

FOURTH EDITION

The Ancient Maya

SYLVANUS G. MORLEY and GEORGE W. BRAINERD

Revised by ROBERT J. SHARER

For decades The Ancient Maya has been the standard, definitive work on the New World's most brilliant native civilization. Now totally rewritten, revised, and expanded, it incorporates the findings of a veritable explosion of archaeological research completed since the last edition was published in 1956. The most comprehensive and up-to-date history of the Maya peoples available today, it traces the civilization from its shadowy beginnings centuries before Christ through periods of cultural growth, mysterious decline, and eventual collapse. The text has been thoroughly rewritten to include new material and to correct many longheld views of Maya subsistence, writing, and art, and social, political, and economic organization. New chapters have been added on trade and external contact and on language and writing. An Epilogue now describes the destruction of the culture at the hands of the Spanish conquistadores. And nearly half of the 400 photographs, drawings, and maps are new. The edition also includes a chronology of sites, a conversion of Maya and Gregorian calendars, extensive bibliographic summaries, a bibliography, and an index. $28.50

Order from your bookstore, please

Stanford University Press

The Amazon Rubber Boom

1850-1920

Barbara Weinstein. This is a full-scale account of one of the most epic “boom and bust” cycles in Latin American history—the Amazon rubber trade’s 70-year dominance of the Brazilian economy. Broken by the successful cultivation of rubber trees by the British in Southeast Asia, the long period of vigorous economic activity in the rubber trade left the basic structure of Amazonian society relatively unchanged. One of the author’s main concerns is to explore why rubber exports did not generate substantial growth in either the industrial or the agricultural sectors. She also considers the impact of political decentralization and regionalism on the economy, draws comparisons with the coffee boom in São Paulo, and traces the consequences of the rubber economy’s collapse on the social, political, and economic life of the region. $29.50

Huarocharí

An Andean Society Under Inca and Spanish Rule

Karen Spalding. This major work provides the first synthesis of the varied data—ethnographic, historical, archaeological, and archival—on the impact of the Spanish conquest and Spanish rule on Indian society in Peru. Set in one of the two centers of Spanish occupation and settled Indian civilization in America, it is the story of a social relationship of inequality and oppression that endured for centuries, and inevitably led to the collapse of Andean society. The author delineates the basic relationships upon which local Andean society was based, and examines how the Indians responded to or resisted the political structures imposed upon them, and how they dealt with, were exploited by, or benefitted from the Europeans. Illus. About $35.00

Order from your bookstore, please

Stanford University Press

U.S.–Mexico Relations

Economic and Social Aspects

Edited by Clark W. Reynolds & Carlos Tello. History and geography have linked the destinies of the United States and Mexico, and current events portend dramatically increasing interdependence in the future. But just how much economic and social interaction is in the long-term interests of each partner? This first volume in a series derived from conferences sponsored by the Project on United States–Mexico Relations is unique in providing a truly binational perspective on the subject. Written by experts from both countries about both countries, the sixteen papers assess the extent to which different groups in each nation would benefit from more or less interdependence in trade, migration, agricultural and industrial production, finance and investments, foreign policy, and national security measures. $25.00

The Future of Central America

Policy Choices for the U.S. and Mexico

Edited by Richard R. Fagen & Olga Pellicer. Deeply rooted in the past, the crisis wracking Central America has been profoundly conditioned by the mixture of prosperity, poverty, mounting social tensions, and militarism that has characterized most of the area since the 1940's. In this second book in a series derived from binational conferences sponsored by the Project on United States–Mexico Relations, a group of Latin and North American scholars examine the past, present, and future regional roles of the two dominant outside powers. What are the policies of Mexico and the United States toward Central America? What kinds of policies would contribute to peace and stability in the region? The ten papers show the different ways the two countries perceive the crisis, and thus their differing aims and strategies for dealing with it. Cloth, $20.00; paper, $11.95

Order from your bookstore, please

Stanford University Press

Latin American Studies From Princeton

Coffee and the Growth of Agrarian Capitalism in Nineteenth-Century Puerto Rico

LAIRD W. BERGAD

"Bergad's impressive study reviews some recently cultivated myths about Puerto Rico in the nineteenth century. His conclusions are imaginative, provocative, and very useful."

