The Church of England and the Home Front, 1914–1918 Civilians, Soldiers and Religion in Wartime Colchester

ROBERT BEAKEN

Challenges the orthodoxy that the Church of England had a bad First World War. "[Beaken] is to be congratulated for blowing away a myth about the church and the war that has had far too much currency. More than that, he has produced a book that is highly readable, and which opens up a window into the past which fills the reader with admiration and respect for our gallant forebears, both on the Home Front and in the church pews." HISTORICAL THEOLOGY
FOR TODAY

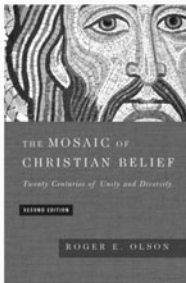

THE EARLIEST CHRISTOLOGIES

Five Images of Christ in the Postapostolic Age

James L. Papandrea

In this clear and concise introduction to second-century christologies, James Papandrea sets out five of the principal images of Christ that dominated the postapostolic age. Between varieties of adoptionism and brands of gnosticism, Papandrea helps us see how Logos Christology was forged as the beginning of the church's orthodox confession.

144 pages, paperback, 978-0-8308-5127-0, $18.00

THE MOSAIC OF CHRISTIAN BELIEF, SECOND EDITION

Twenty Centuries of Unity and Diversity

Roger E. Olson

In this second edition of Roger E. Olson's classic work, he thematically traces the contours of Christian belief down through the ages, revealing a pattern of both unity and diversity. He finds a consensus of teaching that is both unitive and able to incorporate a faithful diversity when not forced into the molds of false either-or alternatives.

399 pages, hardcover, 978-0-8308-5125-6, $34.00

WESLEY AND THE ANGLICANS

Political Division in Early Evangelicalism

Ryan Nicholas Danker

Why did the Wesleyan Methodists and the Anglican evangelicals divide during the middle of the eighteenth century? Many say it was based narrowly on theological matters. Ryan Nicholas Danker suggests that politics was a major factor driving them apart. Rich in detail, this study offers deep insight into a critical juncture in evangelicalism and early Methodism.

Johann Joachim Spalding Critical Edition

1st Section: Volumes 1–6 +

2nd Section: Volumes 1–6 (complete set)

Edited by Albrecht Beutel

(Published in German)

The Kritische Spalding-Ausgabe provides an indispensable basis for the further exploration of German Enlightenment theology in particular. It will have a positive and innovative impact on research pertaining to the Enlightenment and the post-Enlightenment. The sources provided are also an essential prerequisite for the new theological awakening at the beginning of the 19th century.

In addition to its significance for the history of theology, the Spalding Edition will also have a considerable influence on research in the humanities, in particular in philosophy and literary studies. In view of the way in which intellectual discourses were linked, which was typical of the 18th century, and especially in relation to Spalding's interaction with philosophical anthropology as well as with the literary transformation of the subject of religion in his time, we can expect important advances to be made in research on Kant and Fichte as well as in research on literary history pertaining to the Enlightenment, Weimar Classicism and Early Romanticism.

For the first time all volumes are available as complete set.
