NOTES TO CONTRIBUTORS

The Editors welcome contributions on all aspects and periods of the history of architecture. Proposals should in the first instance be e-mailed to architecturalhistory@sahgb.org.uk. Since the journal is a double blind refereed one, when the article is submitted in full two anonymous copies should be sent to Dr Alistair Fair, University of Cambridge Department of Architecture, 1–5 Scroope Terrace, Cambridge CB2 1PX. It is recommended that illustrations should be sent in the first instance as printouts of digital images or as photocopies. Notes for contributors are available on the SAHGB website (www.sahgb.org.uk/index.cfm/display_page/AHContributors).

Papers submitted cannot be returned.

BACK ISSUES & DIGITAL ARCHIVE

A full index to vols 1-46, created by the late Professor Andor Gomme, is available at www.sahgb.org.uk, alongside contents lists for more recent volumes.

Many of the early volumes of Architectural History are out of print but most recent complete volumes (save vol. 48) are available, as are some of the Society's monographs. Prices and postage costs are available on application to: outsetservices@gmail.com

Alternatively, all articles from three or more years ago are available for consultation through JSTOR, a not-for-profit online archive, at www.jstor.org. Free access to JSTOR is available at subscribing libraries and via academic institutions. Non-subscribing individuals may purchase individual articles from JSTOR for a small fee. JSTOR's digital archive also includes many other periodicals of relevance to the study of the history of architecture. Ease of access to these volumes, plus the ability to search across different journals for related articles, has greatly facilitated scholarship in our field. The presence of this journal on JSTOR has also increased its international visibility, and that of the Society.