—Stanley J. Stein,
Princeton University
Cloth, $27.50. Limited Paperback
Edition, $14.50

Capitalist Control and Workers' Struggle in the Brazilian Auto Industry

JOHN HUMPHREY

"An extremely original and valuable contribution... The writing and the subject—the mass upsurge of metal workers in a repressive context... draw the reader into a confrontation of important historic proportions."

—Timothy F. Harding, California State University at Los Angeles
$22.50

The Limits of State Autonomy

Post-Revolutionary Mexico
NORA HAMILTON

"Hamilton's insightful theory of the state carefully avoids the twin pitfalls of treating the state as either an autonomous, voluntaristic actor or as a determined product of class forces and economic structures."

— Kenneth Sharpe,
Swarthmore College

Cloth, $36.00. Paper, $8.95

The Peruvian Experiment Reconsidered

Edited by
CYNTHIA MC CLINTOCK and
ABRAHAM F. LOWENTHAL

Fifteen authors, five of them Peruvian, represent history, economics, political science and sociology in discussing the causes and significance of the Peruvian experiment in military-directed change from 1968 to 1980.

Cloth, $40.00. Limited Paperback
Edition, $12.50

The New Bourgeoisie and the Limits of Dependency

Mining, Class, and Power in "Revolutionary" Peru
DAVID G. BECKER

"A superb study of the transformation of state participation, the role of trans-nationals, and class relations in the Peruvian mining sector post-1968.

— Peter Evans, Brown University
Cloth, $35.00. Paper, $9.95

The North Frontier of New Spain

PETER GERHARD

"This handsomely published volume rounds out the author's extraordinarily comprehensive review of the administrative subdivisions of colonial Mexico."—James J. Parsons,

University of California, Berkeley
$60.00

The Church and Politics in Chile

Challenges to Modern Catholicism
BRIAN H. SMITH

"An important book on a timely subject."—Paul E. Sigmund,
Princeton University

Cloth, $30.00. Limited Paperback
Edition, $9.75

Princeton University Press

41 William Street, Princeton, NJ 08540

FIRST TIME

The Historical Vision of an Afro-American People

Richard Price

“With a fine eye for detail, a scholar’s touch, and a sense of compassion, Price offers us a double account of Saramaka history. Living Saramakas offered him their most secret and powerful memories. To this vivid account Price juxtaposes the Western historical view.”—Stephen Gudeman, University of Minnesota

First Time is an extraordinary collection of oral testimonies about the lives of eighteenth-century Saramakas, Afro-American “maroons” who escaped from slavery and settled in the tropical rain-forest of Suriname.

$25.00 hardcover, $12.95 paperback

The Johns Hopkins University Press
Baltimore, Maryland 21218

“Soccer Madness is more than a sports book; it is a fascinating study of people, culture, and politics—with its ultimate insights being about us, tenants of the Sports Age.”—Rick Telander, associate writer for Sports Illustrated

Soccer Madness

Janet Lever

Janet Lever has interviewed soccer players, coaches, officials, and more than 200 fans in Brazil in an exploration of the complex role of sport in modern society. Her findings overturn many common assumptions, while her engaging narrative captures the excitement and intense feeling experienced by fans throughout the world.

Cloth $17.50 232 pages Illus.

