Judicial Reform and Land Reform in the Roman Republic

A New Edition, with Translation and Commentary of the Laws from Urbino

Andrew Lintott

Twelve fragments of bronze were found near Urbino in the late fifteenth century, engraved with Roman laws—on one side a law concerning extortion, on the other an agrarian law. Dating as they do from the time of Gracchi and of Marius in the later years of the Roman Republic, the laws are of interest to Roman historians and are important evidence for the understanding of the revolutionary period that led to the overthrow of the Republic.

The Iron Age Community of Osteria dell'Osa

A Study of Socio-Political Development in Central Tyrrhenian Italy

Anna Maria Bietti Sestieri

This book by one of Italy's finest proto-historians deals with a major archaeological site, The Iron Age cemetery of Osteria dell'Osa, near Rome. The cemetery materials provide rich insights into the emergence of the city-state in central Italy during the crucial period 900–580 BC.

Ancient Mesoamerica

A Comparison of Change in Three Regions
Second Edition

*Richard E. Blanton,
Stephen A. Kowalewski,
Gary M. Feinman, and
Laura M. Finsten*

In this revised and updated edition of a book first published in 1981, the authors synthesize recent research, focusing on the Valleys of Oaxaca and Mexico and the Maya lowlands.

The Phoenicians and the West

Politics, Colonies and Trade

Maria Eugenia Aubet

Between the eighth and the sixth centuries BC, the Phoenicians established the first trading system to encompass the length of the Mediterranean basin. The Phoenician state maintained its independence, despite the territorial expansion of the Assyrians, in return for tribute from its western colonies. Maria Aubet provides an up-to-date analysis of archaeological and historical data.

Death-Ritual and Social Structure in Classical Antiquity

Ian Morris

The chief purpose of this book is to show how burials may be used as a uniquely informative source for Greek and Roman social history.

Burials permit a far wider range of inference and insight than the literary texts produced by and for a narrow social elite, and Dr.

Morris offers new interpretations of social change in Graeco-Roman antiquity.

CALL FOR NOMINATIONS
SOCIETY ELECTIONS 1994

The 1994 SAA Nominating Committee is seeking nominations for the following positions:

- President-elect (1994), who succeeds to the office of President for 1995–1996.
- Secretary-elect (1994), who succeeds to the office of Secretary for 1995–1996.
- Executive Board member, Position 1 (1994–1996).
- Executive Board member, Position 2 (1994–1996).
- Nominating Committee member, Position 1 (1995).
- Nominating Committee member, Position 2 (1995).

The 1994 Nominating Committee consists of W. James Judge, Chair (Fort Lewis College), C. Wesley Cowan (Cincinnati Museum of Natural History), Thomas J. Green (Arkansas Archeological Survey), Harry J. Shafer (Texas A&M University), and Katherine A. Spielmann (Arizona State University). The committee is anxious to develop a slate of qualified candidates that faithfully represents the full diversity of the Society's membership. Members are urged to suggest names of qualified candidates to Dr. W. James Judge, Department of Anthropology, Fort Lewis College, Durango, CO 81301 (303-247-7409), or to any other member of the Nominating Committee, as soon as possible, but by no later than October 1, 1993.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE AWARD NOMINATIONS SOLICITED

The Distinguished Service Award, established by the Society for American Archaeology, is presented annually to a member for specific accomplishments of extraordinary quality. Recognition can be granted in a wide range of areas relating to archaeology, including, for example, teaching (academic as well as public education), research (theory, method, application of new technology, analysis, etc.), and conservation of archaeological data (curatorial, legal, managerial), as long as two basic criteria are met. First, the contribution must be truly extraordinary in nature (not expected in the normal course of events) and must be recognized widely as such, and second, it must be of a positive and lasting quality.

The Society is accepting nominations from members for the 1995 award, which will be presented at the annual meeting in 1995. Each recommendation should be supported by a statement documenting concisely and thoroughly the achievements of the nominee. The deadline for nominations is December 3, 1993. Please mail to Dr. Donald K. Grayson, Department of Anthropology, DH-05, University of Washington, Seattle, WA 98195. Phone: (206) 543-5587; fax: (206) 543-3285. Email: GRAYSON@U.WASHINGTON.EDU.

SOCIETY FOR AMERICAN ARCHAEOLOGY
DOCTORAL DISSERTATION PRIZE

The Society for American Archaeology (SAA) announces the competition for its 1994 Doctoral Dissertation Prize. The prize is lifetime membership in the SAA and is awarded to an individual whose doctoral dissertation is judged outstanding and important. Nominees must have defended their dissertations and received their Ph.D. degrees within three years prior to September 3, 1993. It is not necessary that a nominee already be a member of the SAA.

Members (other than student members) of the SAA are encouraged to nominate students whose dissertations they consider to represent outstanding scholarship and original contributions. At the time of nomination, nominees are to be informed of the fact. Based on the committee's evaluation of the nomination letter, the committee then will request that the nominee submit three (3) copies of the dissertation for the competition. Nomination letters should include a description of the special contributions of the dissertation and the current address of the nominee.

All letters of nomination must be received by September 3, 1993. Letters of nomination and inquiry should be addressed to: Dr. Brian Hesse, SAA Dissertation Prize Committee, Department of Anthropology, University of Alabama, UAB Station, Birmingham, AL 35294. PHONE: (205) 934-3508; fax: (205) 934-9896.
