

Dedication

The radio astronomy community was saddened by the untimely death on August 20, 1987 of Alan Moffet, Professor of Radio Astronomy at the California Institute of Technology. Alan was actively involved with radio interferometry from its early days and he participated in the development of VLBI techniques for nearly two decades. To all who knew him his quick mind and technical expertise will be missed. We dedicate these proceedings to his memory.