Chicago

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO PRESS

5801 S. Ellis Avenue Chicago, IL 60637

New and Noteworthy

The Tejano Community, 1836–1900

Arnoldo De León

"A useful book. . . . should remain the standard for many years to come."—Choice

"A refreshing perspective on the development and history of the Southwest. It is useful for an understanding of the Mexican-American experience, the social history of 19th century America and the poignance of immigration and settlement."—Hispanic Business Cloth: $19.95

Cañones: Values, Crisis, and Survival in a Northern New Mexico Village Paul Kutsche & John R. Van Ness

"An important dimension is added to the study of rural northern New Mexico."—Choice

"Anyone interested in Hispano culture in the U.S. will gain from it."—Books of the Southwest Cloth: $17.50

The Mexican Frontier, 1821–1846: The American Southwest Under Mexico David J. Weber

"A historiographical and bibliographic tour de force. . . . It will be for many years an indispensable tool for any student of the region."—New Mexico Historical Review Cloth: $19.95 Paper: $9.95

Heritage of Conquest: Thirty Years Later

Edited by Carl Kendall, John Hawkins, & Laurel Bossen

This collection of essays assesses some of the changes that have occurred in Mexico and Guatemala, and in the anthropological study of Mesoamerican society since the publication thirty years ago of a landmark study entitled The Heritage of Conquest. January 1983 Cloth: $27.50

Colonial Entrepreneurs: Families and Business in Bourbon Mexico City John E. Kicza

This is the first study of the multi-faceted commercial world of Mexico City in the late colonial period. The author's careful examination reveals a family-dominated network that controlled business dealings and social interactions in the capital city throughout the period. February 1983 Cloth price not set

University of New Mexico Press
Albuquerque, New Mexico 87131

A History of Modern Latin America

THOMAS E. SKIDMORE, University of Wisconsin, and PETER H. SMITH, Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Professors Skidmore and Smith here address the need for an interpretive history of modern Latin America—one that explains the differences in Latin American cultures that are crucial to an understanding of Latin American history. The authors touch on all the major events and all the nations of Latin America, but they concentrate on Argentina, Chile, Brazil, Peru, Mexico, and Cuba, showing how each nation has responded differently to its dependence on the United States. A special problem of Latin American historiography is the speed with which changes in government occur; the authors treat each change interpretively as well, assessing how much impact it really had. The book is completely up to date and ends with an epilogue on the future of Latin America.
January 1984 400 pp.; illus., maps cloth $19.95 paper $11.95

The Course of Mexican History Second Edition

MICHAEL C. MEYER, University of Arizona, Tucson, and WILLIAM L. SHERMAN, University of Nebraska, Lincoln. The second edition of this highly successful text provides a comprehensive survey of Mexican history from the pre-Columbian period to the latest presidential election. New material is presented on the economic and political implications of Mexico's recently discovered petroleum deposits, the presidency of José López Portillo, the continuing problem of undocumented Mexican workers in the United States, and Mexico's relations with the United States, in particular with the Reagan administration. On the first edition: "A superior compendium of Mexican history by two recognized authorities... Its timeliness cannot be exaggerated... excellent sense of proportion in the organization and handling of the material."—History: Reviews of New Books. "An authoritative, balanced, and comprehensive textbook... The highly readable text is interrupted frequently by helpful and informative maps, charts, and illustrations."—Latin American Digest
1983 768 pp.; 200 illus., maps, charts, tables cloth $29.95
paper $17.95

Bolivia

The Evolution of a Multi-Ethnic Society

Herbert S. Klein

1982 318 pp.; 6 illus. cloth $22.50 paper $6.95

Venezuela

The Search for Order, the Dream of Progress

John V. Lombardi

1982 320 pp.; 6 illus. cloth $22.50 paper $6.95

Soldiers of Perón Argentina's Montoneros

RICHARD GILLESPIE, University of Oxford. The Montoneros, the radical nationalist movement of the Perónist Left, played a major role in Argentina's violent political life of the 1970s and for a time it was the country's leading urban guerrilla force. In this critical history, the author discusses the background of the Montoneros' formation in 1968, their guerrilla methods, political activities, and ideological formulation, and provides insight into the internal life of the organization. Included are personal interviews with Montoneros and some of their restricted documents.

