South Africa Without Apartheid

Dismantling Racial Domination

HERIBERT ADAM & KOGILA MOODLEY

'A major contribution to understanding the complexities of South African society. The authors' analysis is particularly sophisticated. The ideologues of whatever hue will not approve of their approach, but those who seek enlightenment will find it here.'

J. S. Galbraith

'A realistic and tough-minded analysis that is also compassionate and optimistic. An important book that is being published at a critical point in the South African crisis.'

Arend Lijphart.

New from Edward Arnold

An Introduction to Comparative Politics

Geoffrey K. Roberts

This is a concise, comparative survey of the political systems of the five most significant and commonly studied countries of the world: the United Kingdom, USA, USSR, French Fifth Republic and Federal Republic of Germany. The book is organized by reference to Easton's model of the political system, and discusses systematically the structure and function of each aspect of the political systems, with cross-comparisons in each chapter. The differences between the USSR and each of the four western democracies is illuminated by reference to their historical development.

The Sources of Social Power

Volume 1: History of Power from the Beginning to AD 1760

MICHAEL MANN

This is the first part of a three volume work on the nature of power in human societies. Michael Mann identifies the four principal 'sources' of power as being control over economic, ideological, military and political resources and examines the inter-relations between these in a narrative history of power.

Inventing Retirement

The Development of Occupational Pensions
in Britain

LESLIE HANNAH

Pension funds now account for a large portion of old age incomes, of capital ownership, and of employee fringe benefits. A hundred years ago they hardly existed. This book examines the interplay of business, political and social forces in this profound transformation, showing why old age saving became rooted in the employment contract. The analysis is based on historical materials on pension funds, most of which have never previously been analysed, but this new interpretation is skilfully interwoven with the more familiar story of the development of state welfare and of personnel management.

'This is a much-needed survey of an important strand in British social provision . . . Occupational pensions . . . are interesting and important . . . If you want to understand why, read this book.'

Notes for Contributors

1 All contributions should be sent to: The Editor, British Journal of Political Science, University of Essex, Wivenhoe Park, Colchester, Essex CO4 3SQ. They should not be sent to the Cambridge University Press.

2 Articles submitted to the Journal should in general be between 5,000 and 12,000 words (or equivalent in tables and figures) in length. An abstract not exceeding 120 words is required.

3 Notes and Comments are welcome. A Note should contain a body of original information, a new method for doing something or a new idea (speculation, argument, proof, etc.) presented in a brief and unadorned form without inessential commentary. Comments containing criticisms of articles published in the Journal and additional thoughts on them will be considered for early publication, especially if they are short – say, under 1,000 words.

4 Most issues of the Journal contain a Review Article – either a detailed discussion of a single book or a review of the state of some area of the discipline. Review Articles submitted without prior consultation will be considered for publication, but in their own interest contributors would be well advised not to prepare a Review Article specially for the Journal without first getting in touch with the Review Articles Editor.

5 Contributors should note the Journal's editorial policy, which is as stated inside the front cover.

6 Authors of articles and Review Articles receive twenty-five free offprints. Additional copies may be bought if they are ordered at proof stage.

7 Submission of an article is taken to imply that it has not been previously published and is not being considered for publication elsewhere. In the interest of authors, copyright is normally assigned to the Cambridge University Press.

8 Contributions intended for publication should be submitted IN TRIPLICATE. Contributions must be typed and may be reproduced in any clearly legible form. The preferred size of paper is A4 (8½ × 11½ in), but quarto (8 × 10 in) or the US standard size (8½ × 11 in) will also be accepted. Because of postage costs, manuscripts not accepted for publication are not normally returned to the author unless their return is specifically requested.

9 The entire material of any article, including footnotes, quotations, appendices, etc., should be double spaced, with left-hand margins of at least 1½ in. The preferred treatment of footnotes is that they should be numbered consecutively in the text and typed all together at the end, beginning on a fresh page.

10 Anyone who is preparing a manuscript for submission to the Journal is urged to follow the Journal's style sheet, which covers a number of detailed points concerning footnotes, punctuation, spelling, etc. Copies of the style sheet can be obtained from the Editor. Footnote references should always contain, in the case of books, the name of the author as it appears on the title page, the full title including any subtitle, the place of publication, the name of the publisher and the date of publication, and, in the case of articles, the name of the author, the full title, the name of the journal, the volume number, the year and the page reference (number of first and last page).

11 First proofs may be read and corrected by contributors provided that they can give the Editor an address through which they can be reached without delay and can guarantee to return the corrected proofs to the Editor, by air mail where appropriate, within ten days of receiving them. The master proof will always be sent directly to the Editor by the printer; contributors will receive duplicates.
