and conceptual implications of biological work. It is likely to become fairly important in fostering interdisciplinary interaction. It offers both biologists and philosophers a useful vehicle for publication and a reasonable centralized locus for following the interactions between their disparate disciplines.'

Quarterly Review of Biology

'Biology and Philosophy has started well.'

'... it will perform a genuine service.'

'... this is a journal that no "thoughtful biologist" should ignore.'

THE AGE OF THEATRE IN FRANCE L'AGE DU THEATRE EN FRANCE

Edited by David Trott and Nicole Boursier, with an afterword by Anne Ubersfeld

A bi-lingual collection of original essays, by an international group of scholars, on dramatic literature and performance from Corneille to Beaumarchais. This volume is centred on the concept of "theatre" in its totality. Emphasis on a theatricality beyond the written text has made relevant neighbour arts to literature - scenic decoration, theatre architecture, dance, music and mime.

POWER, GENDER, VALUES

Edited with an Introduction by Judith Genova

A volume of original essays. In its own way, each essay attacks the myth of 'raw power.' Power is sexed; power in the history of the West has been harnessed male. The essays in this volume challenge values that tell women how to speak and write, how to conceive of women's power. Their sub-text is the question, What if power were sexed female? Authors discussed include modern French feminists as well as Shakespeare and the Romantic poets.

WITTGENSTEIN ELEGIES

Jan Zwicky

These meditations on texts of Wittgenstein and Trakl undermine the idea that poetry is merely emotive, and thus has no part to play in philosophical debate. The poems ask us to approach Wittgenstein's work from a new perspective; to read his writings in the right spirit, in the spirit in which they were written, they suggest, is to read his writings as poetry.

ANTI-FOUNDATIONALISM AND PRACTICAL REASONING

Conversations between Hermeneutics and Analysis

Edited with an Introduction by Evan Simpson

The premise of the volume is the existence of common ground between different current methodologies in the rejection by each of foundationalism, and the emphasis in each on the practical. The book has four sections: Practical Philosophy, Social-Political Critique, Moral Reflection and Legal Deliberation.

LEGAL THEORY MEETS LEGAL PRACTICE

Edited by Anne F. Bayefsky, with an Introduction by Allen M. Linden

A dialogue between legal philosophers, judges and legal practitioners. This work is an important step in the development of a rational and humane jurisprudence. The book will stimulate lawyers' appreciation of the relevance of legal theory and facilitate legal philosophers' understanding of the judicial process.

ETHICS AND JUSTIFICATION

Edited with an Introduction by Douglas Odegard

Theories of justification for ethical decisions abound, each rejecting the others' claims and promoting their own. It is even controversial whether such theories are possible, or indeed whether they are necessary. The contributors to this volume explore these issues in the attempt to find common, and therefore reliable, ground.

JUSTICE, LAW AND METHOD IN PLATO AND ARISTOTLE

Edited with an Introduction by Spiro Panagiotou

A volume of essays, treating ancient views sympathetically but critically from modern points of view. All are of interest to legal and moral philosophers as well as to classical specialists: they discuss obedience to law in Plato's Crito, the arguments of Glaucon and Adeimantus in the Republic, justice and method in the Statesman, and the topics of Corrective Justice and of Equity in Aristotle.