1983 328 pp.; map $29.95

Towards a Political Economy of Urbanization in Third World Countries

Edited by HELEN I. SAFA, Director, Center for Latin American Studies, University of Florida. The essays in this volume bring a new perspective to bear on the urbanization problem in the Third World and particularly on the survival mechanisms of the poor. The authors include anthropologists, geographers, economists, and sociologists who examine the impact of colonialism on the economies of the Third World countries, their dependence on advanced industrial societies for capital and technology, their urban class structures, and the role of their governments in shaping the urban process.

1982 315 pp. $9.95

Cities, Poverty and Development Urbanization in the Third World

ALAN GILBERT, University College and the Institute of Latin American Studies, London, and JOSEF GUGLER, University of Connecticut. "An outstanding and excellent book on third world urbanization."—R.A. Obudito, State University of New York, Albany. "A welcome synthetic work that incorporates the political economy approach in a nondidactic way."—Janet Abu-Lughod, Northwestern University. Both liberal and Marxist perspectives are drawn upon in an effort to relate urban phenomena to the process of development in an unequal world.

1982 cloth $34.50 paper $12.95

Cities in the Developing World Policies for Equitable and Efficient Growth

JOHANNES F. LINN, Development Economics Department, The World Bank. This study delineates the major policy issues that arise in the efforts to adapt to the growth of cities in developing countries, and discusses policies designed to increase the efficiency and equity of urban development. Particular areas covered include urban development, income redistribution through the fiscal system, transport, housing, and social services.

(World Bank Research Publications)

1983 328 pp. cloth $27.50 paper $12.50

Frontier on the Rio Grande A Political Geography of Development and Social Deprivation

JOHN W. HOUSE, University of Oxford. This study of perhaps the world's most dramatic frontier between a developed and a developing country interprets the complex interactions of peoples, resources, ideas, customs, and practices across the international boundary in terms of development or deprivation.

1982 300 pp.; 39 illus. $29.95

Prices and publication dates are subject to change.

OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS

200 Madison Avenue, New York, New York 10016

Nebraska

Yesterday's Soldiers European Military Professionalism in South America, 1890-1940

Frederick M. Nunn

Many late 20th-century South American military regimes bear the indelible stamp of "yesterday's soldiers." Those were the French and German officers who, between 1890 and World War II, imparted European standards of professionalism to the armies of Brazil, Peru, Argentina, and Chile. This book will be vital to an understanding of the military mind in Latin America. "Without doubt one of the finest books on the Latin American military that I have ever read."—Thomas M. Davies, San Diego State University. xiv, 365 pages. $26.95

Spain and the Loss of America

Timothy E. Anna

In this first comprehensive study of Spain's reaction to the disintegration of its American empire between 1808 and 1825, Timothy Anna shows that the king, councils, and Cortes failed to reach a consensus on political, rather than military, solutions. Moreover, Anna is able to demonstrate convincingly that Spain's loss of America lay largely in dysfunctions of imperial administration. xxiv, 344 pages. $26.50

Winner of the 1982 Hubert B. Herring Award

Disorder and Progress Bandits, Police and Mexican Development

Paul J. Vanderwood

"Vanderwood has written an immensely readable, well-documented, challenging book, raising fundamental questions about the relationship between criminals and the police, between order and disorder. Certainly his detailed description of the rurales is likely to become the main source of scholarly knowledge about that famous body of men for some time to come."—Western Historical Quarterly. xix, 264 pages. $21.50; Paper $8.95

University of Nebraska Press

901 N. 17th Lincoln 68588

CAMBRIDGE

The Fish People

Linguistic Exogamy and Tukanoan Identity in Northwest Amazonia

Jean E. Jackson

This broad-ranging study of social identity among the Bara, or Fish People, of Northwest Amazonia provides an authoritative general introduction to the region and discusses a variety of issues of current anthropological concern, among them methods for analyzing open-ended regional systems in small-scale societies, ideal versus actual patterns of behavior, identity as both structure and action, and the indigenous use of multiple models of social structure. About $37.50

