

THINK ABOUT ADVERTISING WITH US

We are now offering advertising space in the African Studies Review, which is published by the African Studies Association. This widely read journal reaches over 3,000 readers with a strong professional interest in African studies. The African Studies Review is a multi-disciplinary scholarly journal, which publishes original research and analyses of African and book reviews three times annually. It encourages scholarly debates across disciplines.

Scholars, teachers, students, administrators, and libraries in every social science and humanities discipline read it, as well as affiliates of business schools, law schools, schools of environmental affairs, agriculture schools, and a host of other professionals in universities and organizations all over the world.

The African Studies Association (ASA) was founded in 1957 as a nonprofit organization open to all individuals and institutions interested in African affairs. Its mission is to bring together people with a scholarly and professional interest in Africa. The ASA provides useful services to the Africanist community. With over 3,000 individual and institutional members, the Association is the leading North American organization that promotes African studies. The ASA is hosted by Rutgers University. The ASA sponsors an active publications program, which includes ASA News, African Studies Review, African Issues and History in Africa.
