Reichel's Care of the Elderly: Clinical Aspects of Aging

6th
Edition!

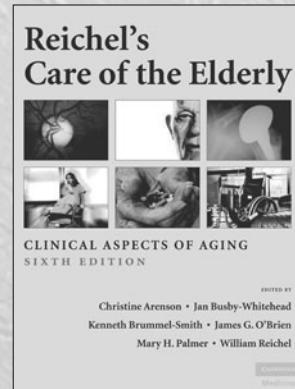

Edited by

Christine Arenson, Jan Busby-Whitehead, Kenneth Brummel-Smith,
James G. O'Brien, Mary H. Palmer, William Reichel

The sixth edition of Reichel's Care of the Elderly: Clinical Aspects of Aging remains the pioneering text for the practicing physician confronted with the unique problems of an increasingly elderly population. Dr. William Reichel's formative text is designed as a practical and useful guide for all levels of geriatric care, from medical students to geriatric specialists.

"The humanism that infused Dr. Reichel's original work shines through in this edition as well. Each author cares deeply about caring for older persons and clearly states how our current knowledge of gerontology and geriatrics ought to be applied day in and day out. The editors have done a marvelous job of editing so that there is an even style and tone throughout, which makes this book a pleasure to read. Many healthcare professionals should savor this most useful contribution to the literature of geriatric medicine."

-Doody's Review Service

- Essential principles in care for the elderly allow the reader to understand the importance of doctor-patient dynamic in geriatrics
- Includes other considerations not often covered in other books, such as long-term care, elder abuse, driving, ethnic diversity
- Covers ethical issues, utilizing case studies to outline the importance of compassionate care and justice for the elderly

Canadian Journal on Aging is a refereed, quarterly publication of the Canadian Association on Gerontology. It publishes manuscripts on aging concerned with biology, health sciences, psychology, social sciences, and social policy and practice. The Journal welcomes articles reporting original research, as well as conceptual and theoretical papers which significantly advance knowledge or understanding in gerontology. Although focused on Canadian research, manuscripts from authors outside Canada are welcome. Authors are asked to bear in mind the multidisciplinary nature of the readership when writing their manuscripts. In particular, care should be taken to draw out the implications of the analysis for readers in other fields and other disciplines.

Journal space is also available for Research Notes and Policy and Practice Notes. A Research Note will be a brief report with theoretical or policy implications. A Policy or Practice Note will be a brief report with implications for improving practice or the delivery of a specific service. Either section can be used to present important case studies, psychometric reports, Canadian norms for standardized tests, assessment of methodological approaches findings from pilot and replication studies, and summaries of program evaluation studies. Authors should indicate clearly whether their submission is for Research Notes or Policy and Practice Notes. The maximum length for these submissions is 5,000 words plus references, figures and tables. Authors of a Note must indicate, when applicable, that a more detailed report will be provided upon request.