Drama and Power in a Hunting Society

The Selk'nam of Tierra del Fuego

Anne Chapman

Based on the author's fieldwork, this book provides the most comprehensive ethnography of this now virtually extinct hunter-gatherer society to be written since 1948. The author focuses particularly on the Hain, an exciting and dramatic ceremony that served to maintain male dominance over women, giving a vivid depiction of its setting, symbolism, participants, and scenes. $39.50

Early Latin America

A History of Colonial Spanish America and Brazil

James Lockhart and Stuart B. Schwartz

A brief general history of Latin America in the period between the European conquest and the independence of the Spanish American countries and Brazil (approximately 1492 to 1825), this book will serve both as an introduction to and an updated synthesis of this quickly changing field. The authors present early Latin America as one unit with a center and peripheries, all parts of which were characterized by variants of the same kinds of change.

Cambridge Latin America Studies 46

Cloth about $37.50 Paper about $12.95

Three Sad Races

Racial Identity and National Consciousness in Brazilian Literature

David T. Haberly

The impact of racial diversity on Brazil's literature is explored in an innovative interpretation of its development from 1500 to the twentieth century that includes detailed critical analyses of six of the nation's greatest writers: Gonçalves Dias, José de Alencar, Castro Alves, Machado de Assis, Joao da Cruz e Sousa, and Mário de Andrade. $24.95

The Mesoamerican Indian Languages

Jorge A. Suárez

A general survey of the indigenous languages of Mesoamerica. Using a primarily descriptive approach, Professor Suárez presents an original typological account and classification of the various languages that includes recent advances. Cloth $49.50 Paper $14.95

Cambridge University Press

32 East 57th Street, New York, N.Y. 10022

Política y Técnica no Planejamento

edited by

Ray Bromley, University College of Swansea, U.K. and Syracuse University, U.S.; and

Eduardo S. Bustelo, UNICEF, Brasília, Brazil

This book provides an introduction to the "critical" literature on development planning and project evaluation by combining original articles written especially for this collection with translations into Portuguese of outstanding articles previously published in English or Spanish. It combines European, North American, and Latin American intellectual traditions to produce a blend of contributions especially applicable to the problems of Brazil and other Latin American countries. The articles by Bertram Gross, Marcos Kaplan, Ray Bromley, Eduardo Bustelo, Pedro Demo, Aaron Wildavsky, Ida Hoos, Robert Weiss, and Martin Rein demonstrate that planning and evaluation are both technical and political activities wherein value judgments are tremendously important and the benefits that accrue to some interests may prejudice the interests of others.

"Techniques" and "politics" are shown to interrelate in a close and dialectic fashion, and planning is portrayed as a form of applied political economy, immensely relevant to the activities of all governments and countries and far too significant to be left solely to technocratic vested-interest groups.

*A joint publication of UNICEF and Editora Brasiliense. Paperback. 255 pp.
Cr$ 1,050.00. Orders to Editora Brasiliense,
Rua General Jardim 160, 01223 São Paulo, Brasil.*

Latin American Experiments in Neoconservative Economics

by Alejandro Foxley

The increasingly radical neoconservative economic policies implemented in Latin America during the last fifteen years are the focus of substantial international interest. Foxley examines these experiments, presenting a comparative analysis and comprehensive summary of recent economic policy shifts in Argentina, Brazil, Uruguay, and, with special emphasis, Chile. $28.50

Class and Society in Central Chiapas

by Robert F. Wasserstrom

As the first comprehensive socio-economic history of the relation between mestizo and Indian societies through four-and-a-half centuries, this book is also the first anthropological study to examine the effects of social policies and economic factors on the life of the central Chiapas Indians. $27.50

