

governmental research at Florida State University.

JOSEPH L. SUTTON, professor of government and chairman of the Asian studies committee, has been appointed associate dean of the college of arts and sciences at Indiana University.

HUNG-CHAO TAI, who completed his Ph.D. at the University of Illinois, has moved from Montana State University to the University of Detroit.

TANG TSOU has been promoted to associate professor in the department of political science, University of Chicago.

CHARLES L. TAYLOR, formerly a Ph.D. candidate at Yale has been appointed an instructor at the College of William and Mary.

MORTON TENZER, assistant to the dean of students and lecturer on politics at Brandeis University, will serve this year as visiting lecturer in political science at Mount Holyoke.

EARLE WALLACE, assistant professor of political science, has been appointed associate dean of the graduate school at the University of North Carolina.

CHARLES WARREN VAN CLEVE, a recent graduate of Indiana University Law School, has been appointed assistant professor of political science at Eastern Kentucky State College, Richmond, Kentucky.

C. SYLVESTER WHITAKER, formerly of Princeton University, has accepted an appointment as assistant professor at the University of California, Los Angeles.

GARY L. WILHELM, who is completing the work for his doctorate at the University of Illinois, has accepted an appointment at Ohio State University.

CLYDE J. WINGFIELD, formerly of Pennsylvania State University, has been appointed an associate professor in the department of political science at Northern Illinois University.

FREDERICK M. WIRT has been appointed to a three year term as chairman of the department of government at Denison University.

RAYMOND E. WOLFINGER, formerly of Yale University and a fellow of the center for advanced study in the behavioral sciences in 1960-61, has been appointed assistant professor at Stanford University.

MANFRED R. WOLFSON, formerly of the University of California, Berkeley, has been appointed as assistant professor of political science at Portland State College.

DEIL S. WRIGHT has been promoted to the rank of associate professor at the University of Iowa.

CHARLES E. YOUNG, assistant professor at UCLA, has been promoted from assistant to the chancellor to assistant chancellor.

EDWARD A. ZIEGENHAGEN, who is working on his doctorate in political science at the University of Illinois, has accepted a position at Skidmore College.

J. K. ZAWODNY joined the political science department of the University of Pennsylvania, with the rank of associate professor.

IN MEMORIAM

Dr. Cortez A. M. Ewing, Research Professor of Government at the University of Oklahoma, died suddenly on March 5, 1962. He had been hospitalized briefly a few days before, but had been released and had expected to return to work.

He was born at Carthage, Indiana, in 1896 and took his bachelor's degree at Earlham College in 1924, his Ph.M. (1925) and Ph.D. (1927) at the University of Wisconsin. After teaching a year at Pennsylvania State College he came to the University of Oklahoma, where he remained, except for a year (1931-32) as visiting professor at the University of Texas, and summer school appointments at various campuses.

He was the author of Judges of the Supreme Court, 1789-1937 (1938), Presidential Elections (1940), Congressional Elections, 1896-1944 (1947),

Primary Elections in the South (1953), American National Government (1958); and with J. B. Cheadle and H. O. Eaton, No More Unemployed (1934); with R. J. Dangerfield, A Documentary Source Book in American Government and Politics (1931); and with J. C. Phillips, Essentials of American Government (1962). He also published numerous articles in this REVIEW, The Southwestern Social Science Quarterly, The Political Science Quarterly, and others. He was a member of the American Political Science Association, the Southern Political Science Association, the Southwestern Social Science Association, the Western Political Science Association, and the American Academy of Political and Social Science. He was a past President of the Southwestern Social Science Association and for several years a member of the Executive Council of the American Political Science Association.

In 1948 in recognition of his work and publications, Dr. Ewing was made a Research Professor. In addition to his teaching duties he was very active in faculty and University affairs. He was practically the father of faculty government at the University, and was for many years an extremely influential member of its Senate. He was ex-President of the local chapter of A.A.U.P.

He was a very popular teacher on the campus and much in demand for talks and addresses outside the classroom. A nation-wide movement has been initiated among his friends and former students to set up a memorial scholarship at the University of Oklahoma. His presence is sorely missed by a multitude of friends, colleagues, and students.—J. H. LEEK.

Professor HURSCHEL VERN THORNTON died very unexpectedly at his home in August, 1961. He was born July 19, 1900, at Independence, Kansas. Later moving to Oklahoma, he attended Central State College at Edmond, Oklahoma, and then transferred to the University of Oklahoma, where he received his B.A. degree in 1923. He returned there as an instructor in government in 1928-1929, and took his master's degree in 1929. From 1929 to 1936 he was on the staff of New York University, where he took his Ph.D. in 1935. In 1937 he returned to the University of Oklahoma as an assistant professor of government, and was advanced to the rank of professor in 1941. In 1949 he was made director of the bureau of government research, a position which he held at the time of his death.

Professor Thornton was always very active in civic affairs. In 1939 he helped organize Boys' State, and was director of that organization from 1946 to 1953, and again in 1955. He was also educational director for Boys' Nation. He was Mayor of Norman from 1942 to 1946. He was a member of the National Municipal League and author of an Oklahoma Voters' Handbook and a textbook on Oklahoma government. He took part in movements to revise the state constitution and also to bring about a more equitable apportionment of the legislature; he had just completed a new study on that subject at the time of his death. He will be sorely missed in the government staff, on the campus, and in the state at large.