

NEW FROM CORNELL

Public Property and Private Power

The Corporation of the City of New York in American Law, 1730–1870

By HENDRIK HARTOG. New in Paper! "A subtle and important book. It breaks new ground in two important subfields of American history: legal history and urban history. . . . Hartog's legal skills enable him to make sense of early corporation law at the same time that his historical skills allow him to disentangle the concepts of property and republicanism in the context of the emergence of the 'modern' city of New York."—Stanley N. Katz, Princeton University. $12.95 paper

Corporatism and the Rule of Law

A Study of the National Recovery Administration
By DONALD R. BRAND.

Tracing the intellectual origins of Franklin Roosevelt's National Recovery Administration (NRA) to pragmatism and its political origins to progressivism, Brand argues that the NRA was an ambitious attempt to secure social justice for the organizationally disadvantaged in American society. $12.95 paper, $39.95 cloth

The Bricker Amendment Controversy

A Test of Eisenhower's Political Leadership

By DUANE TANANBAUM. In the 1950s, Senator John Bricker of Ohio proposed a constitutional amendment intended to restrict American involvement with the United Nations and limit presidential power. "Excellent political and legislative history."—Choice "A well-researched, highly readable account that will be the standard work."—Walter LaFeber, Cornell University. $34.50

Popes, Teachers, and Canon Law in the Middle Ages

Edited by JAMES ROSS SWEENEY and STANLEY CHODOROW. This solid collection of essays explores aspects of the interaction between medieval religious and political thought and conflicts in the body politic, ecclesiastical and secular, of Western Christendom. $47.50

Spheres of Liberty

Changing Perceptions of Liberty in American Culture

By MICHAEL KAMMEN. "Splendid. . . . Kammen identifies five important concepts to which liberty was related. Liberty, property, and justice have been seen as complementary; liberty, authority, and order have been seen as sustaining each in a delicate balance; the perceived relationship between liberty and equality is sufficiently recent for its contours to remain unclear. . . . Kammen's discussions . . . contain sharp insights."—Journal of American History. $9.95

THE TRANSFORMATION OF FAMILY LAW

State, Law, and Family in the United States and Western Europe

MARY ANN GLENDON

This book offers a comparative and historical analysis of the recent process of rapid and profound change in the legal systems of England, France, West Germany, Sweden, and the United States. In this successor to State, Law, and Family (1977), Glendon brings fresh and insightful interpretation to bear on the explosion of legislation in the last decade.

Announcing

THE ILLINOIS-NWSA BOOK AWARD $ 1,000

The National Women's Studies Association and the University of Illinois Press announce the creation of the Illinois-NWSA Book Award, to be presented annually for the best book-length manuscript in women's studies. The National Women's Studies Association will present the winning author a prize of $1,000, and the University of Illinois Press will publish the winning manuscript.

Manuscripts can be on any subject in women's studies that expands our understanding of women's lives or gender systems. Interdisciplinary studies and discipline-specific studies are equally welcome. Manuscripts may be by a single author or co-authored. Anthologies, essay collections, fiction, poetry, or unrevised doctoral dissertations are not eligible.

Deadline for submission of manuscript abstracts is in January each year.

For details, contact: Caryn McTighe Musil, National Director
National Women's Studies Association
University of Maryland
College Park, MD 20742 (301) 454-3757

In this first legal history of the Mormon experience, Edwin Brown Firmage and Richard Collin Mangrum draw upon a broad range of church documents and archival materials to provide a comprehensive overview of a unique religious minority's encounters with the law and legal institutions.

"A major contribution to Mormon history. Zion in the Courts should provide a comparison with American law in general that all students of legal history will have to consider." — Davis Bitton, co-author of The Mormon Experience: A History of the Latter-day Saints.

Cloth, $39.95; paper, $14.95.

PRIVACY | Is Your Private IN AMERICA | Life in the Public Eye?

Detailed personal information about all of us is now being stored in computer memories of government agencies, corporations, educational institutions, and religious organizations. What happens to this computerized data? Is it accurate? Who has access to it? How is it used to make decisions about whether your bank loan request or insurance application is approved, what school your children get into, and whether you get that credit card? Did you know that it has the potential to sabotage your efforts to find a job, advance in your profession, or obtain credit? Is your private life in the public eye? The answer is yes.

In this timely, revealing book David F. Linowes outlines the full dimensions of the electronic attack on every American's right to maintain the confidentiality of his or her personal information, and goes on to suggest measures people can take to keep their private lives their own. Cloth, $19.95

Note to Contributors

The editors welcome unsolicited manuscripts, books for review, and suggestions concerning Law and History Review. Manuscripts should be submitted to Bruce H. Mann, University of Pennsylvania Law School, 3400 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19104. The text should be typed, double-spaced, on 8½" x 11" paper with ample margins on all sides. Type on one side of the paper only. Footnotes should be typed double-spaced and separate from the text, and should conform to either the style found in the Chicago Manual of Style (13th ed.) or to A Uniform System of Citation (14th ed.); the Chicago Manual is preferred. Authors of accepted manuscripts should contact the editorial office regarding computer compatibility. Because of the commitment we ask of our outside referees, Law and History Review cannot consider for publication manuscripts that have been submitted to other journals. A submission to the Review carries with it the implicit promise that the author will not submit the manuscript elsewhere while it is under consideration by Law and History Review.