The First Agraristas

An Oral History of a Mexican Agrarian Reform Movement

by Ann L. Craig

This book is a political history of the agrarian reform movement in Lagos de Moreno. By describing, frequently in their own words, the individual histories of these agraristas and the collective history of the organizations they built, Craig details the rise of campesino activism between 1924 and 1940, and the conditions under which it flourished and later declined. $28.50

Justice by Insurance

The General Indian Court of Colonial Mexico and the Legal Aides of the Half-Real

by Woodrow Borah

Borah here examines the General Indian Court of New Spain, a remarkably innovative special jurisdiction vested in the viceroy and a corps of legal aides. The development of the General Indian Court and the relation of the legal aides to their Indian clients form a complicated story of both service and exploitation and contribute an important chapter to the history of colonial Mexico. $45.00

New in paperback—

The Spiritual Conquest of Mexico

An Essay on the Apostolate and the Evangelizing Methods of the Mendicant Orders in New Spain, 1523–1572

by Robert Ricard

Translated by Lesley Byrd Simpson $9.95

Available at bookstores or order from

1 8 9 3
90
1 9 8 3

University of California Press
Berkeley 94720

Ninety years of scholarly excellence

NOTES ON THE CONTRIBUTORS

ERIC VAN YOUNG teaches history at the University of California at San Diego. His current research focuses on the social history of the Mexican independence movement during 1810–17.

LUIS E. GONZÁLEZ is a graduate student in Political Science at Yale University. He is presently on leave from his research and teaching positions in Montevideo.

J. ELISEO DA ROSA teaches economics at Indiana State University Evansville. He was a tenured professor at the University of Tucumán in Argentina until 1968. Prior to his graduate studies in the United States, he practiced law and engaged in politics in his native Paraguay.

GRAZZIELLA CORVALÁN teaches sociolinguistics at the Universidad Nacional de Asunción. She is Adjunct Director of the Centro Paraguayo de Estudios Sociológicos and Editor of the Revista Paraguaya de Sociología. She recently co-authored the two-volume Sociedad y lengua: bilingüismo en el Paraguay.

JORGE E. HARDOY is Director of the Human Settlements Program of the International Institute for Environment and Development (London). He also directs research at the Centro de Estudios Urbanos y Regionales (CEUR) in Buenos Aires.

MARTHA BLACHE completed her Ph.D. in Folklore at Indiana University in Bloomington. She is currently a researcher at the Instituto Nacional de Antropología de la Argentina.

GERTRUDE M. YEAGER is Associate Professor of History at Tulane University. Her research areas are nineteenth-century Chile, Bolivia, and Peru.

NELLY S. GONZÁLEZ is Latin American bibliographer and Associate Professor of Library Administration at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. She has conducted extensive research on Latin American official publications.

KARL-CHRISTIAN GOETHNER is Professor of Latin American Economics at the Institute for Latin American Studies at the Wilhelm Pieck University in Rostock, GDR. He spent two months in 1982 at Brown University under the Rostock-Brown exchange program.

JEFFREY BRANNON is currently Assistant Professor of Economics at the University of Texas at El Paso. He was previously a professional associate at the Instituto de Banca y Finanzas in Mexico City.

ERIC N. BAKLANOFF is currently Dean of International Studies and Programs at the University of Alabama. He previously directed Latin American Studies programs at Louisiana State University and Vanderbilt University. His several published works include The Economic Transformation of Spain and Portugal, which was recently published in Spanish.

FRED V. CARSTENSEN is Associate Professor of Economics at the University of Connecticut. He coedited Entrepreneurship in Imperial Russia and the Soviet Union and is the author of the forthcoming American Enterprise in Foreign Markets: Singer and International Harvester in Russia.

DIANE ROAZEN-PARRILLO recently completed her doctoral dissertation on U.S. business interests and the henequen industry in Yucatán at the University of Chicago. Her current research projects involve U.S. business interests in revolutionary Mexico and foreign enterprise and Mexican elite connections in Porfirian Yucatán.

