Introducing Radical History Review

Published for MARHO: The Radical Historians' Organization

Now published by Cambridge University Press, Radical History Review presents innovative scholarship and commentary that looks critically at the past and its historians from a non-sectarian perspective drawn from the political left. It scrutinizes conventional history and seeks to broaden and advance the discussion of crucial issues such as the role of race, class and gender in history. The journal offers original articles, review essays that examine the uses and abuses of history in the popular media, history museums and other public forums, and interviews with leading radical historians.

Each volume is illustrated with drawings, cartoons, photographs and other graphic art. Issues are often thematic and cover a wide range of geographic areas and subjects from sociology, politics, history and feminism to culture, literature, art and film. Recent themes have included: History from South Africa, The Women's Story, Film and History, Art and Ideology, and European Modernism.

Vicious Modernism

Black Harlem and the Literary Imagination

JAMES DE JONGH

Harlem, a quintessentially black city in the midst of a great modern metropolis has piqued the imagination of writers since the turn of the century. This study is an ambitious examination of its mysterious influence on the works of American, African and Caribbean writers from James Baldwin and Sherwood Anderson to Leroi Jones and Langston Hughes.

News Essays on A Farewell to Arms

Edited by SCOTT DONALDSON

When first published in 1929, A Farewell to Arms was decried as a vulgar novel. The introduction to this volume explains the reasons for this initial response, while other essays consider the implications of World War One, the first person narration, as well as presenting a Lacanian reading of the novel.

Introducing Studies in American Political Development

Edited by KAREN ORREN, University of California, and STEPHEN SKOWRONEK, Yale University

Now published as a semi-annual journal by Cambridge University Press, Studies in American Political Development presents high quality scholarship covering American political change and institutional development from a historical perspective. Articles focus on government institutions and their social, economic and cultural environment.

The journal features in-depth original articles, which allow scholars to elaborate on the complex patterns of state-society relations. These longer articles also encourage an interdisciplinary approach, tying in relevant issues and related themes. Recent volumes of Studies in American Political Development have recognized the importance of comparative politics to the study of American institutions. Write to Cambridge University Press for details of forthcoming topics and further information.

NOTES FOR CONTRIBUTORS

- 1 All contributions and editorial correspondence should be sent to: The Editor, Journal of American Studies, School of English and American Studies, University of Sussex, Falmer, Brighton, BN1 9QN, England.
- 2 Articles should generally contain about 5,000 words. Longer or shorter articles, or articles in two or more parts, may be accepted by arrangement with the Editors.
- 3 Submission of an article is taken to imply that it has not previously been published, and is not being considered for publication elsewhere.
- 4 Contributions should be clearly typed in double spacing (including footnotes), preferably on A4 paper, with a wide left-hand margin. Diagrams, maps and illustrations may be included.
- 5 Spelling may conform either to British or American usage, providing it is consistent throughout.
- 6 Footnotes should be used sparingly: in general, to give sources of direct quotations, references to main authorities on disputable questions, and evidence relied on for a new or unusual conclusion. They should be numbered consecutively, and may most conveniently be placed, in double spacing, at the end of the article.
- 7 For guidance on matters of style, contributors should refer either to The Chicago Manual of Style (13th edition, 1982) or to the Journal of American Studies Style Notes, copies of which may be obtained from the Editors.
- 8 Contributors should keep one copy of the typescript for correcting proofs.
- 9 Notes intended for the Editors or Printer should be on a separate sheet.
- 10 First proofs may be read and corrected by contributors provided that they can give the Editor an address through which they can be reached without delay and can guarantee to return the corrected proofs to the Editor, by airmail where necessary, within three days of receiving them.
- 11 Corrections should be kept to an absolute minimum. They should be confined to errors of the typist or printer unless the Editor authorizes otherwise.
- 12 Contributors of articles and review essays receive 25 free offprints. Extra copies may be ordered according to a scale of charges.
- 13 Contributors need not be members of the British Association for American Studies. Unsolicited typescripts can only be returned to overseas contributors who send International Reply Coupons (not postage stamps).
- 14 Contributors of accepted articles will be asked to assign their copyright, on certain conditions, to Cambridge University Press, to help protect their material, particularly in the USA.

Books for review should be sent as follows: History, Political Science and Social Studies to Dr Michael Heale, Department of History, Furness College, University of Lancaster, Bailrigg, Lancaster LA1 4YG. Literature, the Fine Arts and other books to Professor Stephen Fender, School of English and American Studies, University of Sussex, Falmer, Brighton BN1 9QN.
