Newcomen Awards in Business History

For the best article published in the Business History Review during the previous year the Society will award a prize of $300 and a scroll. For the best article published in the Business History Review during the previous year by a graduate student or a recent Ph.D. who has not published a book in business history, the Society will award a special prize of $150 and a scroll. Criteria for selection include: originality, value, breadth and interest of contibution, quality of research materials and methods, and quality of presentation

Winners will be selected by a panel of judges consisting of the editors and the members of the editorial board of the Business History Review, none of whom shall be eligible to receive a prize. The awards are administered by the editorial office of the Review. No special prize will be awarded in years when, in the opinion of the judges, no eligible article suitable for the prize was published, and no person may be awarded both prizes in any one year.

ANNOUNCING THREE AWARDS IN BUSINESS HISTORY

PRESENTED BY THE NEWCOMEN SOCIETY IN NORTH AMERICA

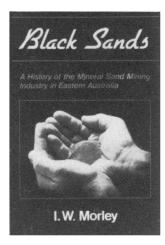

Thomas Newcomen Book Award in Business History

The Newcomen Society in North America, in cooperation with the Business History Review, will award in 1985 the eighth in a series of triennial prizes consisting of $1000 and a scroll for the best book on the history of business published in the United States during the years 1982-1984. "Business history" is defined in its broadest sense to include not only the history of firms or industries, but books tracing interactions of businessmen, analyses of business philosophy or behavior, and studies of the adjustment of businesses and businessmen to their economic, political, and social environments. Criteria for selection will include contribution to knowledge, depth of analysis, soundness of reasoning, clarity of style and organization, and general readability and format.

Judges for the 1985 award will be announced at an appropriate time by the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration and The Newcomen Society in North America.

Queensland

Conflict and Coal

A Case Study of Industrial Relations in the Open-Cut Mining Industry of Central Queensland

KEVIN HINCE

A thorough yet fascinating exploration of coal mining in Queensland, Australia—of the Bowen Basin, open-cuts, export markets and the Utah Development Co. a GE subsidiary and mostly U.S. owned. In studying the structure of Utah and the role of workers, unions, managers, and government the author in fact lays open the entire industrial relations pattern of both an industry and a company.

250 pages tables $36.50

Black Sands

A History of the Mineral Sand Mining Industry in Eastern Australia I.W. MORLEY

"A colorful history of the beaches and industry ... neatly packaged, well-balanced, scholarly and enjoyable-to-read ... of value to educators, geologists, developers of equipment ... good reading for mining and metal industry executives, and no-one connected with titanium should miss reading it ... a significant contribution to the literature on mining and metallurgy."

—John P. Ruth in American Metal Market 278 pages many illus., tables, maps. $36.50

Promoting Industry Recent Australian Political Experience PETER LOVEDAY

A detailed historical analysis of governmentindustry relations, concentrating on the nontariff side of industry promotion and regulation with focus on export finance, development finance and regulation of foreign investment. Describes the administrative machinery, role of political parties, and activities of industry pressure groups. Offers contrasting case studies in petrochemicals and aluminum.

233 pages tables $17.50 hardcover / $9.50 paperback

Coal in Queensland The First Fifty Years

R.L. WHITMORE

Traces the threads of human endeavour through a tangled web of geòlogical uncertainty, political intrigue and technological fumbling, to the emergence of a small but cohesive industry, ready to fight for a foothold in overseas markets. The glimmerings of trade unionism and government regulation had developed. Excellent illustrations, original documents and plans, and detailed maps of the mined areas.