GILBERT M. JOSEPH is Associate Professor of History at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. He is the author of Revolution from Without: Yucatán, Mexico, and the United States, 1880–1924 and is currently working on a comparative regional study of the Mexican revolution in the 1920s and 1930s.

ALLEN WELLS is Assistant Professor of History at Appalachian State University. His forthcoming book, Yucatán's Golden Age: Haciendas, Henequen, and International Harvester, 1860–1915, will be published by the University of New Mexico Press.

THOMAS BAMAT is Latin American Research Coordinator for the Maryknoll Fathers and Brothers and a professor in the Justice and Peace Institute at their School of Theology. A sociologist, he has published articles on the State and social classes in Peru and Brazil as well as work on the Catholic Church.

JORGE F. PÉREZ-LÓPEZ is an international economist with the Bureau of International Labor Affairs, U.S. Department of Labor. He has written on Cuban international economic relations and the Cuban energy balance.

JOAQUÍN ROY is Director of the Latin American Studies Program at the University of Miami. He graduated from law school in his native Barcelona before completing graduate degrees in linguistics and Spanish at Georgetown University. The author of several books on literature and language, he has most recently published Lecturas de prensa.

STUART F. VOSS is Associate Professor of History and Coordinator of the Latin American Studies Program at SUNY-Plattsburgh. He recently published On the Periphery of Nineteenth-Century Mexico: Sonora and Sinaloa, 1810–1877 and coauthored the forthcoming Notable Family Networks in Modern Latin America, which will be published by the University of Chicago Press.

EDWARD D. TERRY is Professor of Spanish and former Director of Latin American Studies at the University of Alabama. He coedited and contributed to Yucatán: A World Apart.

ARNO TAUSCH is Assistant Professor of Politics at Innsbruck University. He has published several articles on the theory of development and is currently working on mathematical models of income distribution, dependence, and transformations of the international economy.

Membership in the Latin American Studies Association includes a subscription to the Latin American Research Review. Annual dues (as of January 1983) are given below. Dues are payable on 1 January. Checks should be made payable to the Latin American Studies Association and mailed to Richard N. Sinkin, Executive Director, LASA Secretariat, Sid W. Richardson Hall, University of Texas, Austin, Texas 78712.

CLASP, $60.00; Institutional Sponsor (non-profit), $60.00; Institutional Sponsor (profit), $500.00. Members (scaled to personal income): under $20,000, $25.00; 20,000–29,999, $28.00; $30,000–39,999, $32.00; over $40,000, $37.00. Joint members (two family members at the same mailing address will receive only one copy of LARR and other LASA publications): add $11.00 to dues for member with higher income. Emeritus Members, $15.00; Graduate Student Associates, $15.00; Latin American/Caribbean Members, $20.00; Introductory, $18.00 (for new members only—persons who have been paid members after January 1977 are ineligible).

Nonmembers of LASA may subscribe to LARR at the following rates: Institutions: $30.00 per year; Individuals, $18.00; Students, $12.00. Latin American subscribers pay a special rate of $15.00 per year for Institutions and $10.00 for Individuals and Students. Air Mail rates on request. Address all subscription matters to LARR, Latin American Institute, 801 Yale N.E., University of New Mexico, Albuquerque, NM 87131.

For back issues of LARR: Volumes I through IX—Kraus-Thomson Organization Limited, Route 100, Millwood, New York 10546
Volumes X through current—LARR, Latin American Institute, 801 Yale N.E., University of New Mexico, Albuquerque, NM 87131

Microfilm copies of LARR are available from University Microfilms, 300 North Zeeb Road, Ann Arbor MI 48106. Microfiche copies are available from Johnson Associates, P.O. Box 1017, Greenwich, CT 06830.

Please notify us immediately of any change of address. A charge of $2.00, to cover cost of handling and postage, will be made to forward any copy of LARR returned to us because of an undeclared change of address.

