

Comparative Law: Western European and Latin American Legal Systems

CASES AND MATERIALS

by John Henry Merryman and David S. Clark

- Describes civil law systems in a coherent and cumulative way.
- Emphasizes intellectual history, structure, professional actors and processes as well as rules and doctrine.
- Includes tables of numerical information about various legal systems.
- Contains chapters on agrarian reform and regulation of foreign investment.
- Concludes with a chapter on pleading and proof of foreign law in U.S. courts.

Written especially for introductory classes in comparative law and civil law, this new Contemporary Legal Education Series publication contains both timely and traditional readings, cases and other supporting materials developing the central concepts of contemporary civil law. French, German, Italian and Spanish legal systems are introduced and contrasted with the variations in civil law found in Latin American nations.

With increasing demands on today's lawyers for a better understanding of legal systems other than their own, the authors describe the common features of civil law systems and distinguish them from Anglo-American common law institutions. Norms and doctrine that look alike on paper vary widely in application for nations with different economic, social and political conditions. Throughout the text, emphasis is on whole legal systems as well as rules.
