Men of the Trees

By RICHARD ST. BARBE BAKER

Introduction by Lowell Thomas

Foreword by Bronislaw Malinowski

THE author of this book has devoted his life to the planting and preservation of trees. This is an account of his personal experiences during eight years in the Mahogany Forests of Nigeria and in the Highlands of Kenya. It is the story of one of the only two white men who have ever been admitted with full rites and ceremonies as a blood brother of the tribes. Alive with the magic of the powerful religion of the black man, with savage dances, fights to the death, the impassioned struggle of the tribesmen against the encroaching desert, the book is at the same time permeated with the strong quiet philosophy of the trees.