*Published three times a year by
The Latin American Studies Association
Composition by the University of North Carolina Press*

Instructions to Authors: Address all correspondence to Editor LARR, Latin American Institute, 801 Yale N.E., University of New Mexico, Albuquerque, NM 87131.

Please submit three dark, clear copies of your manuscript on 8½" x 11" paper (do not use erasable paper). All material, including extracts and notes, should be typed double-spaced; notes should be typed separately at the end of the manuscript.

For all matters of style, especially format for notes and bibliographies, please consult the latest edition of A Manual of Style 31, University of Chicago Press.

If you wish LARR to return copies of your manuscript, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

LATIN AMERICAN STUDIES ASSOCIATION

President, JORGE DOMÍNGUEZ, Harvard University

Vice-President, HELEN SAFA, University of Florida

Vice-President Elect, WAYNE CORNELIUS, University of California—San Diego

Past President, PETER H. SMITH, Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Executive Director, RICHARD SINKIN, University of Texas at Austin

Executive Council

CARMEN DIANA DEERE, University of Massachusetts

CORNELIA BUTLER FLORIDA, Kansas State University

JAMES MALLOY, University of Pittsburgh

MARIO OJEDA, El Colegio de México

ALEJANDRO PORTES, Johns Hopkins University

SUSAN KAUFMAN PURCELL, Council on Foreign Relations

NORMAN WHITTEN, JR., University of Illinois

Alternates

DAVID SCOTT PALMER, Foreign Service Institute

SAÚL SOSNOWSKI, University of Maryland

The Latin American Studies Association publishes the LATIN AMERICAN RESEARCH REVIEW to achieve greater and more systematic communication among individuals and institutions concerned with scholarly studies of Latin America.

The LATIN AMERICAN RESEARCH REVIEW was founded with the support of contributions from the sponsoring institutions and a supplementary grant from the Ford Foundation.

LARR Sponsoring Institutions

The Ford Foundation	New York University
The Hispanic Foundation	The University of North Carolina
University of Alabama	University of Notre Dame
The University of Arizona	The Ohio State University
University of California, Berkeley	University of Oregon, Eugene
University of California, Los Angeles	University of Pennsylvania
The City University of New York	The Pennsylvania State University
Columbia University	University of Pittsburgh
The University of Connecticut	University of Puerto Rico
Cornell University	Southern Methodist University
University of Florida	Stanford University
University of Houston	State University of New York, Stony Brook
University of Illinois	The University of Texas, Austin
Indiana University	Texas Tech University
The University of Kansas	Tulane University
Louisiana State University	The University of Virginia
University of Miami, Florida	Washington University
The University of Michigan	The University of Wisconsin
Michigan State University	Yale University
The University of New Mexico

Volume XIX Number 1 will include:

"THE PERIPHERAL STATE DEBATE: STATE
CAPITALIST AND BUREAUCRATIC-AUTHORITARIAN REGIMES IN LATIN AMERICA"

by William L. Canak

"VICEREGAL PERSISTENCE VERSUS INDIAN
MOBILITY: THE IMPACT OF THE DUQUE DE LA
PALATA'S REFORM PROGRAM ON ALTO PERÚ,
1681-1692"

by Jeffrey A. Cole

"PHILOSOPHY AND UNIVERSITY REFORM AT THE UNIVERSITY OF CHILE: 1842-1973"

by Iván Jaksic

"RECENT WORKS ON THE POLITICAL ECONOMY OF BRAZIL IN THE PORTUGUESE EMPIRE"

by Frédéric Mauro

RESEARCH REPORTS AND NOTES

REVIEW ESSAYS

Please note:

*The Latin American Research Review has moved to the University of New Mexico, Albuquerque, and is under the direction of its new editor, Gilbert W.
Merkx. All correspondence regarding manuscripts or subscriptions should be directed to LARR, 801 Yale
N.E., University of New Mexico, Albuquerque,
NM 87131.*

