

OTHER ACTIVITIES

The Maxwell Graduate School of Syracuse University has received a grant of one million dollars from the Ford Foundation to strengthen and expand teaching and research in the field of international relations, foreign area research, and overseas training. East African and South Asian studies will be emphasized, while a new program combining training in public administration with internships in public agencies abroad will be developed from the former graduate overseas training program. At the same time, a Maxwell International Organization Research Program, with a national advisory council, will be inaugurated.

The University of Florida announces the establishment of the institute of international relations. Dr. Frederick H. Hartmann, professor of political science, has been appointed director of the institute.

WILLIAM J. BLOCK of North Carolina State College, has been assigned half-time with the agricultural policy institute for the academic year 1962-63.

BEN G. BURNETT, associate professor of political science at Whittier College, will be on leave 1963-64, in order to pursue a research project in Chile under a grant from the social science research council.

H. PAUL CASTLEBERRY of Washington State University has been on sabbatical leave during the 1962-63 school year and has been doing research in Ankara, Turkey, under a Fulbright research award.

ERNEST M. COLLINS, associate professor of government at Ohio University, is currently on leave while serving as administrative assistant to Congressman Homer Abele of the 10th congressional district of Ohio.

MICHAEL CURTIS of Rutgers University is the recipient of a faculty fellowship from the University's Research Council for the academic year 1963-64.

LYNN W. ELEY, associate director of the extension service and associate professor of political science at the University of Michigan, is one of six persons in the nation named to receive 1962-63 internship awards in academic administration from the Ellis L. Phillips Foundation.

MORTON J. FRISCH has been granted a leave of absence from his position at the College of William and Mary in order that he may serve as a Fulbright lecturer in Sweden during the 1963-64 session.

RUSSELL FIFIELD, professor of political science at the University of Michigan, will be on leave 1963-64 at St. Anthony's College, Oxford University.

MARGARET HAMILTON is currently on leave from College of William and Mary to serve with the Northern California Council of the World Affairs Council.

WILLIAM J. HANNA will spend the year 1963 in East and West English-speaking Africa.

DAVID K. HART, an instructor in the department of political science at the Brigham Young University, has been awarded a Danforth Teacher's Study Grant for 1963-64.

FREDERICK H. HARTMANN, VALERIE A. EARLE and JOHN P. ROCHE were elected among the ten new council members of the AAUP, for a 3-year term.

PENDLETON HERRING is currently visiting professor at Princeton University.

JOHN H. HERZ has served as visiting professor of international politics at the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy in the fall of 1962. He will do research in international politics under a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation during a sabbatical leave from the City College of New York 1963-64.

STANLEY D. HOPPER, assistant professor of government at Los Angeles State College, has been awarded a Danforth Foundation teaching and research grant.

CLAUDIUS O. JOHNSON, professor emeritus at Washington State University, has been a visiting professor this year at the University of Colorado (fall semester) and Lewis and Clark College at Portland, Oregon (winter and spring quarters).

ARTHUR L. KALLEBERG, assistant professor of political science at the University of Missouri, has been awarded a study fellowship by the American Council of Learned Societies.

MAX M. KAMPELMAN, Treasurer and Counsel of the Association and formerly on the faculty of the University of Minnesota and Bennington College, will teach at the summer session of Claremont College.

DAVID KETTLER has resigned as reading assistant to the Managing Editor of this REVIEW in order to concentrate on his research on Karl Mannheim—research which will take him again to Europe this summer, under an SSRC grant. PAUL SHOUP, assistant professor at Kenyon College, succeeds him as assistant to the Managing Editor.

GUENTER LEWY, assistant professor of government at Smith College has been awarded a Rockefeller Foundation research grant for the academic year, 1963-64.

ARTHUR W. MACMAHON, professor emeritus in Columbia University, will conduct courses in public administration and comparative government during the summer term at the University of East Africa (Makerere University College, Kampala, Uganda), under the contractual arrangement between Makerere and the political science department of the University of Chicago.

ALPHEUS THOMAS MASON of Princeton University will be on leave during the academic year, 1963-64.

GRAEME C. MOODIE of York University, England, is currently visiting associate professor at Princeton University.

HANS J. MORGENTHAU, of the University of Chicago, has been appointed a consultant to the department of defense.

HARDING O. NOBLITT, professor of political science at Concordia College, Moorhead, Minnesota, was the Democratic-Farmer-Labor candidate for Congress in Minnesota's 7th District in 1962. After winning the nomination in the September primary by a vote of 16,478 to 12,846, Noblitt was defeated by the Republican incumbent in November, 70,546 to 65,161.

ROBERT PITCHELL, associate professor of government, Indiana University, is on leave of absence serving as legislative assistant to Senator Birch E. Bayh, Jr., of Indiana.

ALEX V. PRISLEY, formerly teaching assistant at Brown University, has joined the staff of the department of government at Ohio University with the rank of instructor.

ROBERT H. PUCKETT, assistant professor of political science at Mary Washington College of the University of Virginia, has received a grant from the social science research council, for the 1963-64 academic year.

CHANNING B. RICHARDSON, professor of government at Hamilton College has received a leave of absence for 1963-64. He will be lecturing on comparative government at the Kenya Institute of administration, Nairobi, under the auspices of A.I.D.

PHYLIS J. ROLNICK is visiting lecturer in government at Smith College for the academic year, 1962-63.

JAMES PATRICK SEWELL is serving as visiting lecturer and research political scientist at University College of Rhodesia and Nyasaland under a Rockefeller fellowship, seconded by the University of California (Berkeley).

RICHARD F. STAAR will be on leave during the academic year 1963-64 to be visiting professor at the Naval War College. Mr. Hongkoo Lee who is completing his advanced graduate work at Yale will be visiting assistant professor during the academic year 1963-64.

T. NOEL STERN, formerly president of West Chester State College is serving as chairman of the Boston University public administration mission to the Ecole Nationale d'Administration in Conakry, Guinea, West Africa. The project is sponsored by the United States Agency for International Development and the Republic of Guinea.

HERBERT J. STORING of the University of Chicago, has been appointed Ford Foundation governmental affairs research professor at the University of Chicago for the academic year 1963-64.

DONALD STOKES, assistant professor of political science at the University of Michigan, is on leave for the calendar year 1963 at Nuffield College, Oxford University.

FRANK TACHAU of Rutgers University has received a Fulbright award, supplemented by a grant from the social science research council, to pursue his research objectives in Turkey during the academic year 1963-64.

SIDNEY VERBA of Princeton University will be on leave during the academic year 1963-64 at the center for advanced study in the behavioral sciences.

ROBERT WARD, professor of political science at the University of Michigan, has been assigned off-campus duty 1963-64 in Japan. His work there will be part of a larger study of the political modernization of Japan supported by the Carnegie Corporation of New York.